Under the auspices of the Canadian and British Columbia Medical Associations and made possible as a result of a grant made by the Sun Life Assurance Co., post-mural lectures on advanced surgical and medical methods were delivered to city and district doctors yesterday afternoon and last night by three of Canada's leading medical men in the persons of Dr. A. Primrose, dean of the medical faculty and professor of clinical surgery of the Uniersity of Toronto; Dr. Duncan Graiam, professor of medicine at the University of Toronto, and Dr. W. B. Burnett of Vancouver, recognized as one of ne Dominion's leading gynaecological and obstetrical surgeons.

Lectures were held in the Prince tupert General Hospital and last night jurses of the city were in attendance Burnett on "Obstetrics." Both lectures proved most interesting professionally and many modern and advanced methods and treatments were revealed.

At dinner last night, the visiting doctors were guests of the Prince Rupert Medical Association.

The discovery was one of the most wonderful developments in modern medical history.

Speaking last night on the subject of cancer, Prof. A. Primrose, dean of the medical faculty of the University Toronto and professor of clinical surgery, declared that medical men now considered it unnecessary for women to die of cancer of the breast at all. At the present time, nevertheless, ten per cent of the deaths from cancer were from cancer of the breast. Surgeons had found that, where a woman reported within one or two months the one hundred per cent cures were obtained. Failing to report soon enough death was often the result. A case which had been watched for a year or two became very doubtful, the speaker

The main point which Dr. Burnett stressed in his lecture on obstetrics was that medical care during pregnancy was even more important than at the time of confinement, or delivery. If women could not have such care both during pregnancy and at the time of confinement, the safer way would be to be well looked after before labor and livery." At the same time, however, physicians could make labor much casier and safer for the mother and

At the dinner, talks on the activities of the Canadian and British Columbia Medical Associations were given by Dr. Primrose and Dr. Burnett respectively and Mr. Fletcher spoke on medical

IGNORES FIGURES

The writer conveniently ignores these figures and presents to the reader no facts or figures upon which to suppor his argument for the rejection of this bylaw. In the final analysis his reasoning resolves itself into the following formula: The Railway Company anxious to secure this agreement therefore ratification should be refused and the bylaw voted down.

Is this a business way of approaching a question of this kind? Should the ratepayers, without being fully aware of what the arguments in favor of, or against the bylaw may be, simply say oproach a serious proposition in such

Any person with business experience must be aware that the object of avoiding future litigation and continual bickering and quarrelling with the city in itself is such an adequate motive as would move the company in endeavoring obtain a satisfactory settlement and

I propose, in a future letter, to put before the electorate the advantage which the city would derive from the execution of this agreement and the loss accruing to the city which would result by the bylaw's defeat.
