There's only one thing wrong with a holiday—that's coming to work the next day, but there's only one more national holiday now until the little fellow with the diapers takes over the old man with the cane. Latest calculation shows Christmas is 34 days away.

Handshakers were numerous at the holiday here for Terry Ella Stewart who was celebrating their 14th wedding anniversary and also Ella's birthday.

Three past presidents watched Harry Sheardson was installed president of the Prince Rupert Kinsmen Club at a color ceremony in the Commodore. There were Ed Garner, Harry Dibb and Stan Saville. The immediate past president was Harry Sheardson.

Some of the Kinsmen had their share at the ceremony and Ray Sheardson, most recently-elected president, attended a council meeting before picking up his home to attend the party that followed the installation.

How easy it is to get ready in the morning, most of the Kinsmen were also on duty or watching the service at the Cenotaph yesterday.

James had little option, always get him up and he was in time to a choice spot to see the solemn service.

Kinsmen membership was up and down when Harold Sheardson and Frank Dafee were installed.

Later arrival at the party was Kinsman Bill Long who attended the council meeting.

Real live party left aboard the Louise Tuesday for a vacation on a goodwill visit to the Kinsmen Club in that city.

Harold Whalen had been discussing a hunting trip to the Yukon. Whalen remembered the last trip to the Alaska for the CP boat until next year and she thought it would be a good chance for her to go.

They went. The Rotarians who took wives along included: Mrs. Mitchell, who organized the trip, Sid Johnston, Phil Doug, Fizzell and a McLeod.

Traveling CNR man, Robinson, and Don Ritchie took part in the jaunt. Roy paid his fare this time.

The lady that's always willing to play the piano, Mrs. Jimmy took to the keys for the Rotarians and members of the Kinsmen Auxiliary again on Remembrance Day. She never runs out of songs that young and old know. For those who didn't know the right key, Beryl Karasosky helped.

It's hard to find out whether the curlers or basketball club members that are the busiest this week. Ted Boulter is the curling enthusiast while Art Murray is positive that the players on the 16 team to play here this winter are the best.

The season opens for both sports Saturday.

Some of the city's pioneers are of its recent citizens have been appointed by Mayor to compile a book on the founding and growth of the city. George B. Casey, Currie and Bill Raymond, of whom were here before the city was incorporated and themselves have absorbing knowledge of the pioneer days will be assisted by John Major, Ray and Eric Sanderson.

Raymond retired recently as a newspaperman. He was for the Empire from the time of his arrival on the old paper in May in 1909 until it was published in 1947, then the Daily News where he worked until his retirement in 1948.

Currie, now in his 80s, is well known among construction men and arrived here in 1906. He made his first money in 30 years last year to attend the silver jubilee of that village. He's also a lot of stories about the city.

the RCMP had taken part in the Remembrance Day parade for the first time. Inspector W. M. Taylor, called upon to speak, said it had been a great honor to walk at the head of his men and that the RCMP wanted "to be part of the city and watch Prince Rupert grow."

ENTERTAINMENT

In a full entertainment program, Mrs. Margaret Smith received a warm response with her singing of "Flander's Field" and "Bless This House." Opened with singing by members of the "Ladies' Auxiliary" and some lively numbers by Mike Colussi on his accordion, the program included old marching songs by John Morrison and guitar selections by Jack Devlin.

Margaret Kain got encore after encore with her Scottish airs, and the mood was sustained by Jack Ewart and Jim Robertson on their bagpipes. Bill Smith sang about the old army game "Pass the Buck." Peter Lien expressed appreciation for Prince Rupert's support of the Shrine Band.

At the close, Charlie Youngman, first president of the Legion here, was brought on the stage by Keith DeWitt, who acted as the energetic master of ceremonies. At the end Canon Basil S. Procter expressed the hope and prayer that "we meet again next year in peace."

Oldsters Prove No Age Limit For Romance

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (C)—Just-married parties tooting through town aren't unique.

But when the "Just Married" sign on the car carries the numbers "82" and "78"—well, it's worth noting.

Just married were Mrs. Minnie Rogers and Jacob Manly Gier, both of Lethbridge, in a quiet afternoon ceremony. The "82" stood for the age of Mrs. Rogers, while the "78" represented Mr. Gier's span of years.

