VIGOROUS ACTION IN IRELAND

The Irish, Free State Government is taking vigorous action for Honor. No reasonable person could think well of a government that insists that girls wear dresses down to their shoetops. That is what the Mussolini administration orders.

CONGRATULATIONS TO MEDAL WINNER

Congratulations are in order to Archie Thompson, the winner of the Governor-General's bronze medal for being the best student in District Ten in the High School entrance classes, to Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson on having such a son and training him, to the teachers who have all the way through the grades been responsible for his preparation for the examinations, to the school which is honored by him and to the city in which he was born and reared. It is to be hoped that the winning of this medal will be but the beginning of a famous career that will extend throughout his life.

It takes longer to wear out than to rust out. That is why married people live longer than single.

BEAUTY IN A SEASIDE POOL

It is wonderful how beautiful nature is if we only take the trouble to took for it. Take as an example a pool among the rocks at the seaside. The variety of colors there and their blending is de Colleen Moore in "Orchids and wonderful. The varied seaweeds and live creatures tune in with the surroundings, making the most delightful harmony of coloring. Even the crabs, the sea anemones, the little fish and other small creatures all have their part in adding to the general effect. Yet how many people pass through life blind to these beauties and never caring whether there was anything to see there or not.

Some of our figures of speech need to be revised. It is out of date to say a person works like a dog, unless it is to indicate that his scratching is only spasmodic.

ALL INTERESTED IN BIG FIGHT

While so few people are interested in the really beautiful People Taken Unconsciously in and wonderful things there are millions of people who take an intense active interest in the big fight between the former fistic champion of the world and an aspirant for the championship. Also there are millions, possibly the same millions, who are interested in the atrocious colored supplements of newspapers, in street parades with decorated cars and other spectacular affairs of a most crude kind which are the poorest imitations of real art. True, there are fights in nature, plenty of them, and they have an important effect on the lives of the creatures that are supposed not to have within them the power to reason. There is plenty of tragedy there and there are creatures that follow each other blindly just as do thousands of human beings. But from an artistic point of view the results obtained even the policemen "shot" knew it! by the so-called higher creatures as the result of what we designate reason are crude abortions compared with the finished results of blind instinct.

No girl can quite understand why her chum married the kind of man she did. It was not the kind she would have chosen if she had been the chooser, but she wasn't.

STAYING IN BED IN THE MORNING

How curious it is that so many people do not like to get up in the morning. Most people would like to lie for another hour. It does not matter what time they are in the habit of retiring or of rising, more time in the morning seems to be what the average person craves. There are exceptions to the rule but they are few, and manager of west coast production for been strung across the river here to are found among the older persons. Young people almost First National and producer of the catch them as they come down. The NOTICE OF INTENTION TO APPLY TO invariably crave more rest in the morning and less at night. is, they are seldom ready to retire and never ready to get up.

And the queer thing is that it is just as easy to rise at six as at eight as long as one takes a proper length of time for sleep, say seven hours each night. Ten hours is much too long for an adult.

Henry L. Doherty says: "If we could have one community that did not have any critics, that is destructive critics, it would grow like a weed in the tropics and prosper like a Scotch merchant in a new mining camp."

"Orchids and Ermine," a Story of Telephone Girl

Scores of exterior scenes were taken New York streets for Colleen Moore's new picture "Orchids and Ermine" which is coming here at the week-end. Masked cameras operated from the creened windows of bakery wagons, taxibs and store windows aided in capturing the scenes in which thousands of unsuspecting New Yorkers took part. Not

Miss Moore, Mulhall and the others rchearsed the scenes before going to the various busy Broadway and Fifth Ave. centres where the actual filming took place. While the "shooting" was going on, there was no sign of director, megaphone, cameras, reflectors or other paraphernalia that usually adorn the spot where motion pictures are being made. As the script required, the various players seemed to be a part of the crowds with which they mingled.
