Remember We Still
Must Live Together.

With little notice and without any desire on our part, we have once more been plunged into an election contest. We have to take sides. The man who does not do so is not usually respected. He must have opinions in regard to the Government of his country although he need not necessarily express them.

Today we in Prince Rupert are dividing on political lines, but it is well to remember that the election campaign is of but short duration and that we all have to live together after it is over. In other words, while we should have the courage of our convictions, we do not need to make ourselves objectionable to our neighbors by trying to thrust those opinions down their throats.

Prince Rupert people have of late learned to respect each other's opinions and to be just as friendly with those from whom they differ as with those with whom they side politically. Let us try to elect our man but do it good-naturedly. Let us not take the matter too seriously, for after all, the world will keep revolving on its axis no matter which petty political party parades its plumes at Ottawa.

Give One Side
a Clear Majority.

"Let us give one side a clear majority and end this system of allowing a third party to dictate," says the wise citizen in discussing the present situation. If the speaker is a Conservative, he means "let us elect the Conservatives," and if he is a Liberal he means to say: "Send the Liberals back and we'll show you how to govern."

It is difficult to see how there is going to be much change unless it is in the direction of Liberalism.

Beginning to Feel Result of Activity.

Business conditions in Prince Rupert are improving. This is due largely to the activity of the neighborhood surrounding the city. The Queen Charlotte Islands are reported to be particularly busy and the fishermen are all making catches of varying size and value.

Ganneries of the district are spending more money in the city than ever before and this is being appreciated by local merchants who feel that they have a claim to a share of the business.

The prospect of grain shipping this fall adds to the feeling of optimism and the result should be an increasing confidence in the future of the port.

Which Steamship Line Will Come?

It is pretty certain that before long some steamship line will commence to operate vessels regularly out of this port to the Orient. With grain and lumber cargoes offering, it ought to be possible to take out cargoes and bring back general Oriental merchandise which is being shipped through to Eastern points. The wonder is that no steps have been taken ere this to organize such a business.

From time to time there are rumors that Japanese lines are planning to come here and other lines have been mentioned including the Canadian Government Merchant Marine. Which will be the pioneer?

COHEN'S AND KELLY'S FUNNY

Uproarious Comedy in Picturization of Famous Stage Play

The famous stage play Cohen's and Kelly, which was shown here last night and is to be repeated tonight is an uproariously funny comedy. The story of the play follows:

In the East side of New York dwelt two families. One is Irish, the father and son being policemen. The other is Jewish, the father of which runs a clothing store. Proprietary works its charm and the Irish son and the Jewish daughter fall in love and marry secretly because they are afraid of their parents. Without warning, a lawyer tells the Cohen family that they have inherited $1,000,000. As soon as they get the money they move to Park Avenue and give a big party. Back in the old home the Irish family resents not being invited to the party, so, dressed in what they think is style, they attend. Later Nannie Cohen has a child and her parents drive her out. She lives with the Irish family and about that time the Cohens learn that the $1,000,000 was really the property of the Kellys. The Kellys share the money with their friends and the four grandparents are happily united.

MUCH INTEREST LOCAL MUSEUM

Premises Now Occupied Already
Crowded with Specimens
Which Attract Tourists

At a meeting of the Prince Rupert Museum Board yesterday afternoon in the Commodore Club it was reported that great interest was taken in the collection of Indian curios in the Bank of Commerce building by tourists and other visitors to the city.

The question of still further adding materially to the present collection was discussed and steps are being taken with that end in view. Should present plans materialize, larger and more permanent premises will be necessary as the collection already crowds the room loaned for the purpose by the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

So far little has been done to build up the Natural history collection, but this, it is hoped, will receive attention soon.

THE MAN IN THE MOON
says:

THE OTHER DAY I HEARD A MAN speak of a person as "a skink" and I wondered if he meant a girl or a highlander.

SOME people say "No"; others ask for a quarter of an hour and you gather from the rambling discourse that the person intends to convey a negative answer.

PERFECT husbands are like perfect wives. The number may be indicated by a zero mark.

WHAT young people don't like is being chided by older people who do not know half as much as they.

AFTER all the good weather we have had this summer, it was pretty sure there would be an election or something to spoil it all.

TO some people an election is about as much fun as rowing to the salt lakes and then finding you have left your bathing suit at home.

THERE'S one thing about the modern woman's wardrobe, the clothes closets no longer need to be as big as they ought to have been in grandmother's day.

A fundamentalist is one who believes it takes a woman all day to get a good meal, whereas a modernist is one who knows ten minutes with a can-opener will easily do the trick.

IF women favor the strong, they certainly should like some of the butter I have tasted in this part of the country.

ANSWERS GIVEN TO QUESTIONS

Murdock, the Mystic, Tells Inquirers a Number of Things They Wish to Know.

Murdock, the Mystic, billed as America's master mentalist, entertained and mystified a large and appreciative audience last night at the Exhibition Hall with his new "Show of Wonders." His new entertainment includes a number of mystifying illusions brought here from the Orient.

At last night's demonstration the famous "Mystic" answered a large number of questions but, unfortunately, this time did not permit to get all of them, so he has selected at random a number of unanswered queries and gives his answers below. Tonight is positively his last engagement in Prince Rupert and two of the new features are announced as the escape from a heavy box after being nailed inside and a free live baby, which is not an animal, to be given away at this time.

A. L.—How long will I remain in Prince Rupert?

Answer: Until Monday of next week.

R. T. G.—Who will I marry? Answer: "H. K." if you will only get up enough nerve to "ask" me.

V. B.—Should I leave Prince Rupert and go into business in Vancouver?

Answer: No, remain here and you will be successful.

E. R.—Can you tell me the name of the woman standing in our way and causing unhappiness in our family.

Answer: I would not care to give the name of this woman through these columns, but your suspicion is absolutely right and if you will see me in private I will give you some additional information in this respect.

R. A.—Where is the lost jewelry?

Answer: Look under the mattress of the bed in the attic and you will find it. Your daughter "E" put it there.

L. L.—Will I ever find real happiness?

Answer: Not as long as you continue doing what you have been doing in the past.

G. L.—In what business would I be most successful?

Answer: Carpentry.

W. C.—What is causing my poor health?

Answer: The wrong combination of food. See me privately and I will outline a policy for you.

T. W.—Is my husband true to me?

Answer: Yes he is true. However, I believe it is you who are untrue and if you do not change your manner of living I see divorce procedure.

E. J.—When should I sell my stock?

Answer: Advise holding it for another two years as it will greatly increase in value during that time.

K. M.—Is what I have been told true?

Answer: It is not, come to the Exhibition Hall tonight and I will tell you why.

Palpitated
She Had Fainting Spells

Mrs. J. Wilson, Port George, N.B., writes:—"I suffered from palpitation of the heart and fainting spells, and, at times, I could not be left alone I was so nervous.

My trouble was caused from over-work and worry, having been left alone with a large family.

I had tried everything, without any relief, but I know, to-day, that I would have been a nervous wreck but for your wonderful
