GRAND OLD WHITE

HEADED LEADER.

DAILY EDITION.

Premier John Oliver is an honest man. That statement of fact imparts no now information to the people of British Columbia, but it has been re-impressed upon them by the dishonest action of the members of the Conservative opposition in the provincial parliament more, exceedingly hollow. during the last ten days, says the North Vancouver Review.

While the walls of the House echoed and re-echoed to "my honor" and "honorable men" until the public feels like a small boy with an overdose of pink-centred chocolate creams, the staunch, alderman as Alderman Black-Linsey white-topped figure of the premier has stood like a monument facing and Alderman Linsey-Black alternately. a howling mob, demanding fairness, honesty, calm consideration The city clerk could keep a careful and, most important of all in the eyes of those who make the pre- check of the mode of address on the sent Victoria meeting possible, a cessation of that rank atmosphere margin of the minute book and warn MAJOR GENERAL J. NO FINER SPEECH EVER MADE IN HOUSE.

No finer speech was ever made in the British Columbia Legis- to establish a rule that whenever Black parade, the General presented lature than was made by Premier Oliver last Monday no sword spoke to a motion Linsey should cast Colonial Auxiliary Forces Officers' swallower in a travelling carnival ever downed his pointed weapon in the vote, and vice-versa. Naturally this Decoration to Hon. Lieut. Colonel Archbetter fashion than was the opposition forced to eat its words by would tend to cut down the speeches deacon Rix. V.D., for 20 years service the first minister of the province.

"Don't insinuate, don't back-bite, don't deal in generalities." the premier said in effect when speaking of the Conservative move to force a campaign fund investigation.

What could be fairer than the premier's request that if the benefit to Prince Rupert as a whole. Conservatives are sincere in their demand for an investigation of political campaign funds they should make charges against the government, any member of the House or any government official? If such charges are made, the premier asserted, an investiga-

That the opposition had been dishonest with the public and with itself was proved when no charges were made in reply to the premier's challenge, and there have since been no indications that such charges will be made.

Hours before the premier turned aside the onslaught of the members at the speaker's left, it was apparent to every thinking man that the opposition was not sincere.

tion will follow immediately.

There is no good reason why passage of a motion to investigate gaiety to the council meetings which campaign funds should in itself cause the downfall of the ministry. Yet that is precisely what the motion as framed by the Conservatives as an amendment to the address in reply to the speech of public life after a while. from the throne, which had been in progress for two weeks, would have done had it passed instead of going down to defeat.

Had the opposition been sincere it would have waited until after the conclusion of the debate and then have moved for the in- salary as they would like and this, divestigation and not for a vote of want of confidence in the govern-

Premier Oliver is not given to word wastage. He intimated Black and Linsey might, if they wished. that an investigation may yet come and that it may surprise "my friends opposite."

His friends opposite have been served with surprise enough; they need but little more.

ALDERMANIC SITUATION HERE SUB- MUCH MORE WAS BROUGHT INTO JECT OF SALLIES OF P. W. LUCE IN VANCOUVER PROVINCE

P. W. Luce, who writes the column known as "The Odd Angle" in the Vancouver Province takes the aldermanic de here as the subject for the follow ng screed:

A recount of the ballots cast in the recent election at Prince Rupert shows that James Black and P. H. Linse! a tie vote in the aldermanic contest. As a result, a by-election is to be held to decide which of these gentlemen is to enjoy the dignities and empluments of aldermanship.

lamentable lack of originality and imagination that ill-befits a port with such a hectic history as Kaien Island. The popularity of Messra. Black and Linsey is so very evenly divided that the tie vote is quite likely to be repeated at the by-election, and the council will be no nearer getting full than is the case at this moment. The vacant chair will still be there, and the whole year may be spent in a series of contests with Mr. Black representing the irresistible force and Mr. Linsey the immovable

It would be far better to let these two doughty opponents share the one seat. The council should give them an extra large desk and a chair made to measure, establish a few common sense rules for the Siamese twins aldermen. and then proceed with the first orde

It is true that this two-in-one scheme has never been tried, but that is one of the points in its favor. Two heads are better than one, especially where aldermen are concerned, even when they eaded." The word "alder-man." every schoolboy knows, is derived from "alder." which is one of the softest woods in this province, though there are some authorities who claim it has some connection with "elder." a tree which is even softer than alder and, further-

The logical thing, therefore, would be In the presence of the troops ONE HALF OF DOUBLEHEADER

If by chance only one-half of the louble-header combination showed up at a council meeting, then Demi-Alderman Black (or Linsey) could talk but not vote, or vote but not talk, depending on the ruling of the chair, subject, of course, to the usual appeal to the ma-

There might be occasions, presumably when the Siamese twins aldermen would find themselves involved in minor difficulties and would have to go into conference with themselves in the back alley to decide certain points too technical for the city clerk to rule upon. Such incidents would add a spice of they sorely lack at present, and would in no way detract from the amenities

The city charter does not permit the paying of a double indemnity for double service, unfortunately. Prince vided between two, is scarcely worth carrying to the savings bank. Messrs. split the cheque, but, as they are good sports, they would most likely shake dice for the lot. Provided, of course, that shaking dice is not illegal in the good city of Prince Rupert.

UNANSWERED QUESTION

By the end of the year, working thus arm-in-arm for the good of the community, the tied aldermen would get to know each other very well indeed. They might even fall in love with each other, though this seems unlikely, judging by the way they have been glaring at each other since the tie vote was announced. Whatever their feelings, it is more than probable that the voters would have watched their work so closely throughout the year that at the next election Messrs. Black and Linsey would discover huge majority electing them-but whether electing them to return to the council or to stay at home is a question which it is better to leave unanswered.

DOMINION THAN WAS SENT OUT

OTTAWA, Feb. 3 .- Canada's total importation of coal during the calendar year of 1926 was 17,520,000 tons, and her total exportation was about 900,000 tons Of the total of imports 17,120,-600 tons came from the United States. and the remaining 400,000 tons from Great Britain, Germany and the Netherlands. The Dominion's production for 1926 was 16,105,000 tons, showing that Canada produces about one-half of her coal requirement.

The total amount of coal available for consumption in the Dominion during 1926, according to the latest compilation This is most regrettable. It shows a of the Bureau of Statistics, was 32,725,-000 tons, divided as follows: Soft coal, 24,960,000 tons; hard coal, 4,020,000 tons; lignite, 3,344,000 tons, and sub-bituminous coal, 401,000 tons. Coal imports into Canada last year from the United States consisted of 13,-000,000 tons of soft coal, and 4,120,000 tons of hard, Ontario's part of the imports for last year were estimated at about 12,000,000 tons of hard and soft coal, and Quabec's total at about 3,000,-000 tons of all grades of hard and soft

Ontario imported 9,880,000 tons of soft coal from the United States and Quebec brought in 1,700,000 tons of that variety: Ontario imported 2,100,000 tons of hard coal from the United States, and Quebec. 1.000.000 tons, and Quebec brought in, in addition, 250,000 tons of soft coal from Great Britain, the Netherlands and Germany. While most of the totals given above respecting Ontario imports relate only to central or older Ontario, there was a certain amount brought in at the head of the lakes, which bring Ontario's aggregate importation up to the 12,000,000 mark.

Final production figures for the year 1926 are now available. The 16,105,000 tons produced in Canada are distributed as follows: Nova Scotia, 0,810,000 tons: Alberta, 6,117,000 tons; British Columbia. 2.634,000 tons: Saskatchewan, 376,-000 tons; New Brunswick, 168,000 tons
