READING A NEWSPAPER

A subscriber to this paper writes that people find they cannot be without this paper. Of course they cannot. No person liv- G. It is only by reading it that they can keep in touch with Jarvis McLeod. the various activities of the whole country around here.

Newspapers are made to be criticized. That is one thing they are for they help lighten the load of the mayor and council and wards. authorities generally by taking part of the criticism which otherwise might be theirs. Of course it ought to be a large paper with plenty of features and all the news of the outside world and in time it may be that. However, like Prince Rupert, we have not yet quite grown up.

Never mind, the News is a stalwart youngster and is giving a little more telegraphic news than it ever gave before. It makes every possible effort to keep pace with the progress of the district. Mrs. J. H. Meagher. It is seen everywhere and very few people, who have once taken it, like to stop.

OPPORTUNITY FOR NEW PEOPLE

New people coming to Prince Rupert sometimes try to do without the local paper. They are not at first much interested in local doings and their interest is in the great outside world. But no per- Cameron. son is really a citizen who does not read of the doings of his neighbors. By doing so they learn to cultivate a civic spirit and in real earnest become citizens of Prince Rupert.

IGNORANCE AND INNOCENCE

a star a ser a sa a sa

The old question of whether publicity is beneficial or detrimental comes up again today in connection with a letter published in this issue and signed "A Citizen."

If the suggestion of the writer of the letter is followed, it Fraser. means that like the ostrich we bury our faces in the sand, refuse to see what is going on around us and fool ourselves with the idea Graham.

that everything is lovely and we and our children are perfectly safe.

When a physician sets out to cure a festering sore, he opens son it and lets it drain. He knows that if the putrid mess is kept confined it spreads and ends in death. So with the moral sore. The cure is to open it up and let the white light of publicity play upon it and it then tends to heal itself.

This is an age of democracy and if self-government is to be a success, the people who govern must be informed. How are they to vote at elections if not educated as to the true state of affairs.

The young people of this city are not unaware of the conditions at which our correspondent is shocked. The age of ignorant innocence is giving place to education. Young people today want to know and it is well that they should know. Ignorance has wrecked thousands of lives. Derry

Contemplation of the good and the beautiful in life tends to create goodness and beauty but it does not educate a democracy in P: the art of self-government. If the people are to have a say as to the conduct of affairs they must know exactly what is going on in the community and how it is being done. If there is evil they must know it so that they may be in a position to change it.

Publicity in the community has a similar effect to sunshine and fresh air. It aids in expelling corrupting influences.
