

Safe, Speedy Relief from Pain

T-R-C'S TEMPLETON'S RHEUMATIC CAPSULES - RHEUMATISM

Magical for Headaches

Rheumatism and similar forms of Pain almost always yield to the T-R-C's (Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules) treatment. Your druggist can very likely tell you how greatly T-R-C's have helped some of his own customers. To see even a few of the hundreds of testimonial letters in our files, would convince you that T-R-C's are extraordinarily successful in the treatment of Rheumatic and Neuritic Pain. If you read our booklet carefully you will understand why the T-R-C's treatment is so successful. But, wouldn't it be better to know how successful T-R-C's can be by using them for your own Pain? Get a 30c or $1 box from your druggist, or send 10c for booklet and generous trial to Templeton's "K", Toronto 2.

BETTER TREATMENT FOR MARITIMES.

The enunciation from Premier King of the intentions of the government in dealing with the Duncan report should, it would seem at this distance, prove entirely satisfactory to the Maritime Provinces—New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. The problem is an involved one and there are many circumstances which, at this remote point from the scene, are difficult to judge. It would seem, however, that the government stands ready to do all in its power to assist.

British Columbia will be most interested in the proposed reduction in freight rates. Premier Oliver stated some weeks ago that, if concessions were given the Maritimes, he would not rest content until similar dispensation was accorded British Columbia. Even more concessions are proposed for the three Atlantic provinces than might have been originally anticipated so the British Columbia premier will have something concrete on which to base his demands.

Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island it seems are going to get better treatment effectively and promptly. If British Columbia's claims were investigated in a similar manner it might be more to the point and more economical than the means being adopted at the present time. British Columbia should have a Duncan commission, too.

ANXIETY OF DR. TOLMIE.

Dr. Tolmie, the itinerant leader of the Conservative party in British Columbia, is very agitated about the possibility of the Japanese supplanting white men in the halibut fisheries. Here in Prince Rupert, the headquarters of the Canadian halibut fisheries, the fears of Dr. Tolmie may well be judged. If there are any Japanese fishermen at all engaged in halibut fishing their number is very few and no alarm is being expressed locally where, naturally, it would be expected.

The Daily News would by no means support the entry of Orientals into the halibut fisheries but it sees no necessity of raising a false alarm.

If Dr. Tolmie is really sincere about this cause, which he of late has been so valiantly espousing, it would seem that he could get more action by coming home and taking the position of responsibility his party has bestowed upon him rather than continuing to sit in his comfortable seat at Ottawa because the Dominion section of his party is afraid they might lose Victoria seat.

CUTTING DOWN SPEECH MAKING.

The House of Commons is taking a step in the right direction in its effort to devise new house rules designed to curtail excessive speech-making in parliament. Vain vapourings addressed too often to the gallery for the purpose of gaining political advantage have been and are the curse of every legislature in the country, Canada not being alone in that regard. The tendency to such is even seen at times in municipal council and other lesser bodies.

Happily, there has been a great improvement in this regard at Ottawa this session. The effort to even further limit members who like to express their own views at the public expense is to be commended.

SPRING ARRIVES HERE TODAY.

Spring arrived today with its one thousand and one suggestions. For all, it suggests succor from the rigors of a heartless winter. And for some its suggestions, or a few of them, are house-cleaning in the office, vacation-time approaching, new automobiles, old automobiles to be overhauled, Easter clothes to be shopped for by some and paid for by others, last year's straw hats and summer suits to be re-discovered, garden seeds and faint dreams of fair harvests, automobiling, "parking sparking," opening of the baseball season, bathing and beach censors.

Spring is one of the two neutral seasons of the year. The other is fall. Winter has its irreconcilables and summer its rank partisans, but spring strikes a happy medium. You can dread winter and adore summer or you may have a preference for winter over summer and retain a warm regard for the intermediate seasons.

Those who are reminded by spring of the hot weather to come should find solace in the thought that the coal man must live on his interest for six months and those who are concerned over the wear and tear the new balloon tires must soon undergo have the consolation that the strain on the rugs and furniture at home will be relieved.

"DENVER DUDE" IS ADVENTURE STORY

Hoot Gibson Coming to Westholme Theatre Tonight and Tomorrow in Swift-Moving Western Film

When "Rodeo" Randall, broncho busting champion, set out on a little vacation trip all by himself, he ran into more adventure than the ordinary mortal encounters in a lifetime.

He first rescued a shipment of $30,000 from two bandits, the circumstances of which prompted him to change his raiment and his name to match.

The next was when he represented himself as the messenger guarding the money in order to be near Patricia La Mar, the daughter of his father's dearest enemy.