The bride-to-be entered the room on the arm of F. G. Sanderson and was attended by matron of honor Mrs. Isobel Lawson of Lethbridge. The groom's son, Ernest Gier of Taber, Alta., acted as best man.

When the wedding ceremony was over, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gier posed for a wedding photo, with the bride blushing to match her red rose corsage.

The Gier romance began in the spring. The Old Age Pensioners' Association got Mr. Gier a room in Mrs. Rogers' home when Mr. Gier wanted room and board after being released from hospital.

This fall members of the elderly folks' group were surprised to hear that the landlady and tenant arrangement was going to become a partnership.

Both the bride and groom are grandparents. The new Mrs. Gier has two grandchildren, while in his family of four sons and three daughters, Mr. Gier has 19 grandchildren.

Following the wedding ceremony the couple were driven through town in ribbon-decked cars.

And now that it's all over, Mr. and Mrs. Gier will reside in Lethbridge—proving once again there's no age limit on romance.

Take More Interest in New Men, Holy Name Society Urged

Members of the Holy Name Society were urged at the monthly meeting last night to take a greater interest in new men coming into the parish.

G. R. Brett, president, in his annual report, said it is up to present members to contact new parishioners and also emphasize aims of the society.

He outlined highlights of the year's activities, including the various social affairs sponsored by the men, the work groups on the church and school and urged this be continued.

A nominating committee of three, N. R. Young, John Comandina and Leon Blain, was appointed to facilitate election of officers at the next meeting.

City Girl Married in Flin Flon

A wedding of wide-spread interest took place in Flin Flon Oct. 17 when Donna Kerrighan became the bride of Leonard Guglielmin at a candlelight ceremony.

Bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kerrighan, 1955 Fifth Avenue East, and the groom is the son of Mrs. and the late Mr. A. Guglielmin of Trail, B.C.

Wedding was held in St. Anne's Chapel with the Rev. Father James Tate reading the service.

For her wedding, the bride chose a tailored smoke-grey dress with grey and black accessories, accented by a corsage of American Beauty roses.

A three-tiered wedding cake, made by the bride's mother, was cut at a reception at 43 Callinen Street, where the couple will reside.

The bride was given away by her father, who with Mrs. Kerrighan was an out-of-town visitor.

Both the bride, formerly of the Daily News staff, and the groom, a graduate in applied science, attended the University of British Columbia.

PORT SIMPSON

The Misses Marion Crossley, Jean Moore, Jean Wagner and Cynthia Thomas, nurses of the Prince Rupert General Hospital, were visitors to the village last Sunday. Miss Thomas was formerly field nurse at Port Simpson.

Miss Partridge, R.N. with the Indian Health Services, spent Tuesday and Wednesday calling on patients here.

The congregation of Grace United Church was host recently to three prominent ministers of the United Church of Canada in B.C.

Rev. R. N. McCall of the missionary vessel, Thomas Crosby IV, visited Port Simpson to induct the new minister, Rev. A. M. Greenaway to the Port Simpson charge of the United Church.

Rev. W. P. Bunt, superintendent of home missions for B.C., and Rev. W. W. McPherson, president of the B.C. Conference of the United Church of Canada, visited the village also, to meet the official board of Grace Church and to discuss business matters with them.

The induction ceremony was followed by a reception at which addresses of welcome to the new minister and his wife were made by representatives of the Session, the Woman's Association, and Port Simpson Chief Councillor.

PECULIAR DISHES

LONDON (C)—Dr. V. S. Bristowe, a nutrition expert, told a meeting that some spiders when properly cooked taste like chicken. He said his adventures in food included a lizard in Thailand—"rather tasty"—and a locust, which he described as neither strong nor pleasant.

Good Soup Wins Uncertain Appetites

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Soup is the best food to win uncertain appetites, and frequently serves to encourage an appetite for more solid food.

From the Jubilee Guilds of Newfoundland and Labrador comes this recipe for an onion soup that's fairly packed with nourishment:

Ingredients: Five small onions (thickly sliced); three tablespoons butter; six cups brown stock of water (boullion cubes may be used).
Cook onions in butter until soft. Add stock. Salt to taste and simmer at least 30 minutes. This soup is best when prepared the day before.

