NEGLECT is doubtless the cause of most of the ills that afflict humanity. This is so self evident that it seems hardly necessary to tell you. If your eyes are giving trouble, have them attended to-and at once.

OF ALL absurdities in the kingdom of foolishness, surely the loss of eyesight through neglect is the most inexcusable.

DON'T lose health and efficiency through neglect. Come and see!

"MONS" LAST NIGHT WAS BIG PICTURE

Scenes Beggar Description and Should be Seen by Everyone in the City

The eagerly awaited presentation of the magnificent British war spectacle. "Mons," conceded to be the greatest of all war films of the Great War, opened last night at the Westholme. "Mons" is a mighty document of the "Old Contemptibles," a true story of the great British retreat that spelled victory, produced with the sanction of His Majesty's Army Council. No good, in this small written impression, to try and tell of any particular incident. But they are there. They are there from the superb work of solitary sappers, who blow up bridges and railway track in the very teeth of the foe, to the glorious and victorious battle of "Battery L," of the R.H.A.—that "one lone gun in the dawn."

You see that unparalleled example of the power of martial music over utterly exhausted men - the sergeant rousing his flagging handful of stragglers with a tin whistle and a toy drum-"dead men" brought to life by a jaunty air and heartened back to

You see the stern struggle of English regiments of regulars, soldiers to the heart's core every man of them, holding the stricken lines to the last. You see the superb and inspiring charge of agerly as ever bridegroom hastened towards his bride. "Mons" beggars deswonderful British war picture.
