MARRIED WOMEN TEACHERS DISCUSSED

Speakers Defend and Oppose Allowing Them to Continue in Profession

WINNIPEG, Oct. 4.-Whether marriage should debar a woman from the teaching profession was recently debated by the North Winnipeg branch of the Independent Labor party. Married women found their strongest defender in Marcus Hyman, a member of the school board, and their most vigorous opponent in A. W. Puttee. Marcus Hyman argued that efficiency, not the wedded state, should be the criterion of teacher employment. Most married teachers continue in the profession because of economic need.

A. W. Puttee maintained that younger unmarried teachers are in closer harmony with the pupils and understand WITH BESNER ON SAND their needs. Older teachers are out of touch with youth, he said. Married teachers should be employed only in special circumstances, he contended.

The consensus of opinion among those who joined in the discussion was that in cases where the husband earns suffi-The city council last night adopted cient to support the home, the wife an arrangement submitted by Ald. Brown should not be employed.
