Learning Trickery of Politicians.

The specious arguments presented by J. C. Brady, Conservative candidate, at the public meeting in the auditorium last night indicate that he is rapidly throwing off the mantle of the school teacher and adopting the role of the clever politician, the man whom he professes to abhor. The way he juggled the fish trap question was really clever. He set out to show that Fred Stork had been playing a two face game with the fishermen and that Mr. Meighen's Government, when it granted the licenses, was simply a common ignoramus and had not done it deliberately with malice aforethought. He forgot to mention that fishing continued to the end of the season, for a full week after the Meighen meeting here.

Mr. Brady, though tied to the tail of the Conservative party, makes a great play of his independence of party. Why then did he offer himself as a Conservative and why is he backed by W. J. Bowser, the most rabid of the old party machine gang? Mr. Brady poses as "the friend of the workingman," but he is in the wrong company to get away with any such pose. As we said before, Mr. Brady is in a fair way to become a clever politician and one term at Ottawa would complete the work, but happily he is not likely to be there, at any rate not on this occasion, because the fishermen and workmen, to whom he makes his smooth appeals, are too wise to be caught with that kind of bait. They have fished too long themselves.

Education is Very Important Matter.

The education of the young people is one of the most important affairs of the city. Just now there are several new teachers coming in, particularly in the High School, and it is up to the parents and others to give them every possible support. It is also up to the trustees to pay them what they are worth. Nothing is as important to the city as to have the young men and women given the right kind of start in the schools.

Value of Radio to the Country.

The radio is particularly valuable to those people who live a long way from cities and towns and who are therefore much isolated during the winter months. Recently questions were asked from women in regard to it and here is some of the information gathered from them:

To deprive the benefit of the hints on household economics, health, beauty, and all the other topics that appeal to the fair sex, radio clubs have been formed by women living away from the cities. Radio tea parties are the rule. The old-fashioned country woman is fast disappearing. She no longer specializes on neighborhood gossip nor the prices of chickens, butter and eggs, but can discuss the latest fashions, play bridge, and narrate all that is going on in the field of politics or about music and drama, not to mention baseball, football and prize fights; and she finds the French lessons very interesting too!

Parliament Decision is Being Flouted.

The last Parliament was asked by Mr. Meighen for enough money to enable it to carry on. The request was refused, Parliament declaring that his Government was not legally constituted. Then Mr. Meighen appealed to the Governor and got a dissolution, something that was refused to Mackenzie King, and now the Governor is signing warrants to the extent of a million dollars a day to enable the affairs of the country to be carried on. The money belongs to the people and is paid by them in taxes, but they have no say in the spending of it. The Governor and Meighen are doing that between them. So far they have got through close to sixty million dollars and it is increasing every day. By the time the elections are over and Parliament can be called it will be close to one hundred millions, and perhaps more. This is an immense sum. Yet the people who pay have nothing to say about how it is spent. That is the Meighen method.

Election day will soon be here, thank the powers.

What makes cigarette smoking expensive is the large number of cigarette smokers who never seem to buy any.

The most disappointing thing is to go to a movie show that is advertised as being wicked and find it is just a little tamer than the average.

Jake says if he was a Liberal he'd hate himself and if he were a Conservative he'd commit suicide. All the same he thinks Stork is the boy.

The trouble with Jake is he hates to lose his vote.

The only thing that worries me about this election is that I can't get a dollar of Conservative money. They just aren't offering any.

Brady will win
On election day.
So Conservative
People here say;
But when they are asked
To put up a dollar
They at once get
Hot under the collar.

Easy money is the kind most of us do not get.

I saw some easy money
And I thought I'd like a lot,
But when I reached my hand out,
The scheme went all to pot.

I'd have some easy money
I'd take it if I durst,
One time I thought I had some
And then the bubble burst.

Most of our success comes as a result of someone else's failure. When fishermen succeed it is because of the foolish action of some poor fish.

BIRTH RATE DROPS.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 28.—The birth rate in Argentina—with 9,500,000 inhabitants in an area of 1,400,000 square miles—is slowly decreasing but on the other hand the mortality rate is steadily diminishing.

Though falling, the birth rate is considerably in excess of many countries and in Europe only Poland gives a higher percentage. The birth rate during the 1920-24 period is given as 3.3 per cent.
