DISAPPROVES BOBBED HAIR

YOUNGER ROYAL LADIES IN ENGLAND CONFORM TO KING'S WISHES AND RETAIN LONG HAIR

LONDON, March 3.—(Canadian Press Despatch)—Many observers may have wondered, at a time when the younger royal ladies of so many countries, such as Spain and Rumania, have bobbed or shingled hair, that no English princesses have fallen to the fashion. The reason according to the Manchester Guardian is the King's strong prejudice against short hair for women. While the Queen merely thinks the fashion ugly and recognises its practical advantage, the King's feelings are so strong on the matter that he refuses to sanction any of the ladies attached to the court appearing with shorn locks.

No exceptions are made from the rule. The other day a certain notable lady on her appointment as lady-in-waiting to the Queen thought to smarten herself up for the royal duties by having her hair shingled. As soon as she appeared at court, however, it was intimated to her that she must at once let her hair grow, and while that was happening employ some art of the hairdresser to hide the fact of her unwisdom. Other ladies of the Court have had to wear "switches" to provide the necessary length of hair.

Although, of course, there is no official ruling in the matter, it is noticeable that most of both Princess Mary's and the Duchess of York's intimate friends wear their hair long in deference to the King's wishes. In these days when dresses are so much alike, and princesses or working girls all wear simple garments long hair instead of magnificence of attire is one of the few distinctive signs of being at Court.

CHINESE MARY'S SIGHT IS BACK

MUCH INTEREST CREATED IN INTERIOR OVER RECOVERY OF QUESNEL WOMAN

QUESNEL, B.C., March 3.—"Chinese Mary," of Stanley, near here, has had her sight restored after twenty years of blindness and her recovery has created much interest throughout the interior of the province.

Chinese Mary is the wife of "Big Mouth" Jack, also a Chinese, and both have been in this country since the early sixties, when they first settled in the Cariboo region. For more than fifty years the two have been living at Stanley, a prosperous camp in the early days of the gold rush.

While the husband prospected in the creeks, Chinese Mary, a quaint-looking little woman dressed in a wide-brimmed hat, loose bodice and wide pantaloons such as worn by the native Chinese women, tended the wood pile and split firewood. In view of her blindness this somewhat perilous work required an exceptional skill on her part, but she never failed to perform her part of the chores without accident. She was regarded as one of the human wonders of the Cariboo country.

And now, after twenty sightless years, she can see again. Her explanation of how her sight was restored is vague, but she claims that she had been using a potent mixture concocted from a recipe discovered in an old Chinese doctor's book. Only a few applications were necessary, she says.

JAP DISAPPOINTED BECAUSE NOT MORE SNOW IN CANADA

WINNIPEG, March 2.—Kinzaburo Hashima, of Supporo, Japan, is disappointed at not seeing more snow in Canada.

Mr. Hashima, who is a mechanical engineer with the Japanese government railways, is in Canada to study the operation of snow-fighting apparatus used by the Canadian railway companies. So far, he says, he has seen nothing startling in the line of snow fighting.

In the northern islands of Japan, the snow becomes quite deep in the mountains and trains frequently have to make their way through ten-foot drifts. Mr. Hashima said, in some places during the winter the snowfall reached a depth of sixty feet.

Mr. Hashima is on his first visit to the North American continent and from Canada he will sail for Europe, studying methods employed in Sweden and Switzerland, where similar conditions to those prevailing in Japan are encountered.

BLACKSMITHS STILL GOING STRONG 'PEG CONVENTION PROVES

WINNIPEG, March 2.—Those who lament the passing of the village blacksmith with his muscled arms and musical anvil will dry their tears when they learn that the business of the village smithy was never better than it is today.

This fact was brought out at the annual convention of the Manitoba Association of Blacksmiths, Horseshoers and Woodworkers, here.

Although the old grey mare is giving way to the new "tin lizzie" the blacksmith still finds his brow damp with honest perspiration. Instead of fitting dobbin with a new set of iron shoes, he is called upon to fix a broken gadget on the two-tractor and other mechanical repairs.

Business is good in the blacksmith trade but it is difficult to get the rising generation to take it up. Blacksmiths immigrating from Europe must be relied upon to keep the business going in the next generation, it was said.

FLINGS INSULTS AT MONTREAL JUDGE

Condemned Man Shouts That Witnesses Are Perjurers

MONTREAL, March 2.—Painful scenes were enacted in the court of King's bench here when Georges Merle, who was sentenced to death by Mr. Justice Wilson, after having been found guilty of murder of Andre Marrelle on December 21 last, flung insults at the judge and was overcome by a fit of violence. Merle, who had appeared quiet composed throughout the trial broke out in a tirade immediately after the formal question had been put:

"Have you anything to say before the sentence is imposed, according to law?"
"Yes, I have," shouted Merle. "I want to say that two witnesses came here and perjured themselves. One was Madame Wilson and the other was a young girl. Madame Wilson was my mistress for some time, and she wanted vengeance. Do not condemn me. If you do, you will make a mistake, as you have already made several."
Merle will hang on June 10.

DISTRICT ENGINEER'S SURE WAY CATCH FISH

All That is Needed is Drydock Full of Water and Pumps to Empty it

VICTORIA, March 3.—John P. Forde, district engineer for the Dominion department of public works, claims to have discovered the surest means of catching fish that has so far been devised. All the equipment that is necessary consists of a drydock full of water and pumps to empty the dock.

Recently the new Songhees drydock at Esquimalt, second largest in the world, was pumped out by the dock master and when the last of the water had been sucked out of the graving basin, a large run of salmon was found on the bottom of the dock, in addition to a number of large codfish and some perch. Every time the dock is emptied some fish are left in the bottom, according to Mr. Forde, although the most recent operation saw the first of the salmon catch.

The salmon caught in the dock averaged from fourteen to fifteen pounds in weight, and as the dock holds 43,000,000 gallons of water some idea of the number of fish which can be caught by this unique method is possible. The only disadvantage is that the process of filling and emptying the gigantic dock is rather expensive.

A dazzle-light for tigers is part of the equipment of a rajah's new hunting car. The same device has, of course, been used successfully against pedestrians.