POPULAR DISH

A recent survey of Canadian eating habits showed 63 per cent of Quebec's families serve soup at the noon meal. The average is higher than for the whole of Canada. Two out of five Canadian families serve soup at noon, and one in four serves it a night.

Another recipe from the Jubilee Guilds, for potato soup, may sound interesting to housewives elsewhere.

Ingredients: Three small potatoes, one quart milk, two slices onion, three tablespoons butter, one tablespoon flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon celery salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, few grains of saffron and one teaspoon chipped parsley.

Scald milk with onion. Remove onion and add milk slowly to potatoes, mixing well. Melt half the butter, add dry ingredients, stir until well mixed and then stir into hot soup. Boil one minute. Add remaining butter and sprinkle with parsley. Thin with hot milk if desired.

YOUR SPECIAL TREAT

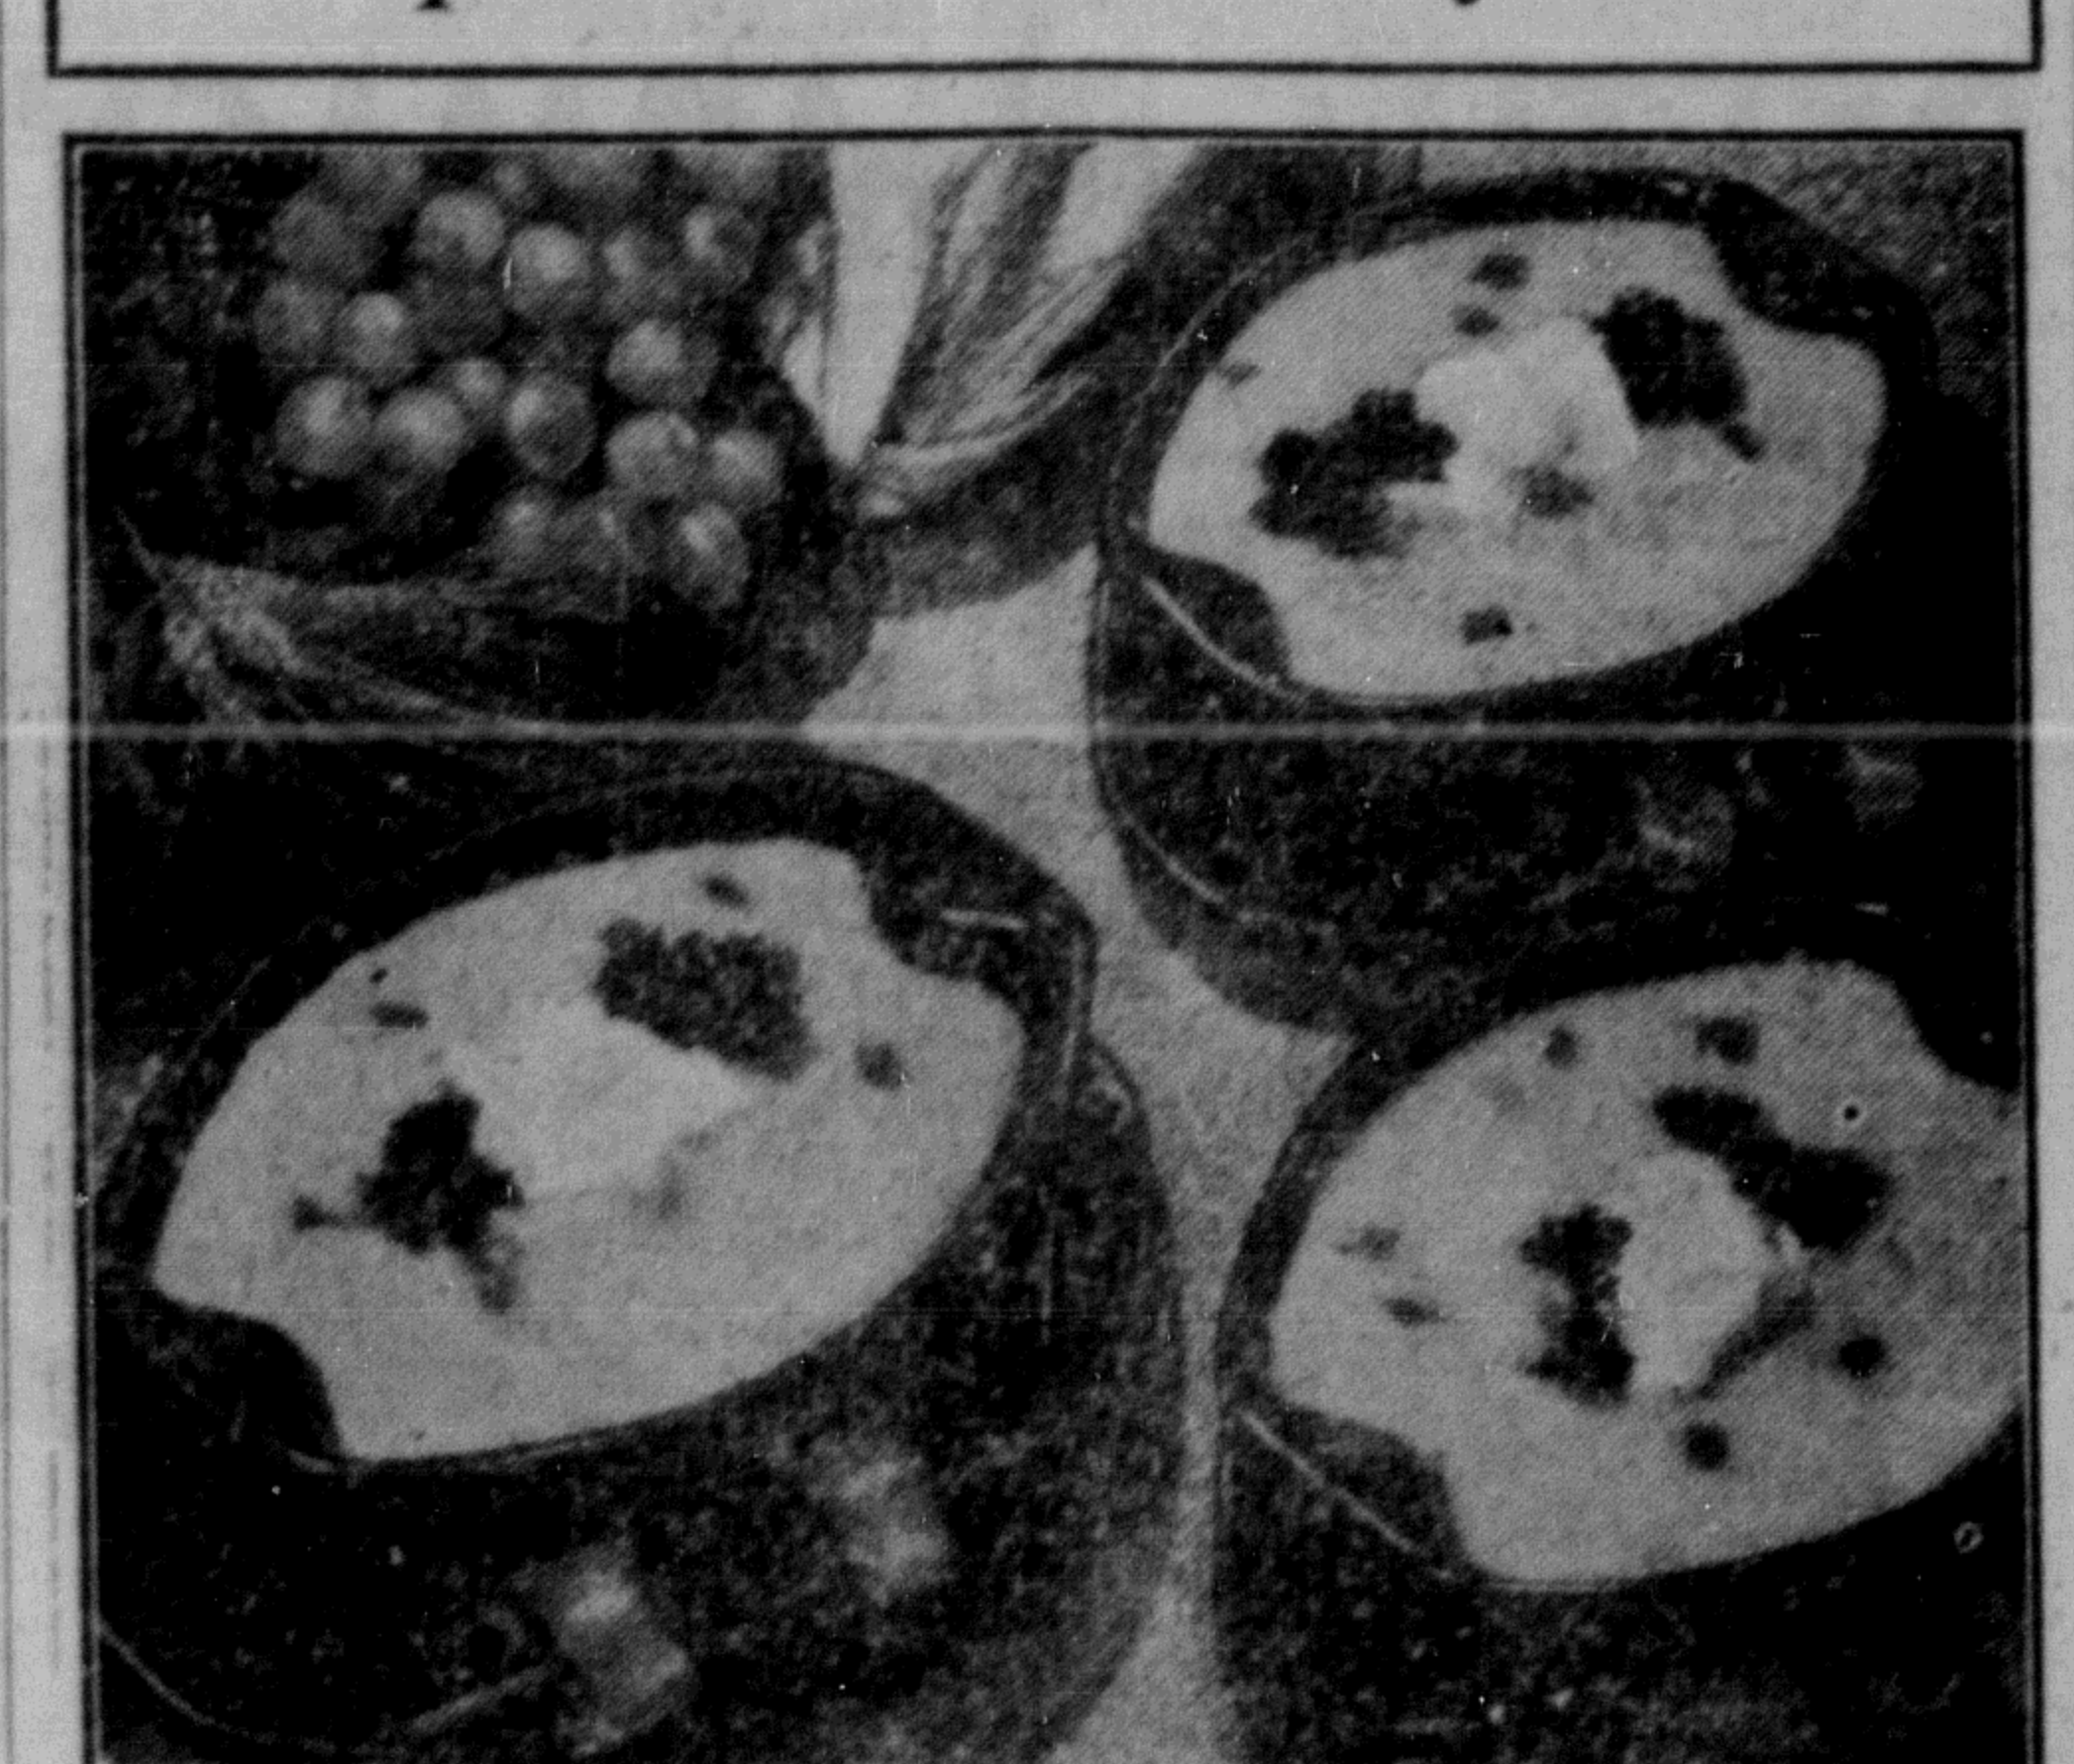

Home economists of the consumer section, Canadian Department of Agriculture, suggest "stuffed cucumbers" as a distinctive luncheon touch.