After that things really began to happen. The safe in the ranch store where "Rodeo" was employed was looted, the blame laid to "Rodeo's" door with a resultant arrest.

Escaping, clad in kilts flished from his guard, who had fallen in an inebriated slumber, "Rodeo" set out in pursuit of the men he suspected as the safe robbers, employing an untamed horse for the chase just to make things more interesting.

The climax is fast moving and most exciting thing. Hoot Gibson in "The Denver Dude" comes here tonight and tomorrow. Some of the players are Blanche Mahaffey, Robert McKim, "Slim" Summerville, Howard Truesdell, Glenn Tryon, Mathilde Brundage, Rolfe Sedan and others.

JACKIE COOGAN IN "OLD CLOTHES"

Young Favorite Shows Another Phase of His Art in Comedy

"Old Clothes" is the title of Jackie's first screen offering of the season which comes to the Westholme Theatre Wednesday night. The story relates the further adventures of Kelly and Ginsberg, that unique pair who left a favorable impression in their preceding picture "The Rag Man." From the high and apparently safe places of wealth and position, they have been tossed ruthlessly back into their old lives of poverty and hard work.

The old life is made harder by the constant recollections of the days that were. The firm of Kelly and Ginsberg, dealers in de luxe junk, is re-established and with heavy hearts and troubled conscience they resume the unsteady business of making a living.

Into their common place lives there comes a girl. Seeking a haven for the night, she appears at the humble abode of Kelly and Ginsberg and subsequently wins her way into their hearts. The romance which comes into the girl's life and Jackie's immature attempts to culminate the romance against the stubborn opposition of the old Hebrew, supplies a big evening's entertainment.

The plot scheme gives every opportunity for comedy situations which are given weight and depth by episodes appealing to the heart of the most stolid. Jackie appears again in the tattered costume of yore.

The supporting roles are in capable hands. Max Davidson, who plays "Uncle Max" the junk dealer, gives a good performance and is a perfect foil for Jackie. James Mason as the villain mingles a breath of comedy effect with adroit touches of whimsy. Alan Forrest as the handsome lover is at his best, and Joan Crawford, the girl, a comparative newcomer to the screen, will be heard of after producers see her in Jackie's picture. Lillian Elliott, the popular character woman invests her small part with all the expertise of an old time trouper.

BEWILDERED BY BIG CITY WAYS

"The Wilderness Woman," coming on Thursday to the Westholme Theatre here, tells the story of an Alaskan miner and his daughter who, having suddenly struck it tremendously rich in the far north, set out for New York. The adventures that befell them when, for the first time, they came in contact with the conventions and restrictions of modern civilization, are productive of the comedy.

Arthur Stringer wrote the story for the Saturday Evening Post, where it appeared as a serial.

In the roles of the rich miner and

Too Late

IN the bright heyday of youth, who could tell him of the storms that lay ahead? Later, when he had the full strength of manhood, who could hint to him of weakness or ill-health?

The need for Life Insurance protection always seemed dim and remote—and because of this the day of decision was deferred.

And then came the day when he tried to get Life Insurance, but the attempt merely brought a more grim realization of his need. His health was not what it had been.

Too late!

Avert this tragedy from your life! Obtain the security of Life Insurance while you may. Now, while you are strong and well, the protection of Life Insurance is obtainable, and the yearly outlay will be less than in the future. Decide today, and see a Life Insurance representative before you, also, are too late.

his daughter Chester Conklin and Allen Pringle appear to advantage. This is Miss Pringle's first comedy part, and she is a different actress from what she has been in the Elinor Glyn and vampire roles that have been hers heretofore. Lowell Sherman, usually the villain, appears this time as hero. Others are Henry Vibart and Robert Cain and a cute and amusing little bear cub.

"THE QUARTERBACK" A FAST FOOTBALL FILM

Richard Dix will be Star in Week-end Feature at Westholme Theatre

"The Quarterback," a college comedy brings Richard Dix back to the screen of the Westholme Theatre at the week-end.

Dix is the son of a man who has been attending university since 1899 because he promised his wife that he'd stay at Colton till their eleven best years crack State squad. Twenty-seven years have oozed by. His wife is dead, his son is now the Colton quarterback—and he is still studying!

Needless to say, Richard loves the prettiest girl at State—Esther Ralston. Everything is all set for the annual Colton-State contest when a newspaper accuses Dick of professionalism. Esther is the only person who can prove his innocence. At the last minute, he is shoved into the line-up and the game starts in a veritable sea of mud. Laughs, spills and thrills vie with each other. David Butler, Harry Beresford, Robert W. Craig and Mons Palma have supporting parts.
