CO-OPERATION NEEDED IN TAX COLLECTION

At this season of the year we are reminded that there is another income tax form to fill out and another arithmetical puzzle to solve before we can hand a check to the tax collector and feel that we are free from his depredations for another year.

We all have to pay taxes. That is right and just. The cost of carrying on the affairs of the country must be met and the people who live in the country and enjoy its privileges are the ones who must pay. What the taxpayers should demand is that the taxes be kept as low as possible and that the collection method be easy and efficient.

A politician is a person who can hurl charges at his opponents without knowing whether they are true or not.

PRESENT SYSTEM NOT EFFICIENT

The present system of collecting the income tax is not efficient. The different forms have to be filled out, one for the province and another for the Dominion. Two different tax collectors have to be satisfied and time has to be taken to collate the data asked for.

If the Dominion and provincial forms were similar, there would be no particular objection but they are not. There should be either similar forms or perhaps only one form with one collector making the collection for both government. The forms cost money and the time devoted to filling them in is also an expense. If we must pay taxes, we should demand from our government that they make it as easy as possible and not try to burden us with unnecessary expense and labor.

Vancouver grain shipments are down nineteen million bushels this season and Prince Rupert is up nearly six millions. But we must not crow yet. We may do better next year.

BONDS SOLD WELL IN NEW YORK

The selling of a 15 million dollar Canadian National Railways bond issue in New York in two hours was something of a record in Canadian finance. It is an indication that the finances of Canada are sound and that the "whisper of death" calamity howlers of a few years ago have been shown to be nothing but false prophets.

Canada is prosperous and the C.N. Railway is prosperous and it is to be hoped it will continue to prosper and give the service that the people of Canada require. Much of the credit of this will go to Sir Henry Thornton and our own railway director, Fred Dawson, should get at least a modicum of praise.

Cheer up people, the worst is yet to come. Next year or the year after there may be an election.

QUIET WORK BUT EFFICIENT

Fred Dawson is out of town and the writer of this article has not seen him for months so this is perhaps a good opportunity to mention the quiet and efficient work being done by the local director of the Canadian National Railways. He gives a great deal of time in making trips to Montreal for meetings of the board and frequently he has to rush off at an hour's notice in answer to a summons from the president to give his valuable advice on matters in which this part of the country is directly interested. Report says that he is constantly pressing for things which would benefit the west and for all this he gets very little pay and hardly any thanks from the people who benefit.

In spite of a little cloud of pessimism that often hangs over Prince Rupert, it is noticed that the people in the north enjoy life just as much as do those who swelter in the heat of the south.

There are a lot of fine little cities on the coast but Prince Rupert has them all beaten a mile in things that really count.

RIN-TIN-TIN TRIUMPHS IN "HILLS OF KENTUCKY"

Love Story of Two Dogs Coming to Westholme Theatre Tonight

The latest Rin-Tin-Tin picture, "Hills of Kentucky," which comes to the Westholme Theatre tonight and Tuesday, deals with a Blue Glass legend of a dog known as the Grey Ghost.

Back in the days when starvation was ravaging the mountain settlements, men were forced to live like animals. They had no food for their beasts. Their dogs they cast from them, to fight or die.

When the dog known as the Grey Ghost was cast out, he left behind him a little boy, who had been his constant companion. The boy died of grief and starvation. But the Grey Ghost did not die. He gathered together the other dog exiles and they ran as a lean wolf-pack, terrorizing the countryside.

Some time after, when the mountaineers' condition was improving, a school teacher arrived in the mountain hamlet with her little crippled brother. Down by the stream where the boy was fishing came the Grey Ghost.

The little boy did not know enough of the countryside legend to run at sight of the animal, who had eluded the expert hunters of the territory. To the little boy, the Grey Ghost was just a dog, to be made friends with.

The story proper is the story of these two, the boy and the dog. It is a story crammed with melodramatic surprises, and has generally been accepted as the most powerful vehicle yet devised for Rin-Tin-Tin's thrilling talents.

With this tale is interwoven the romance of the school teacher, played by Dorothy Dwan, with two brothers, played by Jason Robards and Tom Sant- schi. Mr. Robards is the actor from the Broadway stage who scored so heavily as leading man for Dolores Costello in "The Third Degree."

Additional interest for dog lovers is lent to this production as Nanette, Rin-Tin-Tin's mate, appears for the first time in a role of powerful importance. The love story of these two dogs makes beautiful and exciting screen material.

PLAYERS CLUB PUTS ON ANOTHER COMEDY

"Nothing But the Truth" Promises to Go Over Big on Wednesday Evening

The dress rehearsal of the Prince Rupert Players' Club performance of "Nothing But the Truth" took place yesterday and the unanimous verdict of those who were present was that the club will not only maintain, but will enhance, its reputation when the performance proper takes place on Wednesday night at the Westholme Theatre. There has been a strong seat sale with the result that, by this time, few if any good seats are left at the booking office.

The plot of "Nothing But the Truth" hinges around the possibility of telling the absolute truth for twenty-four hours. The hero of the play, Robert Bennett, makes a bet on his ability to perform the feat. The resulting incidents with his business partners, his friends and his fiancée are the setting for a comedy of hilarious laughter, more details of which it would be unfair to reveal at this time.

The principal part, that of Robert Bennett, is played by Jimmie Palmer who bids fair to excel the success he attained in "Mrs. Temple's Telegram." The following is a capable cast:

Robert Bennett J. Palmer
E. M. Ralston Alex A. Connon
Dick Donnelly George Hartlin
Clarence Van Dusen Dave Balfour
Bishop Doran Arthur L. Sharpe
Gwendolyn Ralston Miss Margaret Palmer
Mrs. E. M. Ralston Miss Dorothy Gillingham
Ethel Clark Miss Etanda Marsh
Mable Jackson Miss Josephine Charlebois
Sable Jackson Miss M. McGuire
Martha Miss Lillian Worsfold

The director is A. A. Connon who is being assisted in this production by H. F. Glassey. George Mitchell is business and stage manager. Miss Violet Cameron is acting as prompter while R. W. Cameron is assisting with the clock which plays an important part in the last act. The costuming is in the capable hands of Mrs. David Thomson assisted by Miss Etanda Marsh.

The furniture is being supplied by Barrie's Home Furnishings. Bert Walters will act as cashier with the following ladies as ushers: Miss Caroline Mitchell, Miss E. MacKay, Miss Nora Rivett, Miss M. Shiel, Miss Frances Cross and Miss Lillian Cross.

DOUG. MACLEAN STARS IN MARINE COMEDY

Shows What Happens When Young Man Makes up His Mind to Get Something

Douglas MacLean, the young man who went AWOL in "Twenty-three and a Half Hours Leave," authored in "Seven Keys to Baldpate," fathered in "That's My Baby" and hunted cats in "Hold That Lion," arrives at the Westholme Theatre Thursday night in a snappy story of the United States Marine Corps, "Let It Rain."

As "Let-It-Rain" Riley, Doug. shows what happens when a young man makes up his mind to accomplish something. A pretty young woman comes aboard- ship and the marine recognizes her as

How he does it and how she helps him by letting him know of a proposed mail robbery provide material for lots of laughs. In the course of the film, Doug becomes embroiled with a gang of bandits—on a run-away mail coach. Does he get out alive? Well, you'll have to see the picture to find out.

Winsome Shirley Mason, heroine of "Desert Gold" and "Kosher Kitty Kelly," is the girl. Wade Boteler, who has appeared in MacLean's most recent comedies, enacts Doug's sworn enemy, Kelly, the go. Frank Campeau, character actor and a man who needs no introduction, is the marine commander. James Mason, Lee Shumway, Lincoln Stedman and Jimmy Bradbury complete the cast.

HAROLD LLOYD AT HIS MERRY BEST IN "FOR HEAVEN'S SAKE"

Flashing on the heels of his college comedy classic, "The Freshman," comes another hilarious Harold Lloyd triumph, bearing the somewhat startling though quite appropriate title of "For Heaven's Sake!" which is coming to the Westholme Theatre as this week-end's feature.

The irrepressible and bespectacled comedian is a millionaire clubman and starts out to uplift the hardboiled denizens in the slum section of his city, succeeding in stirring up no end of excitement, fun, galore, thrills aplenty and a choice assortment of long, loud, lingering laughs.

There is an abundance of sentiment and pathos that give the story an appealing flavor and serve to emphasize the funny gags and sparkling foolery.

As in "The Freshman," there is a worth-while idea underlying the rollicking humor—in this instance, the wholesome thought that happiness is to be found in helping others. Harold's rib-tickling trials and tribulations arise from the fact that the toughs and gangsters resent his missionary efforts. The methods he uses in winning them over are as ingenious as they are mirth-provoking.

The role is one made to order for Lloyd, and he plays it with a carefree zest and a chipper self-confidence that is quite convincing and altogether delightful. Jobyna Ralston, whose demure charm and winsome loveliness was such an asset to "The Freshman," is again his leading lady. The others in the large and capable supporting cast include such experienced players as Noah Young, James Mason and Paul Wiegell. The picture has been generously embroidered with a wealth of local color, and the slum atmosphere, around which most of the action centers, has been reproduced with fidelity and realism.

"Harmless to Everything Except Dirt"

"When I think of those who, out of not knowing, still do not use LUX, I could shout its merits from the housetops. For we have found LUX effective and economical and harmless to everything but dirt."

For cleaning surfaces of wood, metal or glass, and for washing every kind of fabric, from coarsest to finest - the result is the same - it is the perfect cleanser.

And, its innumerable uses! Dad and the boys use it in the bath for shampooing... We use it for bathing the Pomeranian... I could write a book on the subject - I'll never forget the day our grocer recommended LUX."
