Interesting Experiment in Halibut Seining-Herring Run now on in Full Swing-More Boats From South to Fish Here-Changes Among American Vessels.

A new experiment which will doubtless be followed with interby everyone associated with the fishing industry here is to be indertaken by Capt. Chris Hovmuller with his new halibut boat, telen II., recently built here and now being outfitted for her first. rip to the banks. Hovmuller will attempt to seine for halibut, thus rying out for the first time on this coast a method that is said to e employed with success in Denmark and other European fishing ountries. Special gear with coiling and reeling devices is being intalled at considerable expense on the Helen II. which will not carry
