Grain Rate to Prince Rupert Averages $1.77 Lower Under the Reduced Railway Freights

Prince Rupert gets an export grain rate from Alberta averaging $1.77 less than formerly since the reduction ordered by the Board of Railway Commissioners, but there is also a reduction to the Great Lakes. Duscussing this the Edmonton Journal says:

The proportion of grain going west will be larger and not smaller as a consequence of the recent rate judgment. Fears were expressed in Vancouver at the time that the Pacific route would suffer. There seemed to be no grounds for them and an analysis that has been made by the provincial traffic supervisor makes it clear that the movement in that direction on the C.N.R. it is 1.77 cents.

The western route is thus the gainer Mr. Chard finds that from the 297 from the judgment to a somewhat great-C.P.R. stations in Alberta affected the er extent than the eastern. Fire Last Night Razed Building Canadian National Dock Valued at About Six Thousand Dollars

Only the partly burned western wall remains of No. 1 G.T.P. wharf shed in which fire of mysterious origin broke out last night causing damage estimated this morning at at least $6,500. The building contained the railway commissary offices and warehouse whose loss is placed at something over $2,000 and a quantity of old equipment belonging to the Pacific Stevedoring Co. also valued at about $2,000. Little, if anything, else was contained in the structure which was burned to the wharf's edge and the value of which is put at something in the neighborhood of $2,500. Except for, perhaps, the decking, the whart sustained *loss in connection with the overhead roadway which passes immediately belittle damage nor was there any great side and above it.

It was about 11:30 p.m. that the first alarm was turned into the fire department apparently from some one in the heart of the city for all the information given was that there was a rire on the waterfront. Further information was obtainable from the telephone exchange and, when the brigade arrived at the scene, flames were issuing from end to end of the building. It was apparent that the structure itself could not be saved so efforts were mainly devoted to saving the overhead roadway and other buildings nearby in- pert district had been heard from. cluding headquarters of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve.
