Ketchikan Case Before Courts of Alienation of Affection Brought by Wife

KETCHIKAN, Feb. 2.—Said to be the first suit of its kind ever to be recorded in the courts of the Territory, Mrs. Imogene Levy filed a complaint against Irene Lanahan alleging alienation of affections. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant has wilfully, wickedly and maliciously induced W. I. Levy to leave her, and has caused her damage of body, mind and estate in the amount of $30,000.

Married 18 Years

In her complaint, Mrs. Levy alleges "that she has for 18 years been the lawful wife of W. I. Levy; that on or about the month of June 1925, and prior to that date, while she, Mrs. Imogene Levy, was absent from her residence in Ketchikan and visiting in Pasadena, California, with her father, and enjoying the support, protection, affection and respect of W. I. Levy, Irene Lanahan well knowing W. I. Levy was the husband of the plaintiff and wrongfully intending to injure the plaintiff and deprive her of her husband's society, protection, aid and support, wilfully, wickedly and maliciously gained his affection and induced him to have carnal intercourse and did entice him, by offer of money and otherwise and to leave the plaintiff without support and go to San Diego, California, and other places; that thereafter and at various times between the month of June 1925 and January 26, 1926, the defendant continued unlawful and wrongful intercourse with W. I. Levy and on or about June 18, 1925, induced and unlawfully and maliciously enticed W. I. Levy to desert Mrs. Imogene Levy and leave her without means of support and did go to San Diego, California, and other places with him, returning finally to Ketchikan; and that Irene Lanahan and W. I. Levy now continue to live unlawfully as man and wife where the defendant harbors and detains W. I. Levy against the will of the plaintiff and has wilfully debauched him; and Mrs. Imogene Levy further declares that her husband had become estranged from her and that she has been deprived of the society, protection, comfort, happiness and benefits W. I. Levy previously extended to her, and that she has suffered distress of body, mind and estate to her damage in the amount of $30,000 and judgment against Irene Lanahan in the sum of $30,000 and the costs of the suit are demanded.

PATTULLO STRONG FOR PROTECTION OF FORESTS OF PROVINCE

VANCOUVER, Feb. 2.—British Columbia's greatest industry, lumbering, must be protected, and reforestation must be ensured, even though such service entail larger expenditure of money raised by taxation, said Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, speaking at the dinner of the Hoo Hoo Club in the Ambassador Cafe.

It was such an occasion as the Hoo Hoos might have held years ago when the lumbermen's fraternal organization was in its first prime. The banquet was followed by dancing and from the singing of the lumberman's "anthem," Alouette, until the close of the affair at midnight brilliancy marked the proceedings.

She Could Hardly Do Her Housework Nerves Were So Bad

Mrs. I. M. Parks, Consecon, Ont., writes:—"I had heart and nerve trouble, and became so short of breath I could hardly do my daily housework, and was so nervous I could not think of staying alone, as every little sound I heard felt like a shock to me.

I Saw

OPEN BARGAINING FOR PROGRESSIVE AND LABOR SUPPORT

Candidus, Ottawa Press Gallery correspondent of the New Outlook, introducing his weekly review of the political situation says in part:

"There has been a good deal of hysterical writing in some of the political papers about what is described as an 'orgy' of bargaining between the groups in the House of Commons. Now there is no doubt whatever that there has been—and it is likely to continue to be—a great deal of bargaining between the two old parties and the independent groups. Of the fact there is no dispute. But it is quite another question as to whether it is necessary to get hysterical about it and talk or write as if there had never been such a thing in the political life of the Dominion before. The negotiations that have been carried on since parliament began have been, perhaps, more open and above board—or more brazen and unashamed, according to one's point of view—than they have been at other times. But it is at least an open question whether this has not been an improvement rather than the contrary."

FICKLE.

When Herbert Spencer was in this country, a great dinner was given him in New York, at which many significant speeches were made, and the most significant and eloquent of all was by Henry Ward Beecher. Afterward a pompous and enormously conceited physician ran up to Beecher with this exclamation, "Beecher you are the greatest man in the world," to which Beecher replied with biting sarcasm.

"My dear doctor, you have, for the moment, forgotten yourself."

"Longer dresses not favored in Boston," says a news item. Boston husbands would be satisfied with longer wear for short dresses.
