CIVIC AFFAIRS IN DOLDRUMS.

Eight days to election and hardly any candidates definitely in the field. That's the way people in Prince Rupert are taking their municipal affairs. Even staid old Nelson down in the south-eastern part of the province was commenting on the fact that the civic campaign was quiet there with a fight for the mayoralty, only being waged.

It is not a healthy sign when people take such little interest in civic affairs as is being manifested here this year. If the people are not concerned in who is to be their mayor, aldermen and school trustees, one would think that such important matters as policing and the sewer bylaw would demand some attention.

CLIMATIC CONDITIONS ARE CHANGING.

There are still a few old-timers in Victoria who maintain that the winters here are not what they used to be, says the Victoria Colonist. One of the oldest of the old-timers says when he was a young fellow there was always a certain amount of skating to be enjoyed almost every winter and that one Victoria firm in the meat business cut enough ice from Swan Lake to serve its purposes during the entire summer season. On the other hand there are incredulous persons who maintain that the winter seasons are as invariable as all the other processes of nature, and that, taking one season with another, there is very little variation in the temperature, that the memory of the old-timer fondly dwells upon one abnormally cold winter and confuses it with all the other winters that have passed over his head and adorned it with a crown of silvery glory.

All parts of Canada seem to be blessed with old-timers who believe that the winters of long ago were colder than any of the winters that have succeeded them. The Canadian climate is so invigorating that it promotes longevity. The properties of the mild coast climate appear to be just the same as the properties of the climate of the far-eastern provinces, the properties of the central provinces and the properties of the prairie provinces in that respect. And the old-timers, wherever you find them, laugh in derision at the milk-and-water fellows who shiver in every cold blast that blows from the north and proclaim their conviction that the thermometer has marked a new record for frigidty.

Alexander Calder is one of the old-timers of the prairies, probably one of the oldest of the old-timers of Canada, since he crossed the ocean in a sail boat eighty-five years ago. Mr. Calder says the people who complain about the recent cold snap in Canada know nothing about really cold weather.

"Why, back in '79, the thermometer sank to 45 below zero regularly, and often remained at that level for several days. During the winter of 1880, the mercury hit 50 below on New Year's eve. Only once has Mr. Calder complained of the cold in Canada. That was when he was living in London, Ont., and drove into Sarnia with both ears frozen. The temperature on that occasion stood at 60 degrees below zero, he states. Those were the days when men were men, and spats had not made their appearance west of Montreal; those were the days when wavy and wiry whiskers were as common as bobbed hair is now; when the breakfast shave meant thawing a lump of ice on the kitchen stove for hot water, and when one often awoke in the morning to find shoes and other things frozen to the floor. I've seen it so cold in a house that water several feet from a red hot stove would freeze solid. We do not get the snowfall they used to get, either. In 1885 it snowed so heavily that persons riding in railway coaches in Illinois and Wisconsin couldn't see a thing except an unbroken wall of snow rising up on either side of the car. Farmers had to dig trails through the immense drifts and when they drove through all that could be seen from the side was the horses' ears poking above the snow line."

The old-timers of the East and the old-timers of the West are therefore agreed that the winters of the present day are much milder than the winters of past days. The climate of Canada is becoming milder with every passing year. Even the climate of Victoria, which never has been extremely severe, is becoming milder. Possibly, if all the conditions were favorable, the bones of the mastodontic creatures which are being dug up along our hillsides might be clothed with flesh and spring into active life at some later day in our history.

REPAIRING OF COW BAY ROAD

CITY COUNCIL ENDORSES PETITION TO C.N.R. AND PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT

The city council endorsed the proposal contained in a petition which was read at the meeting last night from a large number of business firms and individuals asking that the road between Third Avenue and the waterfront be put in good condition. On motion of Alderman Larsen the city clerk will draw up a resolution and present the same to the provincial government and the Canadian National Railways asking that the road be renovated.

When the petition was read, Mayor Newton suggested that it might be left over to the incoming council for the 1927 Board of Works committee to deal with.

Alderman Casey thought however, that would delay the matter and he suggested communicating with the parties concerned asking that they meet the wishes of the petitioners. At the same time, Ald. Casey pointed out that it was not a matter for the city as it was not responsible for the upkeep of such a road.

Alderman Larsen was of the opinion that all the petitioners wanted was the co-operation of the council, the city being in no way responsible for the upkeep of the road.

It was pointed out by the city solicitor that the petition was in triplicate and addressed to the city, the railway company, and the provincial department of public works.

The matter was then disposed of by the council unanimously endorsing the motion of Alderman Larsen.

CITY REPEALS GARBAGE BYLAW

UNPOPULAR MEASURE WAS UNANIMOUSLY RESCINDED BY COUNCIL LAST NIGHT

A bylaw was introduced at the council meeting last night and passed unanimously repealing the bylaw introduced last year by which the city charged for the collection of garbage. In explaining the matter before the city clerk read the bylaw, Alderman Casey said that he had been responsible for asking the city clerk to prepare such a bylaw. "I don't think it is any use trying to carry the thing through, it is unpopular, the people hate it and I ask you to support this repeal," he said. The bylaw was then read by the city clerk and Alderman Casey moved its adoption, seconded by Alderman Perry, and it passed the several readings unanimously and was adopted.

FINE DANCE BRINGS HAPPY CLOSE OONA RIVER FESTIVITIES

OONA RIVER, Jan. 5.—A series of splendid social affairs between Christmas and New Year came to a close on New Year's Eve with a dance in the school house which was attended by old and young alike. Music of fine strains was provided by Dave Hadland on the violin accompanied by Miss Margaret Fossom at the piano. The event was in progress until the small hours of the morning and it proved to be one of the most enjoyable ever held here. The community was indebted to the ladies, more particularly Mrs. Fossom, who took such an active part not only in this affair but in connection with all the Yuletide festivities.

During the evening, Vilmer Anderson made a speech on behalf of "Uncle" John Anderson who acted as Santa Claus and otherwise assisted in the local celebrations.

NEW SCHOOL AT JAP INLET OPEN

FINE CHRISTMAS TREE ENTERTAINMENT WAS GIVEN BY CHILDREN FOR OCCASION—DANCE FOLLOWS

JAP INLET, Jan. 5.—The annual Christmas Tree entertainment and the opening of the new school house took place co-incidentally here recently. School children, with songs, choruses, recitations and a playlet, carried out the program and their talents surprised the audience and brought expressions of credit to the teacher, Mrs. Corbould. The children seemed quite at home on the stage and there was not a slip from the beginning to the end of the program.

Some thirty-eight persons were present and, at the close of the program, J. Murray, one of the school trustees, proposed a vote of thanks to all concerned in the performance, this being heartily passed with applause. Following the entertainment, a heavily laden Christmas Tree was relieved of its burden and dancing was enjoyed to music furnished by J. Wauchope. The program was as follows:
