TITLED HURDLING STAR

British Athletes but "Burn Out."

NEW YORK, May 26.-United States college athletes take their competition nuch more seriously" than British rivals, in the view of Lord Burghley, titled hurdling star and captain of the Cambridge Univerteam that won laurels in the Penn relay carnival.

"Your fellows go at their games much more intensely than we do," he said, "perhaps that accounts for the fact that so many of your American college stars 'burn out' after brief competitize careers," hewent on. "They put all they have in three or four years of keen action. In England we take track and field sports less serliously. We do not train so sharply, either. One of my leading rivals in the hurdles, for instance, is a man of 32, getting better at an age when nearly all of your Americans have retired from competition."

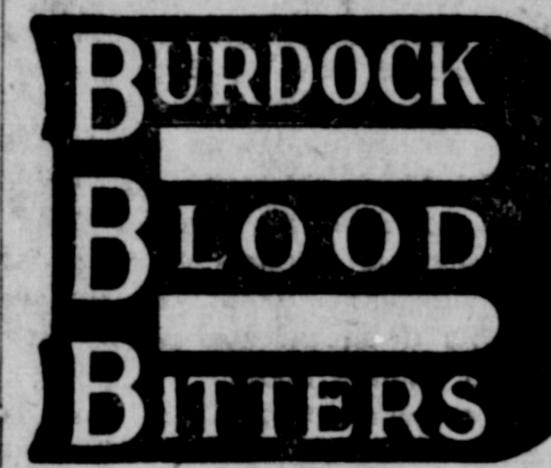

Lord Burghley, an affable youth of 21, has improved steadily as a timber topper in the past three years of competition here and abroad. He counts on being a contender for Olympic honors at Amsterdam next year.

POSSIBLE CAPTAIN Despite his youth, Lord Burghley has been mentioned as possible captain f the British Olympic team but the Cambridge star feels this honor should go to Douglas Lowe, famous half-miler and Olympic 800-meter titleholder.

England's other two Olympic champions-Harold Abrahams in the 100 meters and Eric Liddell in the 400 meter run-may not defend their titles next year in Holland, Lord Burghley revealed. Abrahams, a lawyer, suffered a severe tendon injury after winning the "100" at Paris and probably is out of competition for good. Liddell. the little Scotsman who gained his

TELLING HOW EDMONTON GIRLS WON THAT BIG BASKETBALL GAME ON SATURDAY

Five thousand decidedly-excited fans saw the Edmonton Commercial Grads stage one of their customary cleanups at the Arena on Saturday night—and approved, says the Edmonton Journal. can now eat most any kind of food and gold squad for the past several years has been that they have disposed of all their opponents with too much ease to make things interesting, but despite the fact that they knocked over the Cleveland Newman-Sterns by a 25-10 count on Saturday the crowd went away well satisfied and convinced that the final game on Tuesday night would be well worth coming back for.

The scene on Saturday brought back vivid memories of other days, especially those of the first visit of the Ohio girls in 1923 when it was suggested by the Grads, by a very small margin, that they remove the "World's Champs" lettering from their uniforms. The match was scarcely under way when Wagemaker worked in under the hoope and gave the Newman-Sterns the only lead they enjoyed during the contest. Pandemonium broke loose when the Grads drew up even and was renewed when MacBurney's startling shot put the locals ahead.
