GOT THROUGH UPPER NECK OF ST. MARY'S RIVER LATE LAST NIGHT

SAULT STE. MARIE. Dec. 7 .-- Ten boats imprisoned at the head of the upper channel in St. Mary's River, where the fleet of lake carriers is frozen in, were liberated late last night by the movement of ice caused when the government cutter Sabin and a number of tugs pulled the freighter Herbert W. Smith and Rand through the neck of the channel with steam up, the other eight boats strained at their ice shackles until, one by one, they were able to churn their way through the passage.
