Were For and Some Against But They Did Not Talk of Sharkey

start an argumen where the Dempsey-Sharkey fight pictures are showing. It doesn't matter which Jack you favor, you'll get the argument.

At the invitation of Manager Wilson we saw the first showing of the big fight films on Monday, and we were lucky enough to get away with our new panama hat. Honest, if the arguments around the ringside were any hotter than those we heard in the lobby of the theatre coming out, it's a wonder the jails in New York were big enough to hold the free fights that must have been started among the ring worms when the battle was over.

In five minutes we heard that Jack Dempsey was a "bum," a "hero," "the greatest fighter that ever hit the pike. the "biggest tramp that ever crawled under the ropes," a has-been," "a never was," "the greatest fighter of all times, that he "never will come back," that he "never was away," that he was "on the level," a "frame-up." "all for the gate," "on the up and up," "crooked as dog's hind leg." "straight as a string,

INCREASE OF MOOSE

Last Sixteen Years Reports Walter

Returning from an inspection through Northern British Columbia, Walter Owen, assistant superintendent of provincial police, reports that the moose population in the Atlin district has increased 25 per cent during the past six-

Likewise coyotes are more plentiful and are killing off small game such as rabbits and grouse. When desperate with hunger, coyotes have been known

Accompanied by Major Montague Furber, chief game inspector for the province, Mr. Owen visited Atlin. There the assistant superintendent menewed acquaintance with many old-timers, Range. whom he knew when in charge of the district sixteen years ago.

Leaving the coast steamer at Prince Rupert, Mr. Owen took the train to Prince George, and from there motored to Quesnel, Barkerville, Bowron Lake (where there is a large game reserve) Clinton and Ashcroft.

Mining activity in the Atlin district is increasing, he stated; sixty men are employed on the famous Engineer gold mine at Taku Arm, near the Golden Gate. Many tourists are visiting the district this summer.
