BALDWIN MAKES AN INSPECTION

Congratulates Canadian National Railway on Fine Canadian-made Engines

TORONTO, Aug. 8.—The Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin, British premier, took a short course in engine driving at Pickering, Ontario, Saturday, on the new Canadian National locomotive No. 6120, the largest and most powerful railway engine in the British Empire.

Mr. Baldwin, when visiting Kingston, heard that this titan of the steel rails was an all-Canadian product designed by Canadian National Railway engineers built at the Kingston shops.

Early on Saturday morning 6120 was attached to the royal train to haul it into Toronto to mark the opening of the new Union station. Mr. Baldwin, although busily engaged in his speeches, halted in his work to make an inspection of the engine, eventually climbing into the cab with the engineer. He showed the keenest interest in the manner in which the big locomotive was handled when travelling at high speed and worked the various levers controlling the engine.

"It is a wonderful piece of machinery and should be a source of pride to the Canadian designers and builders," said the premier on leaving the locomotive.

No. 6120 is one of forty engines of similar type that are being turned out this season for the fast passenger and freight services of the National System.

When in regular service they will run 610 miles without change—the longest locomotive run in the Dominion.

An interesting and probably unique record was established in connection with the personnel handling the royal train from Kingston to Toronto for the Canadian National Railways. Accompanying the party was R. H. Fish, general superintendent, southwestern Ontario district, who, when a locomotive engineer was in charge of drawing the royal train during the visit of King George V., then the Duke of York.

He had had charge of train operation on the three last visits of the Prince of Wales.

R. Norton, who was conductor on the run into Toronto, has fifty-one years in the service of the railway and, like Mr. Fish, he was a member of the train personnel handling King George on his visit to the Dominion and he has been a member of the train staff of the Prince of Wales special train on the last three royal visits.

BUMPER CROP SEEMS ASSURED

Railway Report on Conditions Indicates Probable Excellent Results

TWO WEEKS TO HARVEST

WINNIPEG, Aug. 8.—"Indications for a bumper crop have never been better in this territory. Farmers have a very optimistic outlook and if nothing happens now, harvest is expected to begin within the next two weeks. This, from the Prince Albert division of the Canadian National Railways, is in a sense a summary of the 16th weekly crop report of the Canadian National Railways. The whole of western Canada covered by this report has experienced a week of gratifying weather. While not all districts expect to be cutting wheat in two weeks some say three—at least one anticipates harvest in ten days. Rye cutting is practically general and will be in full swing this week. Barley cutting will soon be under way.

Slight frosts have been reported here and there but these have done no damage except to duplicate garden stuffs, and these have not been harmed in any great quantity. Rust is not causing alarm.

Wheat is heading out well and ripening rapidly. In Alberta lodged grain is straightening with dry weather and hailed crops are coming back splendidly in most instances. Thirty-five and 40 bushels to the acre are not regarded as too much for hope in a great many districts and those which will not commit themselves with figures but nevertheless have bright prospects say that if they escape the frost they will have the heaviest crops on record.

A considerable amount of new land is being broken in the Drumheller district. Some of the territories which are particularly sanguine this year are between Calgary and Mirror Alberta; between Taplow and Wardlow, Alberta; between Alaska and Eatonia, Saskatchewan; between Fabyan and Cloverbar, Alberta; between Varmilion and Oliver, Alberta; between Highgrate, Satkatoon, and Vermilion.

MEMORIAL TO EDITH CAVELL

Annual Impressive Service at Jasper on Shore of Lac Beauvert

JASPER PARK, Aug. 8.—On the spot where in a few years the beautiful memorial church to Nurse Edith Cavell will stand, the third annual memorial service to the great heroine of the World War was held yesterday. In the foreground the multi-colored waters of Lac Beauvert lay still in the afternoon sun, a perfect mirror for the stately snow-crowned head of Mount Edith Cavell which raises majestically above all other peaks near by and dominates the whole Athabasca River. Around the flag-draped drums which served as a pulpit were gathered more than three hundred visitors to Jasper Park Lodge, representing eleven countries and also a large number of residents of the village so that the congregation which assembled to pay tribute to the heroism of Nurse Cavell and the principles for which she sacrificed her life totalled more than 500.

SIMPLE SERVICE

It was a simple service in which there was no trace of the bitterness and hatred of war. Rather it was a service of thanksgiving that a heart of such unflinching courage and a soul of such pure nobility should have been born into the world and have left behind an idealism for those who come after to live up to and follow. It was a tribute to tranquility and not to turmoil. It was a message of peace and not a glorification of war, it was a dedication to unselfishness, to devotion, and to duty.

With the exception of the short address which was delivered by the Rev. H. A. Edwards, chaplain of Jasper National Park, the service was conducted by His Grace, the Most Reverend S. H. Matheson, D.D., Archbishop of Rupertsland and Primate of all Canada, whose patriarchial figure and quiet eloquence lent to the memorial a charm and dignity which no studied effect could have acquired and which probably no other man could have given. By the sheer force of his powerful personality, by the magnetism of that personal character which has elevated him to the highest position in the English Church in Canada, Archibishp Matheson, missionary, minister and patriot, made of his theme a living vital force and brought very close to those who listened the spirit of the woman who laid down her life for a cause in which she believed and sacrificed herself for that which she thought to be her duty to a suffering mankind.

LAST POST SOUNDED

No one who was present will soon forget the closing moments of this impressive service. The last strains of that great hymn "Abide With Me" had melted into the air and been lost in the stillness of the snow-capped hills, Archbishop Matheson, with arms upraised, had pronounced the Benediction and in the full light of the silver crown of Mount Edith Cavell, the congregation stood silent with bowed heads. Then it was, with a suddenness that was almost startling and sadness that caused many to wipe their eyes, the soft plaintive notes of the Last Post, that haunting requiem of the British Army, were sounded by the bugler. Clear and mellow they were carried across the lake to the hills which echoed back softer still and as the last lingering, unfinished note came true, emphatic, full of promise of other things in the Great Beyond, the Union Jack which had been floating high over the gathering during the afternoon, dipped slowly and majestically in proud salute to the memory of a true daughter of the Empire and a woman whose life to the last tragic minute was devoted to that which was highest and most enobling in womanhood.
