NEW TURKISH CAPITAL GROWS

Angora Developing Rapidly as Centre of Government of Republic

ANGORA, Turkey, July 27.—The new Turkish capital here is springing up with great rapidity, and Angora is now the most modern and up-to-date city in Turkey.

A water system for 120,000 inhabitants has been installed, gangs working on it day and night. Since March five furlongs of the four-mile "Grand Boulevard Ghazi" have been built. It runs toward Tbankaya, where the residences of the president and ministers, embassies and legations are. It is a double highway 40 yards wide with trees planted down the centre, and even on Fridays, the Mohammedan Sabbath, work is pushed along it.

QUARTER MILLION TREES
 A quarter of a million trees have been planted to provide the new districts with shade from the fierce summer sun and the recurrent dust storms. Nearly 1,000 residential villas, each with its own square of ground, have been built, partly by the prefecture and partly by private persons. Huge buildings to house the Agricultural Bank, the Ottoman Bank, the Ministries of Justice and Health and the Customs Direction are almost ready to be handed over.

Cheap and continuous one-deck motor omnibus services link up all the parts of the new town. The hotels are improving fast and even a number of night cabarets have opened. An automatic telephone system has been installed, and a 3,000 kilowatt electric light station is being erected to augment the present supply. A gas concession has been granted.

There is a continual influx of representatives of foreign business groups. About $15,000,000 is to be spent on a ten-year town planning program. The improvements now being made are:

CURB BRITISH MONEY LENDERS

Legal Rate of Interest to be Defined and Other Restrictions on Restraints

LONDON, July 27.—The Money-lenders Bill which has passed the House of Commons and is now before the House of Lords, is practically certain of a safe passage to the Statute Book. The Bill is expected to come into force next New Year's Day. Its provisions are:

- (1) Every moneylender must take out an annual license costing £15, in respect of each of his offices; (2) Money-lender's circulars are declared illegal, unless asked for; (3) Moneylenders may not employ canvassers (touts) or agents;
- (5) Memoranda of contracts must be signed by borrowers and copies supplied to borrowers within seven days; (6) Contracts must show the date of the loan and the interest per cent. per annum; (7) Compound interest, and increase in the rate of interest for default, are prohibited; (8) Moneylenders must supply on the borrower's demand at any time a record of the state of any loan.

(9) Interest is limited to 48 per cent. per annum, unless proof can be produced that higher interest is not "harsh and unconscionable." (10) Preliminary charges are forbidden, and there is a general limit of twelve months from the date of default to action by moneylenders; (11) The measure applies (with certain modifications) to Scotland, but not to Northern Ireland.

CRUDE CIRCULAR
 During the discussion of amendments Campbell Stephen, Labor member for the Camlachie Division of Glasgow, caused much amusement by reading the following circular recently sent by a moneylender to one of his constituents who had just become a mother:

"I was pleased to see through the Press of the safe arrival of your little son, and trust most sincerely you are both making satisfactory progress. How relieved you must be to feel that the little might (sic) is a boy, and that he is strong and well. Please accept my heartfelt congratulations and good wishes. At a time when you are rejoicing over the arrival you may also be pleased to know that if you are ever in financial difficulties I am prepared to grant any sum from £3 upwards to you and your little son."

CONSERVATIVE SPEAKER WOULD CLUB QUEBEC

Leader Should be Warm Bird Not a Cold Clammy Fish

TORONTO, July 27.—"The prosperity as intimated by the party now in power in Canada is a myth," declared Dave Spence, M.P., last night at a meeting of the Ward 6 Conservative Association. "We overflow with empty houses and idle factories. We may be prosperous to a degree, but we are not as prosperous as we should be, as prosperous as we would be were the Conservative party in power at this time." Developing this statement, the speaker outlined what should be done to develop Canada and to put the Conservative party in power.

Quebec, he stated, should be "clubbed on the head, for it will never agree with the policy of Conservatism." There should be no more pandering to Quebec. The St. Lawrence waterway should be developed, and Canadian wheat should be shipped to the Old Country from the Maritime Provinces all the year round—not from Quebec and Montreal in the summer.

Joseph Harris, M.P., urged the people to see that the leader chosen for the party in October be "a nice warm bird, not a cold, clammy fish," on the ground that a bird is pleasanter to meet than a fish, and therefore able to get more votes. Speaking of Quebec, he took exception to the statement that a "club should be used." "Rather let us teach the masses there what the intelligent people of the province already know—that the policy of the Conservative party is in their best interests."

Canada produces ninety per cent. of the world's requirements for nickel and eighty-five per cent. of the asbestos, fifty-five per cent. of the cobalt and nine per cent. of the gold.
