FISHING DONE

CANNERIES CLOSED AND INDIANS WILL SOON BE HOLING UP FOR WINTER

MASSETT, Oct. 23.—The chum fishing for this season is over. The catch in this inlet was small. According to the Indian fishermen, the heavy rains at the time of the run caused the streams to rise quickly. Consequently the salmon went straight to the spawning grounds instead of remaining in the inlet for a time as is the case in a drier

The canneries have closed for the season. Many of the crew of the Langara Fishing and Packing Co.'s cannery at New Massett crossed to Prince Rupert on Margaret III. on Sunday. Some left by the Prince Charles.

The Indians are returning to the village. With the exception of the picking of spruce cones for the government and for an eastedn firm, their year's work is at an end.

NATIVE COUPLE AT MASSETT MARRIED

Mrs. Lucy Adams Recently Became Bride of George Price at Pretty Ceremony

A very pretty Indian wedding was solemnized by the Rev. J. Gillett at St. Paul's Church, New Massett, Tuesday evening, October 12, the principals being Mrs. Lucy Adams and George Price.

The bride, who was dressed in pale blue silk with conventional bridal veil. was given away by her father. Thomas Nutcomb. The bride was attended by Mrs. Emily Parnell and Mrs. Alfred Adams. Mr. Philip White acted as groomsman.

After the ceremony a delightful supper served at the Massett Cafe, where numerous friends from New Massett as well as many from the Reserve were entertained.

tered by a lovely four-tier wedding cake, as poor. made by friends of the bride.

After a sumptuous repast speeches and toasts were made to the bride and groom Rev. Gillett made a humorous speech followed by Mr. Martin, Mr. Reid and Mr. Alfred Adams. Mr. Harry Weir spoke in Haida, Rev. Gillett acting as interpreter which caused much amusement. Mr. Dowling, Dr. Dunn, and Robert Ridley also wished the happy pair every happiness and success in the future. Thomas Nutcomb then thanked the Indian and white friends of the bride and groom, especially Rev. Gillett, Mr. Martin, and Mr. and Mrs. Simpson for their generosity. The speeches were then concluded by John Bell, Mrs. Fanny Wilson, Mrs. Dowling and Mr. Bailey.

The merry-makers then repaired to the hall," kindly loaned by Mr. Martin, where dancing was indulged in until late hour.

SPORT CHAT

The stock of Vic Foley, the Pacific Coast featherweight, has gone up conweek with Kid Roy of Montreal for the the crown away from the Eastern champion when they meet again next Thursday night. Foley supporters emphasize the fact that the referee's decision in calling it a draw was not popular with the fans who thought it was Foley's win. It is usual that a victory must be very decisive before a pion's opponent.

Jim Gleeson, one of Winnipeg's forefessional champion of Manitoba, claims to have established a Canadian record for a high break in a match here recently with C. Horton of this city. He compiled the excellent count of 579.
