JUNIOR SOCCER STARTS AGAIN

Interesting Games Are Anticipated Before Season Ends.

With the re-opening of the schools after the summer vacation, the Junior Football League once again resumes operations. A very interesting series is assured before the schedule can be completed.

The outstanding feature of the series so far was the defeat of the Booth team by Borden, in a replayed fixture. As Booth had not been beaten since June, 1925, this was a feather in the cap of the Bordenites.

All teams will have changes in their line-ups. Many of the senior players are now no longer available and new ones will get their chance.

The improvement in the standard of play by the boys calls forth much favorable comment by their elders and warrants a bigger attendance at the games. All who are interested in the development of clean, manly sports should give the boys their support and they will find themselves well repaid by the hard fought games the boys put up.

The league committee is meeting on Wednesday evening and the schedule for the remaining games will be drawn up and published immediately after.

THE MAN IN THE MOON
says:

Yes, this is election day
So election bets we'll pay,
By midnight tonight,
We'll know who is right
And who for five years will sway

Now folks, let's get excited over the Fair since the election is over.

The smoke is clearing and pretty soon we shall return to normal, thank the powers that be.

If anyone says elections after tonight, just prod him one in the region of the solar plexus.

Let's just listen for the whistle of the first grain train. It will be like sweet music to our ears.

Any more puns on the name of the Liberal candidate are taboo after this.

Whichever is beaten tonight, let us be good losers. We can't both win.

Jake says he likes elections because it gives him a chance to win some money.

The moment a man gets the idea that the girls are all after him, he is on the road to becoming a confirmed bachelor.

The happy man is the one who can make money faster than the women of his household can spend it.

The poor are always with us. They are mostly poor prunes.

Some people have an election complex, but they had better put it aside for a few years now.

The objection to easy money is that the other fellow always gets it.

CONSERVATIVES' FINAL MEETING

Col. C. W. Peck, V.C., Rev. E. G. Turner, Mrs. A. J. Peterson and J. C. Brady Speakers Last Night

The Conservatives had another good campaign meeting last night at the Auditorium to hear Col. C. W. Peck, V.C., M.L.A., Rev. E. G. Turner, Mrs. A. J. Paterson, and J. C. Brady, the candidate for Skeena, give their final charge to the electorate. The chair was occupied by J. H. Thompson and the Boys Band, under Bandmaster Wilson, had been engaged to lend further enthusiasm to the proceedings. The Conservative campaign in Skeena was thus brought to a close in as lavish a manner as it had been conducted throughout.

Col. Peck, in opening his address, directed an attack against the Daily News and, in speaking of his war record, declared that he had been done honor by the entire press of Canada except one paper in his home town where he should have had the most reason for expecting honor to be done him. The Colonel referred to his parliamentary record declaring that he had been responsible for the breaking of the cannery combine. He also took credit for the policy of the exclusion of Orientals from the salmon fisheries which he said had been instituted in the last year that he was member before Fred Stork was elected. The Colonel declared that Capt. Nicholson and Col. Cunningham had been enemies of the town and that he (Col. Peck had had the satisfaction of seeing them "down and out."

Real Issue

The Colonel diminished the importance of the constitutional question and said that the great moral issue was the customs scandal. The people of Canada would not shirk their responsibilities at this election and the Conservative party was in the full stride of victory.

Rev. E. G. Turner referred to his series of sermons last winter on "The Man Who Did It." He stood for cleanliness in civic administraton and also in national affairs. That was why he was supporting the Conservative party at this election. The Liberals had employed "repulsive and disgusting" tactics in this campaign he said.

Mrs. A. J. Paterson said that it would be "an everlasting disgrace" if the Liberal party was returned to power. The women she said were against Canada being given away to a foreign country.

J. S. Brady said that the people of the district were generally dissatisfied with conditions as they existed and they were looking to the Conservative party for relief. Everywhere he had been given a great welcome and found people in accord with his sentiments. He had the utmost confidence as to what the outcome of the election would be. He said that the settlers of the interior looked to this port as their salvation and declared that the Conservative party stood for the development of Prince Rupert. Here as elsewhere there was a need of protection from foreign competition. The candidate also pledged himself to support such an estimate as that for the building of a fishermen's float here.

Questionaires

Mr. Brady then proceeded to answer questionaires that had been submitted by the Trades and Labor Council. He would be opposed to the Senate interfering with the desires of the people. Ever a friend of labor, he would be in favor of peaceful picketing. The repeal of the 1919 amendments to the Immigration Act and Criminal Code he said would come as a matter of course. The people knew where the Conservative party stood with regard to Old Age Pensions.

As for the abolition of appeals to the privy council, Mr. Brady expressed confidence that the time was coming when Canada would not have to take such recourse with regard to legal affairs. He would hail the day with gladness when he could register his children as "Canadian." As for a national flag, Mr. Brady declared that the Union Jack should always form a part of the Canadian flag. As for appropriations from the government for the development of Canadian art, literature, music and science, Mr. Brady said that was "the dream of my life." He would be in favor of having the word "Canadian" on legal documents where it seemed appropriate.
