Liquor Smuggling Seems To Be Less.

Judging from reports received, it would seem as if the liquor smuggling into the United States is becoming less. A despatch published yesterday tells of means taken by the United States to cope with the traffic and of the wonderful decrease in business off the Atlantic coast. Similar means have been taken in the Pacific and the result has been that business has not been brisk in export trade from ports which ship to the south, such as Vancouver and Victoria.

With the increasing difficulty of importing liquor, the amount of strong stuff sold in the United States must decrease. Much of that peddled now is synthetic mixture which is deadly in its effects. So bad has it become that people who think anything of the care of their bodies refuse to use any of it.

Whipping Boys For Stealing Cars.

Edmonton juvenile court ordered the whipping of two boys convicted of stealing cars for the purpose of joy riding. The offense was a double one, that of stealing a car and also of endangering the public. A few sentences of that kind and the tendency to treat the property of others lightly would disappear.

League Of Nations Again In Session.

The League of Nations is again in session and is attracting more than the usual amount of interest. The request of the British Dominions for representation on the council and the admission of Germany all tend to draw the eyes of the world to that important body. The adoption by the United States of the World Court idea and the tendency of that country to favor extension of the international movement all lends importance to the greatest of international bodies. Step by step the League of Nations seems to be winning its way to popular world favor. If it is conducted wisely it may yet come to be the great international arbiter.

Stealing Rides From The Railway.

A greater effort is to be made by the railway to prevent the stealing of rides on the trains. People who have plenty of money in their pockets and who can well afford to pay are being picked up in box cars and on the buffers. The carrying of these people free is depriving the company of income which is rightly theirs, it is making it more difficult to operate the line so that employees have to be laid off, and it is dangerous to the people who take chances of meeting with accidents.

It is also announced that the pilfering on the line has to stop and special men have on hand the work of checking it. All this will make for greater efficiency.

Hard To Replace Art Products.

Every now and then we hear of a fire which has consumed valuable art products. For the property value destroyed which money can replace, there is no particular regret, but the art collections cannot be replaced. They are a product that cannot be manufactured at will. Art works of the great masters have a value far beyond that set by the art dealers. When they are lost the loss is irretrievable.

CROWDED OUT IN THE NORTH

Dunc McIntosh Says He Finds it Hard to Make Living Under Modern Conditions

119 MILES FROM NEIGHBOR

Prefers Playing Leapfrog With Timber Wolves and Flirting with Prickly Porcupines

Dunc McIntosh, miner, fiddler and orator, came out of the hospital yesterday after being properly repaired following an injury received on Princess Royal Island recently.

Dunc, when he is at home, lives up in the neighborhood of Telegraph Creek at 182 miles. He likes it up there, washing gold from the sands, playing leapfrog with the timber wolves and flirting with porcupines. There is only one fly in the ointment and that is that he is being crowded out. He wants to know "how in the name of God a man can make a living when he is being crowded on every side." Recently a man and his wife came to live at Mile 63, which it will be seen is 119 miles away and another has located at mile 43. This is much too close for Dunc and he is worried about it. He feels half inclined to quit, he says and go and live out near Jimmie Wells, the man who made Usk famous.

Mr. McIntosh is not leaving for the north just yet but he is expecting to get away a little later in the spring and will then return to his claim and wash some more gold and play hop, skip and jump once more with the wolves and flirt with the porcupines and fiddle to the whispering pine trees. They do say that Dunc is a great fiddler and that he tames the wolves with the strains of his siren music.

THE MAN IN THE MOON says:

EVEN if you don't do any gardening, borrow a seed catalogue. Doing that would be better than nothing.

BEING sophisticated means that probably you have been nicely trimmed.

In this age of specialists, it is not necessary to know everything unless you happen to be a newspaper editor.

DUNC. McIntosh says he's crowded because a neighbor has moved in to within about a hundred miles of him on Telegraph Creek. Possibly we shall find the plane Venue grumbling because the man in the moon is coming too near.

THANK heaven the season for hot dog on the beach is rapidly approaching. It should be here in about three months.

Individuality is learning to drive a car or a motorboat like a woman.

IT'S about time another company was formed on the coast to utilize sharks. I could name a few that they might start the factory on.

THERE always seems to be a fly in the ointment. Here is Summer in the offing but with it will come the annual wedding season and I have not yet paid for all the Christmas presents.

WOMEN have been trying to imitate men for a number of years but there's one thing they have not succeeded in obtaining and that is the manly form.

LADY, I would beg of you,
Would entreat that heart once warm:
Leave us lads one thing our due,
Do not take our form!

You may have our votes, our jobs,
Use our driver, cleak or jigger,
Wear our hair-cuts as your bobs,
If you spare our figure!

Keep our breeks, our ties, our fags,
Drink our Scotch, our vices ape,
Tell our after-dinner gags,
Lady, leave our shape!

T. D. Pattullo returned to town this morning from the south after having taken an active part in the provincial by elections at Vancouver and Victoria where M. A. Macdonald and H. C. Brewster were victorious over Conservative candidates. Mr. Pattullo is very gratified with the results and predicts a political landslide in the province this year when the general election is held.

John Barnsley, local agent of the Union Steamship Co., has been advised that the steamer Salvor is coming north to Digby Island to assist the Camosun in getting off the rocks there. The cargo of the Camosun is being taken off by Capt. Babington and will be reshipped to the Queen Charlotte Islands on the freighter British Columbia.

DAFFODIL TEA WAS UNUSUALLY PLEASING

Silver Circle Girls Give Interesting Program For Enjoyment of Ladies of City

The daffodil tea and musicale held on Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Silver Circle C.G.I.T. group was undoubtedly a great success, and was well attended by ladies of this city who are interested in the girls as well as many children, who were mainly interested in enjoying themselves!

The home cooking and Easter novelty tables were tastefully decorated with yellow and purple crepe paper and daffodils, and were well filled with donations from outsiders, as well as those given by the girls themselves. An arch of evergreens pointed the way to the tea tables, which were also decorated with daffodils.

The musical program was composed mostly of C.G.I.T. choruses sung by the girls who were in uniform. The music commenced with "O Canada," which was followed by "Song of Greeting," "John Peel," "Get the Sunshine Habit," and several other appropriate choruses at intervals, Mrs. Fraser very kindly accompanying the singing. Piano solos were played by the Misses Isabella Mackay and Evelyn Rosie, and Dwight Rice played a trio. Each number was greeted with enthusiastic applause by the audience.

Much credit is due to Mrs. F. D. Rice who superintended the affair, as well as to the girls themselves, who feel very gratified at the interest taken in their efforts.
