OIL ON QUEEN CHARLOTTES

Seepages of crude oil on Queen Charlotte Islands have been reported time and again and the latest was only a few days ago when it was stated in a Skidegate despatch that crude oil had drifted in on the tide to Skidegate Inlet. Numerous efforts have woman are like flowers, when they been made to prospect for oil on the Queen Charlottes but none have ever bored very deep. Whether oil will ever be found in paying quantities, no one can say, but there is certainly a chance that it may. discouragea. Chills are often followed

The Queen Charlottes are full of possibilities. It is to some extent an undiscovered land.

NO BASIS FOR AGREEMENT

Sir Austen Chamberlain reported after an interview with the Russian delegate to Geneva that he could find no basis of agreement with a view to better relations between the two countries.

Britain was one of the first countries to enter into a trade agreement with Russia. Yet she has always been looked on with more or less enmity because she has been the great stumbling block in the way of the extension of the system of government by which few people control the great mass, as in Russia today. Britain is a democracy, Russia is a beaurocracy. That is the great difference. Between countries ruled so differently there is little basis for agreement.

JUDGE FOR OURSELVES

We have a letter in regard to the mayoralty, which like many other letters received, is not signed by the writer. Such letters do not appear in print. However, we may say the writer suggests that people are able to judge for themselves as to the fitness of any candidate for the mayoralty and with that we fully agree. It is for the people to judge. So far, however, no candidate has offered himself, although there has been talk of at least three and possibly more. Had "J.D." signed his letter it would have been published.

While speaking of letters, we may say that while we, as a general rule, allow a correspondent to sign a nom de plume in place of his own signature, provided always his own signature is enclosed, there are letters which we cannot so publish. The newspaper publishing letters is always responsible for them to a certain extent but more so when no name is attached. Anyone wishing to express very radical views or advocate some unusual course of action would be expected to sign the communication and not throw the onus on the newspaper. The paper reserves the right in any case to refuse publication if it thinks doing so is in the public interest. We suggest that the writer of a letter should not ask a newspaper to say something he dares not say over his own signature.

AS TO THE MAYORALTY

As to the mayoralty, it is not the policy of this paper to advocate the election of any person to that position. We agree with the correspondent that it is for the candidates themselves or their friends to place their views before the people and for the people to florin, shilling, sixpence, and threejudge, either from what the candidates say or from their records. It is possible that there may be several candidates in the field, either of which would undoubtedly make a good presiding officer for the city. However, we would suggest that it is about time those wishing to have a candidate in the field bring him forward in some formal manner so that people may have a chance to consider the situation
