NOT ALL ROSES IN CAMP OF THE CONSERVATIVES

New Westminster Columbian Starts Something by Suggesting Cabinet For Tolmie

The article which recently appeared in the Westminster Columbian, edited by Senator Taylor, chief of British Columbia Conservatives in the Senate, in which it was stated that Dr. Simon Fraser Tolmie, the de jure leader of the party had selected for his cabinet among others: Messrs. Foster, H. B. Thomson, H. H. Stevens, Lennie and Maitland, has acted as a political monkey wrench in the machinery of the Provincial Conservative party, and has had the effect of accentuating the difficulties which exist in that party and have existed particularly in the city of Victoria for some considerable time.

The fight which took place between the Bowser and the anti-Bowser forces prior to the Kamloops convention resulted in a wide cleavage within the party and the bitterness then engendered continues to fester and is not likely to be healed for many a long day. Messrs. Twigg, Hinchliffe and Lyons strenuously opposed Bowser, fearing that his entry into the field as a possible candidate for Victoria City would result in the displacement of one or all of these members. Hayward sat on the fence or rather altered his position according to the favorable winds, but since Kamloops he, too, has definitely aligned himself with the anti-Bowserites.

CALLING FOR BOWSER

On the other hand, the large body of Conservatives in Victoria and throughout the Province are calling for Bowser. The president and officers of the central executive are well-known to be dissatisfied with the Conservative representation in the House so far as Victoria City is concerned and in the Sir John A. Macdonald and McBride Conservative Clubs the same condition virtually obtains.

The four local representatives, Messrs. Twigg, Hayward, Hinchliffe and Lyons since the selection of Dr. Tolmie have, however, been greatly heartened by the belief that the new leader would lean towards them and advocate their support when the time for a nominating convention arrived.

Indeed each one of the four expected fully to obtain a cabinet position in the event of a Conservative victory at the next election. For a year past Mr. Lyons has been proclaiming his assurance of the position of Finance Minister, while Messrs. Twigg and Hinchliffe weer held as slated for the Attorney-Generalship and Ministry of Education respectively. Mr. Hayward was designated as Minister of Lands elect.

UPSET APPLE CART

The Westminster Columbian has, however, upset the apple cart and now the four Conservatice members are in the throes of the greatest uncertainty. Out of favor with the official organization of the party and the anti-Bowser element, and with Tolmie washing his hands of them, they are wondering what sort of people their Conservative supporters are.

The actions of Messrs. Twigg and Hayward in connection with the Royal Commission investigating the Carlow and Gauthier cases have aroused the ire of many erstwhile supporters of the Big Four and a new slate is being looked for in the City of Victoria.

It is possible that Mr. Bowser may some day soon give his answer to the petition presented to him several months ago in which he was asked to come forward again and take his place in the Parliament of British Columbia. In the various Conservative organizations there are several very determined and capable men holding official positions who are likely to place their names in nomination with a large amount of support assured.

In Vancouver Mr. Maitland is persona non grata in many of the Conservative circles, while R. S. Lennie is not considered as the best possible selection for the position of Attorney-General. H. H. Stevens, while popular among Conservatives, as the Federal member, is not keenly desired as an entrant to the Provincial field. H. B. Thomson, whose name has been mentioned by the Westminster Columbian, it is supposed would run in Victoria, but here he will be met with opposition from the four city members and also by Conservatives generally who feel that he has not been for many years an active Conservative worker, nor did he distinguish himself to any degree as a supporter of the McBride-Bowser Government.

While Dr. Tolmie has not yet decided where he is going to accept nomination, it is generally known that he is not encouraged by the prospects in Vancouver. In Victoria, the four members do not wish him in the ring. Saanich, therefore, is regarded by Conservatives as the logical riding for the new leader. Mr. Coventry offered the seat at the Kamloops convention and it is there that Dr. Tolmie will probably run.

WOMEN SUCCEED WITH POULTRY

Openings Few and Salaries Small Says Speaker at World Congress

OTTAWA, Aug. 4.—Women can and do make poultry farming profitable, Mrs. H. Maciver, who is an inspector of the board of agriculture for Scotland, told the world poultry congress. "But those who take it up must love birds sufficiently to place the welfare of their stock before their personal comfort, must have a burning energy that has no fear of work and must be observant and pay attentions to details," she warned.

"Employment for women on farms is rather disappointing to the educated woman who has trained, as the openings are few and salaries are small for experienced women," Mrs. Maciver remarked.

Women have been prominent as students and lecturers since Mr. Edward Brown started the first Poultry School in Britain in 1899, Mrs. Maciver went on. In the early years itinerant instructions in Britain was almost always given by the Dairy Instructress. Today in Scotland the emphasis is now put upon the poultry rather than the dairy instruction. There are between 30 and 40 instructresses, and their work covers every part of Scotland. In England and to a less extent in Wales, women are losing ground. In Ireland, as well as in Scotland, all poultry teaching appointments are held by women.

BEGINS SMALL

The work of the poultry instructress in Scotland is hard. After three years at college and six months on a farm, she begins at a very small salary. Advisory visits for planning farms, diagnosing disease, discovering causes of poor production or small profits, handling and selecting stock, setting up incubators, demonstrating marketing methods for eggs and poultry, and on occasion demonstrations and judging at shows take up the greater part of the fore and afternoons. Poultry instruction occupies the autumn, winter and spring months, and dairying only the summer.

Silver fox farming represents only four per cent. of the value of Canadian pelts marketed.
