SAVED GIRLS FROM DROWNING

Prize-Winning St. Bernard Dog Plunges Into River Answer to Cali

A DIFFICULT TASK

In Spite of Handicap Manages to Reach Shore With Two in Tow

EDMONTON, Aug. 3.—Molly, prize winning St. Bernard at the Edmonton exhibition is the heroine of Fort Saskatchewan today following one of the most sensational double rescues from drowning ever reported, and the canine star is being talked of wherever the story is told of her battle with the raging waters of the Saskatchewan, a battle which only ended when Molly, herself barely able to drag her limbs above the high water mark, staggered ashore with 14 year old Freda Doye hanging half unconscious to her collar, and another 12-year old companion with a death grip on the long hair of the dog trailing behind, while scores of hands reached out to help the gallant dog make safety.

Freda and her playmate were playing on the edge of the river bank, when the earth which had been loosened by the recent heavy rains, suddenly gave way, precipitating them into the water. While both could swim, they were powerless in the grip of the fast-running current and were quickly carried out into the stream.

ANSWERS FRANTIC CALL

Struggling in the eddies, Freda frantically called to Molly who was barking and pacing up and down the bank. The big St. Bernard, sprang into the water and made direct to the struggling and exhausted girls. While one held tightly to the dog's collar, the other clutched at the long brown hair and the battle to safety commenced.

Scores of spectators hurried to the scene, while parents of the girls were notified by telephone. The dog was unable to return to the south side of the river so fast was the current, but undismayed she turned about and struck for the farther shore. Twice both the rescued and rescuer were carried beneath the surface, but each time the faithful dog struggled on and in an exhausted condition reached the safety of the bank.

WOULDN'T LEAVE GIRLS

Even after the girls had been revived and were being driven to their homes, the St. Bernard would not leave them but insisted upon accompanying them in the auto.

Molly's feat will go down among the traditions of the St. Bernards who in other years displayed the same fortitude and courage in succoring lost travellers in the famous St. Bernard pass in the Alps.

And here's a little family secret about Molly. She is in a delicate state of health and expects soon to become a mother. Under the circumstances the action of the faithful animal was doubly heroic.

CITY IN LAND WEIRD DREAMS

Story of Prospector Who Found Copper Mountain and Who Saw City of Future

VANCOUVER, Aug. 3. — (Canadian Press).—Thriving and ambitious cities now girdle Canada, but not one of these proud municipalities can ever hope to approach the Utopian ideal attained by "Volcanic City."

No railway agent will sell one a ticket to this attractive town; its name is not to be found on any map of Canada. Like Plato's Republic, the magic island of Shakespeare's "Tempest" and a thousand other realms of dream, it never existed outside a human mind—the mind of a weather-beaten old prospector of the British Columbia hills.

Few more colorful careers have been lived in the Canadian west than that of Bill, "Volcanic" Brown. Several times fortune has tantalized him with visions of fabulous wealth, but on each occasion the vision has proved a mirage. He has stood in the shadow of the gallows and only recently, at an age when most men are content to doze in their easy chairs, he was discovered lost in the mountains with both feet frozen and near to death.

Brown, who was born in New Brunswick, came to British Columbia after making a name for himself in the Ontario lumber woods. While prospecting near the International border he made what he believed to be a rich strike. He thought that he had discovered a mountain literally loaded with gold and instantly he became a builder of air castles, planning mighty mines and a city which was to be built up around them.

The prospector's bubble was soon pricked by scientific investigators and Volcanic City, as he had christened his town of the future, was relegated to the land of ambitious dreafs. From that day forward he was known throughout the mountain country as "Volcanic" Brown. The name has struck through four decades.

Some years later he made a genuine discovery in the Copper Mountain district, but more astute searchers after wealth got ahead of him in the matter of development and, despite a legal battle for what he considered to be his rights, he did not benefit to the extent of one dollar by his find.

The ageing prospector became a well-known and popular figure in the boundary district of British Columbia and when he was arrested on a murder charge scores of friends rallied to his support. Enthusiasm ran high when his name was honorably cleared and he stepped from prison a free man.

Even if Volcanic City had become an actuality, there are many persons who would have felt no desire to reside there, for Brown had very rigid notions as to how it was to be governed. Pious folk would have been unhappy within its walls, for no churches were to be allowed. And as the use of money was to be utterly forbidden, misers and spendthrifts alike would have felt themselves out of place there.

Brown still dreams of sudden wealth; the volcanic mountain still lifts its cone-shaped peak to the skies; but the ideal city which is in his imagination he built about its base is not listed in any gazeteer of Canada.

