PRETTY PLAY UNITED CHURCH

"Friendly Village" Proved to be a Good Place for an Evening's Entertainment

There was a full house last night at the United Church to witness the sketch put on by the ladies of the church entitled "Friendly Village." The play was fully enjoyed by everyone and considerable histrionic ability was shown by many of the performers.

The idea was to illustrate the customs of forty years ago when women wore bustles and long skirts and made quilts and gossiped pretty much as they do today. The outstanding character, that of Mrs. Kelly, at whose home the gatherings took place, was taken by Miss Haddock who proved herself an actress of very considerable ability while the humorous part of Mrs. Skinning, the woman who was critical of everything, was well taken by Mrs. Wilkinson. All took their parts with credit, the ability of Mrs. Jenner as a director being recognized by the presentation of a beautiful bouquet at the close of the performance.

One of the features of the sketch was the exhibition of the pictures in the family album, the pictures being tableaux of old-fashioned pictures. They were particularly well planned and arranged and to many were the outstanding feature of the entertainment.

The ladies' orchestra, let by Mrs. George Bryant, gave a number of selections which were greatly enjoyed.

Characters in the friendly village were:
Mrs. Kelly—Miss Haddock.
Mrs. De Vere—Mrs. H. Steen.

RIDS RUSSIA OF RENEGADES

Even Places Named Trotsky and Followers to Have New Nomenclature

LONDON, Dec. 15.— The Soviet government has been busy formally giving effect to the recent decision of the Communist Party to deprive Trotsky, Rakovsky, Zinovieff, Kameneff, and others of all their official positions, and appointing their successors. The president of the Russian Bank for Trade and Industry, Ksandroff, has been appointed Trotsky's successor as chairman of the Concessions Committe.

As numerous places were renamed after revolutionary leaders, orders have now been issued to find new designations for places which received the names of "Renegade Leninists." With a view, apparently, to avoid future difficulties, such towns are adopting the names of institutions and dead leaders rather than those of living Communists, "who may become renegades." Thus Zinovievsk has been renamed Dzerzhinsk, after the late chief of the Cheka, and Trotsky has been renamed Krasnoarminsk.

Although he was not included in the list of recent expulsions, the Soviet government has officially dismissed "for Oppositionism" the Commissar of Internal Affairs for the Russian Socialist Federal Soviet Republic (one of the constituent Republics of the U.S.S.R.), Bieloborodoff, who gained notoriety in 1918 as head of the Administration of Yekaterinburg when the Russian Imperial Family was murdered.

Forty hours after his suicide in Moscow the Soviet government buried Yoffe, not under the walls of the Kremlin amongst the greatest revolutionary leaders, but in the cemetery, Tchitcherin and other officals of the Commissariat of Foreign Affairs attended the funeral, but the greatest interest centred in the presence of Trotsky, Rakovsky, and other degraded Opposition leaders, who even spoke at the graveside.

M. Yoffe, who was born in 1883, first came into prominence as president of the Russian delegation in the Brest-Litovsk negotiations, which led to Russia's withdrawal from the war. He also took part in the peace negotiations between Russia and Latvia, and Russia and Poland in 1920. In April, 1918, he was appointed Soviet ambassador to Berlin, but was subsequently expelled from Germany for conducting Bolshevist propaganda. In 1922 he was appointed Soviet ambassador to Pekin, and in this capacity took part in the negotiations between Japan and the U.S.S.R. in 1923. In 1924 he was Soviet minister to Vienna. On his return from abroad he was made vice-chairman of the concessions department.

SPORT CHAT

The final scheduled basketball games of the first half of the season will be played tonight in the Exhibition Hall and there will undoubtedly be a large crowd of fans on hand to witness three interesting engagements. Basketball has been gradually increasing in favor and now there is a very substantial following watching the best quality of play the city has ever seen. In the Senior League, the Grand Terminals will make a bold attempt, it is reported, to take the honors from the leading Native Sons of Canada. In the Intermediate League, the Elevator, confident in the memory of a recent victory over the taxi firm, will meet Big Four, which has not yet got over pluming itself on inflicting last week the first defeat of the season on the league leading High School. The third game will be a Ladies' League match between Girls' Drill Team and High School—an ever popular attraction. It is understood that postponed basketball games from the first half of the season will be played at the end of the season next spring if necessary.

It is possible that skating may yet be obtainable at Alice Arm this year. Last week a number of enthusiasts diligently worked with buckets to start a sheet of ice. Their efforts were successful, thanks to the cold weather and all that now remains to be done to obtain early skating is more volunteers, which means more water. It is understood that as soon as the rink is ready Anyox hockey players and skaters will make a trip over, and perhaps several before the season is over. A little work on the rink now will perhaps form a sheet of ice that will last throughout the winter and which would create unlimited enjoyment for everyone in the mining camp during the coming quiet months.

INTER-SCHOOL HOOP SERIES

Anyox, Ocean Falls and Prince Rupert to Participate in Championship Games at End of Month

Arrangements were made at a meeting last night of the Prince Rupert Basketball Association executive for a series of inter-High School boys' championship games here on December 30 and 31 with Anyox, Ocean Falls and Prince Rupert participating.

Arrangements having already been made for the visit from Anyox, Thomas Peddie, principal of the Prince Rupert High School, reported that Ocean Falls High School team was desirous of coming at the same time on the undertaking that it pay its own expenses on the trip, Prince Rupert in turn bearing its expenses on a trip to the paper town during Easter.

The Association accepted the Ocean Falls proposition and games were set as follows for the first night, the schedule for the second night being left open in the meantime:

Ocean Falls vs. Prince Rupert.
High School girls' game.
Ocean Falls ys. Anyox.

Prior to the series here, Prince Rupert High School team will journey north to Anyox for a series of two games which will also count in the championship series. The locals will leave by the steamer Camosun on Christmas night, returning with the Anyox aggregation on the morning of December 30.
