

Attention!! Prince Rupert Students!

See our window! A beautiful watch will be given away absolutely free. A large clock dial has spaces for the names of boys and girls attending school in Prince Rupert and writing on the exams in June.

All you have to do is to come in and have your name put on. You need not buy anything!

The clock will be wound on June 20 and when the hand stops, it will point to the lucky name.

Be sure to enter before June 20.

EVERY BUILDER THAT YOU MEET—SAYS OUR LUMBER CAN'T BE BEAT!

Ask the master builders of this town where to go for lumber and they will turn your footsteps in this direction. They maintain that the kind of woods we sell is the sort that should be put into a building that is expected to live to a ripe old age.

U.S. SUPREMACY IS THREATENED

BRITISH PROFESSIONALS PLAYING IN OPEN GOLF TOURNAMENT BEGINNING TODAY

NEW YORK, June 14.—America's supremacy on the links, which reached its crest last year in sweeping British victories by Bobby Jones and Jess Sweetser, will be subjected to its most threatening challenge since 1920 in the American open Championship at Oakmont, Pa., which opened today.

Ten places in the starting fields have been set aside for a band of British professionals whose invasion has the double objective of successfully defending the Ryder team trophy against an American team and of lifting the most coveted of American links titles. One invader, the powerful hitting veteran, Ted Ray, is a former American open champion.

Of the many scattering attempts which foreign stars have made to penetrate the home defenses, only two have been successful. Ray's triumph seven years ago was the last, terminating a twenty year stretch during which no European player was able to break through. The other victory in 1900 was posted by the great English stylist, Harry Vardon.

TAYLOR'S POSITION
The success of British forces in these two campaigns, however, was pronounced, for on both occasions compatriots finished in the run-up positions. J. H. Taylor of England was second to Vardon in 1900, two strokes behind the winner's score of 313, while Vardon tied three American players for second place in 1920.

There was one other notable British invasion in 1913 by Vardon and Ray, when the two famous overseas players finished in a tie with Francis Ouimet, then a young Boston amateur, for first place. To the surprise of critics and a large gallery, Ouimet then proceeded to win the subsequent play-off, shooting 72 to 77 for Vardon and 78 for Ray.

Contrasting with the record of British professionals on this side of the Atlantic has been the amazing success of American players abroad in recent years, links stars from this country having won five of the last six British open tournaments.

Jock Hutchinson, first to break through in 1921, set the pace for Walter Hagen, who scored in 1922 and 1924. Jim Barnes followed suit in 1925, while Bobby Jones annexed the crown last year.

SPORT CHAT
With only three games to qualify for the finals, each of these football matches between now and July 1 when the final of the Dominion Day cup will be played is going to prove of particular interest and soccer fans may be relied upon to turn out in numbers. Tonight the Regiment and Grand Territorials will meet in the first of the series and, if this competition went as the Stuart Shield did, it will be a game to decide which of the two teams goes in against the Moose in the finals.

Prospects for the soldiers have loomed most promisingly just recently and they are already counting on annexing this piece of silverware. At the same time, the Moose are just as confident that they can be successful again and the Grand Territorials somehow feel that they have dropped what they are pleased to call a jinx and that they have at last got into the stride no one will question the aggregation is capable of.

Bobby Jones launches his eighth drive for the American National open golf championship today at Oakmont, New York, for a background of record streaking which has no parallel in links history. The twenty-five-year-old Georgian marvel, who last year accomplished the remarkable feat of winning both the British and American open titles, already has opened his 1927 campaign with a smashing card of 281 to win the Southern open crown. There are still more records ahead of him to tempt the magis of his clubs, and in this early season performance he has broadcast a warning of new flights to great golf which may realize his chief hope of the current season—acquisition of the open and amateur crowns in the same year. Only one golfer in history has been able to bring off this feat. Chick Evans, the veteran Chicago ama-

Was So Nervous The Least Noise Made Her Jump

Mrs. W. H. Yates, Ashern, Man., writes:—"I was bothered very much with my heart and nerves, and the least noise would make me jump and almost stop my heart beating. I told my mother about it one day, and she said that she had been bothered the same way and told me to get a box of teur, accomplished it in 1916, nosing out Jock Hutchinson for the open title at Minneapolis and defeating Bob Gardner in the final round of the amateur at Merion. Bobby's amazing performances last year are scarcely less impressive than his consistently low scoring record in the open, where for seven straight years he has averaged a fraction of a stroke less than 74 a round for 28 rounds of championship play.

The roll of championship possibilities in this year's open golf tournament contains the names of three well known veterans whose shadows have frequently fallen across the title gateway during the last five or six campaigns. They are Bobby Cruickshank, the wee Scot; Leo Diegel, the former Detroit caddy; and Bill Mehlnhorn, the husky Chicagoan. Cruickshank approached nearest to America's premier crown when he finished in a tie with Jones four years ago, only to lose the play-off to the Atlantan. The following year he was fourth, six strokes back of Cyril Walker.

Mehlnhorn only once in the last five years has failed to place among the first ten. Last year he was third after being fifteenth in 1925. He was fourth in 1922, but his card was only two strokes higher than that of the champion, Sarzen. He was eighth in 1923 and third in 1924.

Diegel looked like a winner in 1920 losing out in the final round to Ted Ray of England by a single stroke. He always has been in the hunt, except in 1924, when he dropped to twenty-fifth. Last year he finished fifth.

GROTTO DEFEATS SONS OF CANADA

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE BASEBALL GAME LAST NIGHT WAS CLOSE UP TO SIXTH INNING

The Intermediate League baseball game last night, was a real tight affair until the sixth inning when the Grotto started to hit Slocomb freely and, following one or two glaring field errors, ran out over the Native Sons of Canada with a 812 score. The Grotto opened the scoring in the first frame with two runs, the Sons coming up to make one. Each team scored once in the third and with one more for the Grotto in the fifth, the score was 4-2 at the end of that frame. In the sixth, the tobaccoists put three runs across with the eighth in the seventh and last stanza. Will Lambie and Joe Smith were umpires with teams as follows:

Grotto—S. Gurdich, c.; J. McNulty, p.; R. Scherk, 1b.; N. Chenoski, 2b.; D. Gurdich, 3b.; B. Lundquist, ss.; D. Stalker, lf.; B. Stalker, rf.; G. Howe, cf.
Native Sons—F. Morrison, 3b.; L. Astori, 2b.; B. Hunt, 1b.; A. Slocomb, p.; J. Nelson, c.; F. McDonald, rf.; S. Duncan, cf.; B. Wakefield, ss.; J. McNulty, lf.
