

Responsible Helpfulness

What makes the public accept a business house as an established institution? Not its location; not its specialized service, not the quality and freshness of its goods, not the fact that it has been successful. It is the background it has-the reputation for Responsible Helpfulness.

For more than twenty years Ormes have been helping sick people get well, keeping well people from getting sick, helping handsome women to be more beautiful, catering to the creature comforts of man! That is what we mean by responsible helpfulness.
