Does It Pay?

to wash at home

Many thousands of women are standing at the family washtubs every Monday morning under the impression that they are saving money by doing their own washing. In the course of their studies in household economy in an eastern university, four of the students decided to make a test of this for themselves.

They visited a home consisting of five persons, the parents and three small children, and actually did the weekly family wash, accomplishing the work complete in three hours, using a $150 electric washing machine.

Being students of economic costs, they were careful to accumulate cost data and this is what the wash cost without any labor charge:

Deterioration of machine ...... 50c Electric current ...... 10c Water ..... 05c Fuel ...... 15c Soap (actual cost) ..... 10c Washing Powder ..... 05c Blueing ..... 02c

The same washing done at the laundry would cost $1.00 Would you wash all day for three cents? The answer is obvious. Send it to the
