DAILY EDITION.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT OF GREAT MOMENT.

Stewart people have always claimed that their port was the most advantageous on the Pacific Coast as an outlet for the vast Groundhog and Peace River areas. Today's despatches indicate that there is a move on foot to open that great hinterland by that route. Several ports on the coast, including Prince Rupert and Vancouver, Murray, furnishes this piquant actress have laid claims to being made such an outlet. Both, however, with the best role of her career, and would, with somewhat mixed feelings, be gratified to see Stewart selected as the point of entry. It would probably make a big port she is so justly famous. John Gilbert of Stewart and besides, the laying open of the country beyond who co-stars in this picture with Miss would be of inestimable value to the coast generally.

It is to be noted that here again American capital is taking a him still further to the front as a popuhand on an important project in Canada. While the undertaking will be of such vast importance to the province and Canada as a whole, the thought stands out that here, as well as in many other projects of the land, British or Canadian capital and enterprize might well have been employed.

POT CALLING THE KETTLE BLACK.

Col. Peck says, and we do not intend at this time to question his word, that the Conservative party is not tangled up with the liquor interests, that the party is fearless in this connection. If the customs commission has brought out that the liquor firms have Leon, Leo Stein and Franz Lehar as contributed to the Liberal campaign funds, it has also brought out produced by Henry W. Savage. that it has aided the Conservative funds. No one will question that such contributions have been made to both parties. The question THRILLS ABOUND IN is whether there have been any undertakings on the part of either party in connection with the receipt of the contributions. So far there has been no evidence on this point. It would seem to the impartial observer that, if the Conservative party, as its spokesman declares, has made no undertakings, it is quite possible neither has the Liberal. If on the other hand, any undertakings were entered surrounded by an excellent cast and into on behalf of the Liberals, the Conservative also would have supplied with one of the most thrilling made similar agreements, else it would have received no money. In stories of the West ever brought to the the meantime, it would seem rather vain for the Conservatives to silver sheet, Tom Mix, as Jeff Boyden, blacken the name of the Liberals in this regard or, vice versa, the gives a remarkably fine performance in Liberals condemn the Censervatives. It appears too much like the "Hard Boiled," Fox Films version of pot calling the kettle black.

MORAL MAN AND NATURAL ORDER.

Killing is the most criminal act recognized by human laws, yet so-called nature does once to every being that lives! And too often after protracted tortures such as only the most fiendish monsters whom we read of ever purposely inflicted on their living fellow creatrues.

Nature impales men breaks them as if on the wheel, casts them to be devoured by wild beasts, burns them to death, crushes them with rocks and stones, starves them with the pangs of hunger, which, if successful, would bring to freezes them with perishing cold, poisons them by the slow venom of her malarious exhalations, and has hundreds of hideous deaths sirable jewels in the safe at the fain reserve, such as the ingenious cruelty of a Catholic or Protestant Inquisitor never surpassed.

All this nature does with the most supercilious disregard both with "Spec" O'Donnell and a homely of mercy and justice, emptying her shafts of death upon the best and little dog, enlist the interest of the noblest indifferently with the meanest and worst-upon those who beautiful Marjorie Gregg, engineer are engaged in the highest and worthiest enterprises, and often as startling rescue, and land the culprits the direct consequence of the noblest acts and it might almost be behind bars, develop into a Western reimagined as a punishment for them.

She mows down those on whose existence hangs the well-being tion. of a whole people with as little compunction as those whose death |is a relief to themselves. Even when nature does not intend to LOVE TANGLE OPENS kill she inflicts the same tortures in apparent wantonness.

In the clumsy provision which she has made for that perpetual renewal of life, rendered necessary by the prompt terrorization she puts to it in every individual case, no human being ever comes into the world but another human being is literally stretched on the rack for hours or for days, not infrequently issuing in death.

Next to taking life (equal to it, according to high authority) is taking the means by which we live; and nature does this, too, on the largest scale, and with the most callous indifference. A single hurricane in the West Indies destroys the hopes of a season, flight of locusts or a flood desolates a district, a trifling chemical charm. change in an edible root starves a million of people.

SCREEN VERSION OF FAMOUS STAGE PLAY

Mae Murray is Star in "Merry Widow" Being Shown Here Tonight by Special Request

"The Herry Widow" is coming to the Monday, Jan. 24, 1927 Westholme Theatre tonight by special request. It presents one of the most significant combinations effected for the screen. It unfolds a picturesque romance of a gallant prince and a popular American dancer in a small continental kingdom, and in the hands of Erich von Stroheim, suited to stage such a thing, the production is said to fulfill all that which was expected of it. The title role, entrusted to Mae the charm, vivacity and talent for which Murray gives a performance that brings lar idol. Von Stroheim has a recognized genius for selecting types that are remarkably fine actors, and then inspires them to do the best work of their careers. The result is that each character stands out like a rare intaglio. The cast includes Roy D'Arcy, Tully Marshall, George Fawsett, Dale Fuller, Josephine Crowell., Estelle Clark, Don Ryan, Hughie Mack, Edward Connelly, George Nichols and Lon Poff.
