INTERMENT TOOK PLACE THIS AF-TERNOON AFTER IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL SERVICE

Memories of the Great War were again vividly recalled this afternoon when the Presbyterian Church was filled with omrades and friends desirous of paying their last tributes of respect to the memory of William George Hughes whose untimely death created such a shock in the community where he has lived practically all the time since he returned from the war. The funeral service, conducted by Rev. H. C. Fraser, assisted by Rev. Archdeacon Rix, was of a very impressive character and eloquent tribute was paid to the memory of the deceased whose life had been so abruptly

After the service at the church the funeral cortege, headed by the regimental and Boys' bands, under Sgt. Wilson, slowly moved to Fairview cemetery. The firing party, supplied by the First N.B.C. Regiment with permission of Col. J. W. Nicholls, O.C., was in charge of Capt. G. P. Tinker, and was composed of C.E.M. Ponder, C.S.M. Murray, Sergeant Cadwallader, Privates Hunter, Thos. Black, J. Allan, T. M. Morris, and S. Woodman. Sergt. W. Rance sounded the last post at the grave.

The entire service, which was very largely attended, was an excellent tribut to the high esteem in which the deceased was beld by a very wide circle of acquaintances and by his comrades of the Great War who turned out in very large numbers to aid in the military funeral.

Nerves at High Tension

The Result of Keen Competition and the Struggle for Supremacy

This is the age of hurry. The hurry at breakfast, the hurry to work, the hurry at lunch, the hurry home and the hurry out to evening engagements.

There is no time for rest or sleep. No time for the nerves to renew their vigor. The spirit of hurry is everywhere and few can escape its influence. As a result of this constant nervous strain you find yourself irritable and nervous.

Heart disturbances are among the early indications of an overtaxed system. There is headache, stomach troubles, brain fag and neuralgic pains.

If you could only get away from it all for a rest. Some have solved the problem by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to restore the exhausted nervous system and now rejoice in good health and strength. They were just as rundown as you are but persisted in this treatment until their vigor and energy was thoroughly restored. There is nothing like Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to build up the rundown nervous system.

JAPANESE OYSTERS

Oysters from Japan may be transplanted to the waters of the British Columbia coast if experiments now being carried on in the neighboring state of Washington are successful.

Mortality among Eastern oysters transplanted on this coast is said have been so great that it has been decided to test Japanese oysters here. The Japanese oysters are reported be thriving on Puget Sound and it believed they will do well in British Columbia waters. Longer tests are waited before any decision is made, how-

Objection to the Japanese oysters has been based on their purple shell rim. This does not affect their flavor, however, and is noly noticeable when served on the half shell since the color disappears when cooked.
