Hydro-Electric Head Recently Invested a Hundred Thousand

With Enthusiasm Undampened by Former Rebuff General Brutinel, Once Well Known Here, is Back Again

"The port of Prince Rupert has been suffering only a temporary set-back. Its natural advantages are bound to yet give it the place in the sun which was originally designed for it but the materialization of which, for a number of reasons, has been but delayed." Such is the opinion of General Raymond Brutinel, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., banker of Paris, France, and a man who was prominently identified York Yankees, long since assured of with the early development of this city, who is revisiting here today. TUNNEY'S EYE DANGER

Master Boxer Relies on Footwork and is Even More Confident Than Last Year

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Betting on tonight's heavyweight battle between Tunney and Dempsey is largely on the basis of even money and take your pick. Odds on a knockout are favored by was refused a franchise by vote of the Dempsey who is conceded to be the people and the company and its head hardest puncher but a majority of newspaper experts give the choice to Tunney. Dempsey is declared to be close to the savage aggressive fighting machine of some extent soothed the recollections the days when he knocked out Willard, Carpentier and Firpo.

Tunney, the master boxer, is pronounced to be more skilful, more confident, better equipped to defend the crown, despite his year of idleness, than when he beat Dempsey. Dempsey's hope is built on rushing with the give and take fury of attack. The champion's reliance is on his foot-

Tunney's right eye, which was injured in training and which to outward appearances is healed, may be the subject of renewed and fateful damage. The weather today is cloudy and coo

Heroic Efforts of Sister Lea at Beauval, Saskatchewan, in Giving Life for the Boys

BEAUVAL, Sask., September 22 .- Through the grief overshadowing the death of 19 boys and a nun in the fire which destroyed the Catholic mission at Beauval emerges glowing praise of the efforts of Sister Lea, who sacrificed her life in an attempt to save the trapped boys.

Sister Lea, ascertaining that all the girls had escaped, rushed into the burning building, attracted by the screams of the boys in the upper storey of the dormitory, whose escape was cut off by the flames. She vanished in a cloud of smoke and died shouting encouragement to the inmates.

Five minutes after the alarm was given the building was a roaring furnace. The fire is thought to have broke out around the heating system.

Eastern Speakers at Banquet Emphasize Movement Toward Elimination of East and West

That there had been a twofold outcome of the great convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce; first a sense of the manner in which seeming difficulties could be overcome when they got together and put their feet under the same table, and second the earnest desire of the east to give proper recognition to the western viewpoint and to eliminate differences between east and west. A new movement to knit the Dominion into one great unit had been set in motion. This sentiment was expressed by George Barr, K.C., of Regina, and echoed by the other speakers at the banquet given them last evening in Moose Hall with W. O.* Fulton, president of the Board of Trade, presiding, and a large gathering of the foremost citizens, male and female in ittendance. There were addresses from J. C. Brady, M.P., and Mr. Fulton and replies from Mrs. McKeen of Halifax, Mr. Barr, M. Beaubien of Outremont and William Birks of Montreal. The affair was a decided success, the catering good and all the arrangements excellent.

After the toast to the King, Mr. Brady was called to propose a toast to the ladies which he did in humorous vein. He told several interesting illustrative stories and kept everyone happy. He quoted from an ancient proverb which said there was more power in he hair of a woman's head than in a yoke of oxen well harnessed. He spoke (continued on page four)
