PRICE OF TEA AND PEACHES GOING HIGHER

McIntosh Red Apples Arrive in Town and Italian Prunes Due Next Week or so

Tea prices continue steady with every prospect of an early advance. Calcutta cables report a decrease in the production of Indian Teas up to the end of July of 12 million pounds as compared with the same period last year. If the Calcutta tea market maintains the advances recorded since that market opened on June 5, there undoubtedly will be an advance in every line of package teas on the market.

McIntosh Red apples have arrived. The initial shipment while a trifle green and lacking usual color, tastes as of old and before long many car loads will be rolling to Rupert. The opening price is $4.25 per box.

PRESERVING PEACHES
The bulk of the movement of preserving peaches is now on. Prices this season are considerably higher than last and it looks like it would be a mistake to wait for lower prices as growers all predict advances as the season progresses. Most stores are quoting $2 per case.

Italian Prunes are due within a week or so. Opening prices have not been named but it is expected that the price on prunes as on other stone fruit will be higher than last year.

FOR PICKLING
Pickling lines are getting more plentiful now. Green tomatoes, large pickling cucumbers, green peppers, pickling onions, cauliflower, celery, red cabbage, etc. are now on the market. Prices are practically the same as last year. Crab apples are also coming in pear boxes averaging 35 lbs. net weight. The retail price is 3 lbs for 25c; per case $2.25.

E. W. GILLETT CO. LTD. TORONTO, CAN.

Canada Dry Pale Ginger Ale, manufactured by J. J. McLaughlin, Ltd., of Toronto and Edmonton has literally swept this market. This line is to be found in the very smallest stores and its popularity with the average grocer in Northern British Columbia is due to the steady all year round demand for this popular beverage. Packed in small cartons containing one dozen, the majority of grocers find the demand for case lots increasing steadily.

Furnishings of Soviet Commissioners Eagerly Bought by Canadians

MONTREAL, Sept. 2. — When the Soviet Commissioners left Canada so suddenly a short time ago they hastily disposed of the Kazak rugs, which they brought from the Caucasus, at emergency prices, and many of these "Idylls of the Orient" are now delighting owners who never expected to own such treasures. A number of them are known to be one hundred years old.