WILL NOT PACK THE WINNIPEG CONVENTION DECLARES TORONTO MAN

Dave Spence Denies Charges of Conservative M.P. in Regard to Choosing Leader

TORONTO, Aug. 3. — Thomas L. Church, Conservative member in the House of Commons, charges that an attempt is being make to "pack" the big Conservative convention at Winnipeg and that the choice of a leader will be all "cut and dried" but this is denied by other Conservatives.

Dave Spence, M.P., says that T. L. Church, M.P., talks "darned rot," when he (Thomas) charges an attempt is being made to "pack" the Winnipeg Conservative Contention.

"I am willing to put my faith in the men who are in charge of the arrangements for that convention," says Mr. Spence, "and I am confident that it will be run on the level. Who wants to pack it? Not Mr. Guthrie or Mr. Bennett or Mr. Meighen or Mr. Ferguson. That kind of talk is absurd.

"I met General McRae of Vancouver here the other day, and discussed it with him. He is one of the leaders on the committee. He is a millionaire, and a gentleman, and he is not going to lend himself to any packing of a convention. That is all rot."

Mr. Spence also took exception yesterday to Mr. Church's allegation that "bonehead work" on the part of the Conservative Board of Strategy at Ottawa was responsible for the present puny spirit behind the Tory cause.

"That Board of Strategy stuff," said Mr. Spence, "is all bunk. There is an Executive Committee of the party at Ottawa, and they have mixed my name with it, but I'm not on it."

NOTED CATHOLIC PRELATE HERE

Archbishop Dontenwell of Rome Visiting City in Course of Tour

A prominent dignitary of the Roman Catholic Church and pioneer priest of British Columbia is visiting Prince Rupert for a few days, a guest at the local priests' residence, in the person of the Most Reverend Augustine Dontenwill of Rome, Archbishop of Ptolemy (Syria) and Superior General of Oblate Fathers of the world. Archbishop Dontenwill, who is in the course of an official visit to Oblate Fathers in United States and Canada, arrived on the Prince George this morning from Vancouver and will proceed about the end of the week to Edmonton, with a possible stopover at the Fraser Lake Industrial School en route. He has now been in Canada about a month and will return to Rome before winter. It is his first visit to Prince Rupert although he has been as far into the district as Hazelton from the East, clerical duties at the first of this century having taken him on trips by cance and horseback into the central interior.

Archbishop Dontenwill first came to Canada in 1872 and he was a professor in Ottawa University until 1889. He then came to New Westminster where he was in charge of St. Louis College until he was appointed Bishop of New Westminster in 1897, succeeding Bishop Durieu. On the formation of the See of that name; he became Archbishop of Vancouver in 1908. Since then he accepted a new appointment and moved to Rome, his present headquarters.

Archbishop Dontenwell has been much impressed with the progress that has been made in the West since he last visited it. He sees great possibilities in this coast and his visit to Prince Rupert is proving of much interest to him.

BOY SCOUTS HAVING WONDERFUL TIME AT PORT SIMPSON CAMP

Word has been received in the city from the Boy Scouts at Port Simpson who are apparently having the time of their lives. The weather has been perfect, thus enabling the boys to indulge freely in bathing, hiking, woodcraft, etc. Every night the boys sit around the camp fire and sing their scout songs and tell yarns and jokes until the command is given to retire to the hay.

Perhaps one of the important things from the boys' standpoint at least is the mess room. This department is well cared for and the boys are showing remarkable ability to clean up the tables as they are spread. No accident of any consequence has so far occurred to mar the camp life. Friday next will see the boys back home in Prince Rupert, but parents will hardly be able to recognize their swarthy sunburnt children.

LAST SHIPMENT OF BUFFALO FOR NORTH

EDMONTON, Aug. 3.—Buffalo numbering 218, the last of the present season's shipment to the Wood Buffalo Park, near Fort Fitzgerald, from the Wainwright National park are on their way north.

In all, 1,940 animals have been shipped this season.

The first transference of buffalo from Wainwright to Fort Fitzgerald took place in 1925 and in that year about 2,000 were shipped. About the same number were sent last year, which, with this season's lot, brings the total for the three years up to 5,585.

The animals have found the grazing in their new home to their liking, and are reported to be in a flourishing condition. Of the total number sent up only six found the journey too much for them.

Crown Colony Days

Away back in the late sixties thousands of acres of British Columbia's timber were sold for one cent per acre, which looked like a fair price—then. Today similar timber is worth from $150 to $200 per acre, so tremendously has timber appreciated in value within the scope of an average lifetime.

What the young growth of today will be worth sixty years from now is beyond computation if it is protected from fire and allowed to reach maturity.

The moral is obvious.
