POLICY OF PROTECTION

The Conservative party in Canada is still as strongly protectionist as ever. The convention at Winnipeg failed to make any on Saturday afternoon, Rev. E. Mcchange such as was very generally forecasted. Here is what the Edmonton Bulletin has to say about the subject:

Congratulations are also due to the Conservative party of Canada because it is still that, and because the "bull moose" movement, which was supposed to destroy its identity beyond recognition of western voters, is as dead as the dodo.

The Winnipeg convention adopted a resolution which, if it means anything at all, reaffirms the party allegiance to thoroughgoing protectionism. It is not so much a "plank" as an argument, but there is no room for a doubt where the argument leads to. By no distortion could it be made to represent a demand for tariff reduction; nor even for leaving the tariff as it is.

Thus ended the scheme of Mr. Guthrie and some of the Southam papers to have the convention do a little flirting with the low tariff idea in hope of attracting western support. Their proposal did not even get far enough to attract the attention of the delegates. It was not given the recognition of a formal application Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Premier of the steam-roller. It was just ignored, and died on the door-step, of Canada. without ever getting into the hall.

MUSIC IN SCHOOLS

Terrace people are asking that there be more singing in the schools. In a good many other places more musical education is asked. In some parts of the continent singing is taught as one of the regular subjects of the curriculum but mostly it is left to the teacher to do as she wishes. If she is musical, she gives plenty of it but if she is not, the subject is neglected.

In British Columbia we seem to go on the happy-go-lucky, hit or miss system. There does not seem to be any established rule, or if there is, it is not carried out.

We all know how difficult it is to teach all the subjects on ing last night on the Prince Rupert for the long curriculum and do it well, but after all, the whole end and Vancouver. aim in life is not the passing of examinations, the promotion of pupils or the taking of high marks. Music is something that adds to the enjoyment of life just as much as mathematics, perhaps more. A very few minutes devoted each day to singing in the class room has a wonderful effect on developing musical taste. Also after a Presbyterian Church, he also spoke. hard lesson it has a reviving effect on the pupils, acting somewhat, as a tonic. The difficulty is that while some teachers devote a lot local committee to carry on the work of time to the subject, others devote none and the gap in the con- of the Scripture Service Union was tinuity of studies as the pupils pass on is discouraging.

In city schools where there are always plenty of musical teachers, there should be no difficulty in teaching enough singing for the unmusical teacher to carry on the regular practices.

DOMINION PUBLIC WORKS

Hon. J. C. Elliott, minister of public works, announces that now FAMOUS AUTHOR PLANS the country is prosperous, there is justification for the government proceeding with needed public works. Perhaps under these circumstances this would be a good time for turning the attention of the government to the situation in Prince Rupert. ### PARENT TEACHERS AT TERRACE PROPOSE SINGING IN SCHOOLS

Money to be Expended on Purchasing Books for Library: Many Members for Organization

TERRACE, Oct. 17. - The monthly neeting of the Parent Teacher Association was held in the school house on Thursday evening with the newly elected president, Rev. Wm. Allan in the chair. Routine business was conducted. Mrs. Scamen reported thirty-four names on the membership list for the new Rupert at the end of the week. The year. The money left over from last year's Xmas. tree funds, which was to be used to buy books for the school libgovernment grant, was turned over to vestigate the library needs and purchase for either public or high school what seemed most necessary.

A motion was almost unanimously passed suggesting that there be more singing in the class rooms. The Parent Teacher Association had worked energetically to put a piano in the school and had completed the payments on it, but the children were receiving very little benefit from it.

At the close of the business meeting. The late Mr. McLena- gave an interesting and instructive talk his ways in the teaching of practically all
