ANOTHER CIVIC

ELECTION IS OVER.

Another civic election is over and once again we extend our congratulations to the winners of the contest. Perhaps, however, it would be more fitting this time if they were extended to the losers. problem who are frank about the mat-They are to be sincerely commended for having risen out of the mire number of causes including tariff or of general antipathy surrounding the affairs of the city at this time by offering themselves to serve a public that is more often in- high freight rates, lack of inland water clined to be critical that grateful. It is to be hoped that next year there will be more men or women willing to come forward even if the failure to enforce the anti-trust it be at risk of defeat. The defeated ones, after all, are perhaps the luckiest and they may be consoled with the knowledge that they, with the winners, formed the small group that was interested in and willing to take its responsibility in connection with municipal af- and resulting high taxes, high interest

The winners are men of standing in their various walks of life in the city and each have the ability to properly and sensibly conduct the affairs of the city. To start with, they have been given a clear mandate on two of the most important matters that will require their attention.

POLICE QUESTION WAS BIG ISSUE.

It is evident that the police question entered more strongly into help, would not reach to the root the contest than might have been generally anticipated. The pro- the difficulties. vincial police not only was given a good majority in the plebiscite. itself but four aldermen were elected all of whom are at least mildly in favor of the system while the two candidates who had most energetically opposed it came at the bottom of the poll. In view of the way things have gone, Mayor Newton, himself opposed to the provincial police, might have been beaten had he had an opposing among other things, drained the farms driving away in no pleasant mood. Sally candidate on the issue. The mayor can, undoubtedly, read "the of skilled agricultural labor, or tended May helps rescue the boy, takes him handwriting on the wall."

Comments on the result of the election would hardly be complete without congratulating Sergeant Hannah and his staff of officers on the city detachment of the provincial police. Their good record of the past seven months was appreciatively acknowledged by the electorate. They have had an expression of opinion and a mandate to carry on. Prince Rupert waived the principle that might be involved in the matter and spoke in no indecisive manner for a "clean" town.

TIME TO MAKE RESOLUTIONS.

We are told that this is the appointed time for making good resolutions. And we suppose no one ever inflicted an injury upon himself or upon his neighbor by resolving to do something that might and Senate and might even send be beneficial to himself or to his neighbor; but, as a rule, we do not ; set much store by resolutions. It is not inconvelvable that in the end It is not yet too late to do that.

MAD BECAUSE HE CAN'T KICK.

We always had a kind of a sneaking impression that the main object in life of the Tories, in latter days at least, was to criticize but it took our inprudent but energetic Victoria friend, Despard ("Desperate") Twigg to come right out and complain because there was nothing for him to criticize. It wasn't a very bright idea for him to say that but, perhaps, he spoke before he thought. Premier John must have also overlooked a bet for he dearly loves a fight and surely would not have intentionally let anything go by that would in the city as the guest of her sister, have started one.
