FORMER LOCAL MEN RESCUED FAMOUS ACTOR

CAPT. BABINGTON AND NORMAN BROADHURST FISHED MATHESON LANG OUT OF CHILLY WATERS.

The following item published reecntly in a southern exchange told how two former well known Prince Rupert tug boat men figured in the rescue of Matheson Lang, a famous actor, from a cold, wet, real-life melodrama of a sudden immersion in the chilly waters of Brentwood Arm near Victoria:

While fishing on the Brentwood Arm, near Victoria, on Sunday, Matheson Lang, the actor, and a party of his friends were shipwrecked when their cabin cruiser crashed on a submerged rock and almost capsized, leaving crew and passengers stranded from from human aid.

Lang's stage manager stripped off his clothes, donned an old raincoat and volunteered to swim ashore to seek assistance. With a light cord tied around his waist, he dragged his clothes along behind him in a box to shore, where he dressed and plunged into the woods in search of aid.

Alarmed at the continued absence of M. Lang and his party, Captain Babington and Norman Broadhurst set out in a launch to find them, and a waving lantern in the darkness disclosed the location of the stranded cruiser. The rescue was promptly effected.

Some time later the stage managed, cold and disconsolate, was picked up. He was sitting on a rock close to the shore line, a mile from the wreck. He had become lost in the woods and returned in desperation to the water's edge to await his inevitable rescue.

PARTRIDGES SUCCEED PRAIRIE PROVINCES

Hungarian Variety Imported With Great Success in Different Districts

WINNIPEG, Nov. 20.—Hungarian Partriges, released in the game sanctuaries of Manitoba two years ago, are reported to have taken well to conditions in the province.

The original stock was released by the Game Protective League, but since then additional birds have been imported from Alberta. At present there is an export tax of one dollar for each bird shipped out of Alberta. With the additional cost of a permit and the expense of traps, the cost of obtaining a pair of these birds is estimated at about $8.

NO SCARCITY CYCLE

Unlike native grouse and chickens, the new birds are not subject to the cycle of scarcity, according to Dr. H. J. Herkeley, secretary of the Manitoba Game Protective League. He states that there were at first many who believed that the Hungarian birds would drive out the native fowl, but such was not the case.

In Alberta the birds have multiplied until they have a three-months' open season with a bag limit of 75 birds. This game is from an importation in 1909.

The new birds are very prolific, laying from 20 to 25 eggs and often rearing a brood of 20. In March of this year, under supervision of the Manitoba Game Protective League, five pairs were released upon an isolated farm three miles from the nearest neighbor. On October 1, the League had reports of five coveys totalling around 100 birds. No Others had been released within 100 miles of this farm.

HUGE COVEYS

"In the district where the first birds were liberated it is quite common to see coveys of 30 to 40 birds," Dr. Merkeley states. "We have now probably a total of 2,000 birds in all four districts."

For the second time in history of the province, pheasants have hatched and reared their young in a wild state, Dr. Merkeley reports. The Game Protective League helped the importation of 1,000 pheasant eggs this year and were fortunate in securing a shipment the fertility of which ran as high as 90 per cent. These eggs were purchased for the most part by farmers who had known the birds in the British Isles.

Three hundred and fourteen thousand vehicles come daily into the thirty-five square block of Chicago's loop between 7 a.m. and 11 p.m., a survey shows. Of these but 12,000 are horse-drawn and city engineers propose to bar them.

AGE CHAMPIONSHIP OF CANADA WON BY A WINNIPEG FAMILY

WINNIPEG, Nov. 20—A claim recently advanced on behalf of a Winnipeg family to the aggregate family age championship of Canada, has been challenged by W. P. Rodgers, local stock broker. The aggregate age of the Winnipeg family was 423 years. Mr. Rodgers, who claims the title for his family, all resident in Ontario, say the living members of his old-age entry boast of a total of 429 years. All five of the family were born in Canada.

The oldest member is Mrs. Eliza Smythe of Toronto, who is 92 years of age. Then there comes John Rodgers, who is now retired at the age of 90, and who is enjoying the remainder of his days at Spirling, Ont. Next comes Robert Rodgers, aged 87, who is still actively engaged in farming at Spirling, followed by William Rodgers, aged 81, who is engaged in a similar occupation as a neighbor of Roberts. The "baby" of the family is Mrs. Annie Reid, who resides at Bellville and who is only 79 years old.

Every member of this remarkable group is exceptionally active and enjoying the best of health. Last summer, Mrs. Smythe, the oldest sister, made a motor trip from Toronto to Bellville, a distance of about 125 miles and thoroughly enjoyed the outing. Each day the whole family proceed to their respective occupations, and this fall Robert took upon himself the duty of digging and storing away the season's crop of potatoes.

As far back as can be traced, the family has been noted for its longevity. Robert's father and W. P. Rodger's grandfather, died at the ripe age of 96 years, while his grandmother lived to be 93.

WHITE ELEPHANT TO VISIT NEW YORK AND LATER GO ON A TOUR

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The white elephant which has been on exhibition at the Zoo for the summer months is going to the United States with its companion, its owner, and the Burmese attendants. It is to spend the winter in the Elephant House at the New York Zoological Society's Park, and is to go "on tour" next year. The elephant and its companion belong to Dr. Saw Po Min, president of the Karen Society of Burma. It is without doubt a genuine albino, and, apart from the traditional sanctity assigned to white elephants in Burma, is a zoological curiosity, and has been a considerable attraction to visitors this season.

Unfortunately it is rather bad-tempered, and Dr. Saw Po Min, because of its mystical value, does not allow it to be punished in any way. It was never intended to allow it to be used for riding, but it was hoped that it could be taken into the Gardens in procession with its docile mate, which is a great favorite with children. Even this was not thought safe, and the white elephant was exercised only when there were few or no visitors in the Gardens. A very high value is placed on the white elephant, and it is rumored that some large offers have been made. The Zoological Society never contemplated buying him, as it cannot afford to spend large sums on curiosities, and is already well stocked with elephants suitable for carrying children as well as for exhibition.