Ingredients: Six cucumbers (about six inches long); two cups sausage meat (one pound); two-thirds cup finely chopped celery leaves; one-third cup chopped onion; 1½ teaspoons salt; one teaspoon sage; two cups soft bread crumbs.

Cut cucumber in half lengthwise, remove seeds and soft portion with a spoon. Cook cucumbers in boiling salted water for 10 minutes. Drain well. Brown sausage meat in hot frying pan. Add seasonings and crumbs and mix well together. Pile stuffing in cucumber shells.

Place in a greased baking dish and bake in a hot oven (400°F.) for 35 minutes or until cucumbers are tender. Yield: six servings. These are "delicious" when served with baked or scalloped potatoes.

Soup Goes With Holiday Meals

A CREAMY soup with nuggets of mushroom has long been a holiday dinner tradition.

With condensed cream of mushroom soup, you're all set to serve the soup course without effort. And during the busy season ahead, you'll often have occasion to use this many-purpose soup. It's grand as extra gravy to have with the holiday bird or with baked potatoes; use it too as the sauce in creamed turkey and other after-holiday dishes.

For your holiday feast, enjoy mushroom soup just as it comes from the can. Or try it in one of these taste-intriguing soup combinations:

Mushroom Consommé Soup: Blend together a can each of condensed cream of mushroom soup and consommé; stir in ½ cup can of water. Heat and serve with a puff of whipped cream on top. Makes 4 servings.

Mushroom-Chicken Soup with Sherry: Combine 1 can each of condensed cream of mushroom soup and cream of chicken soup; stir in 1 cup can of water and 1 of milk; add 2 or 3 teaspoons of sherry as desired. Makes 4 servings.

Mushroom Soup Garnishes: Try any of the following as a festive garnish for cream of mushroom soup:

Blue cheese (crumbled) Onion salt
Curry powder Nutmeg

SOUP SCOOPS

Combine Chicken, Cranberries in Muffins: Marvelous Chicken-Cranberry Muffins are these, made with condensed cream of chicken soup as the liquid. First chop 1 cup fresh cranberries and mix with ½ cup sugar. Then in mixing bowl sift together 2 cups flour, 1 tablespoon baking powder, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt; make a well in center. Combine 1 can cream of chicken soup with 1 egg (beaten) and ¼ cup melted shortening; add to dry ingredients, stirring just until mixed. Stir cranberries into batter. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full. Bake in a hot oven (400°F.) about 20 minutes or until done. Makes 12 muffins.

Tomato Soup is Welcome in Lunches: Hot tomato soup is a welcome item in lunch boxes on cool days. Use condensed tomato soup with an equal amount of milk for this good hot dish—it gives your lunch a double dividend in good food value. Cheese or egg salad sandwiches taste just right with the hot soup.

Can of Spaghetti Makes Short-Order Special: Need a speedy meal during the holiday season? You'll like ¼ pound of browned ground beef frizzled with 1 small minced onion, then mixed with 1 can of spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese. Use the 15 fluid-ounce can of spaghetti and there are 4 portions. Serve piping hot.

City Youth Group Plans Battle Against Obscene Books, Shows

The Catholic Youth Organization, at a lively meeting in Annunciation Hall Sunday night, discussed steps that should be taken to eliminate obscene books and shows.

It was pointed out that the CYO in Edmonton last year took up the matter of an objectionable touring show with the Alberta government and the show was banned.

While members did not specifically name any books they considered obscene, it was brought to their attention the increasing number of magazines appearing these days on news stands. Some of these books, it was stated, are nothing but trash and do nothing to help improve the minds of growing generation.

On the other hand, said one member, some of these books are undermining the minds of the hundreds of young girls and boys who are reading them.

A Sadie Hawkins Dance will be held November 27. John Lepore was appointed convener.

Members also decided that on December 8 a living Rosary will be enacted by the young people in Annunciation Church.
