BOXING AS A SPORT

Every time that a pugilistic contest is held, the interest that term. It was his dearest wish that he it arouses serves as a reminder of how deeply rooted is man's prim- should be permitted to retire this 2nd itive fighting instinct, says the Edmonton Journal. Civilization may be brought to undreamed of levels. Time and space may be almost of office expires. Unhappily there is no eliminated. Each year may see some wondrous new discovery of appeasing the conflicting ambitions of science. Leagues of nations may work zealously for the cause of German party politics. Apart from a international peace. Yet just as soon as a really spectacular fight of any kind whatever is arranged, or takes place without arrange- vacy. Hindenburg is still perfectly hale ment, most people are disposed to throw everything else aside to and perfectly capably of fulfilling any watch the struggle.

There has been severe comment from many quarters in recent years of the disproportionately large sums earned by the partici- parties, and a dinner with an old regipants in great boxing bouts for the short time in which they are on. His frequent attendance at funerals engaged. It certainly is impossible to justify them. But the pub- of old friends is one of the saddest atlic will always pay dearly for amusements. In an age when wealth tributes of a long life. No great public has reached unprecedented limits and the means of assembly and character lives a life more remote from communications are so lavish, those who provide amusements of any the people, no popular figure-head rekind can reap a harvest far beyond the dreams of mere presidents cognised as a symbol rather than an or cabinet ministers. Boxing remains for many men, and for some women, one of the most attractive forms of sport.

Cranks often start things. Even motorboats are started that way.

NOTHING PERMANENT ABOUT TREATIES

The British foreign secretary suggets thast a temporary ar- dent only in so far as the traditions of rangement be made with United States and Japan in regard to the building of warships. That is quite in order because treaties are merely temporary makeshifts anyway. They have some effect at the time they are made and for a short time afterwards but they really mean little. When war broke out there was a treaty between servants form his immediate personal en-Germany and Italy but it did not prevent Italy joining the allies against Germany.

It's hard enough to park a car or a wife in most cities. How can one expect to park an airplane.

AGAIN NATIONAL ANTHEMS

(Manitoba Free Press) A gentleman at Ottawa is becoming violent because in Can- death. This political man with a head ada there appears to be a tendency to regard the song "O Canada" above party is the dark horse of Geras a kind of Canadian national anthem. His agitation is due to his man politics, his influence is parafear that the Canadian national anthem may clash with the British mount, his farsightedness said to be national anthem, "God Save the King," so he has been telling a unique. public gathering at Ottawa to keep their hats on when "O Canada" is being played. This Mr. Shipman, who is a member of the Ottawa life. In the President's palace she reschool board, does not object to "O Canada" being classed as a popu- ceives the guests, takes the head of the lar air, but he goes right up in the air when he finds Canadians, table opposite Hindenburg himself, and as they did at the Jubilee ceremonies, singing "O Canada" first, fol- performs the very onerous duties of mislowed by "God Save the King."

Out here in the west we think we are rather fortunate in having no Mr. Shipmans running at large. This is due to the fact, we burg, remains discreetly in the backthink, that the people of the west have the correct understanding and a proper appreciation of Canada's national position and her position as a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations. than the wives of several secretaries of While, perhaps, not advancing the claim of "O Canada," to be called state. the Canadian national anthem, the fact is that in the west both "O Canada" and "God Save the King" are sung at public meetings and ceremonies in the most natural way in the world. Many meetings are opened with "O Canada," the audience rising and uncovering, and the meeting is closed with "God Save the King," in the traditional manner. The one song bespeaks the development of Canada as a nation and the love of Canada by Canadians; the other signifies their attachment to a common throne along with the other nations of the British Empire. It is a most happy arrangement and, no doubt, will be the practice followed in all the British Dominions when each one comes to the point where it has a national song that might be regarded as having the attributes of a national anthem.

For these reasons it is expected that the people of Canada will continue to look upon "O Canada" as Canada's national song, and all standard breeds are an important will continue to stand up and uncover their heads when it is sung. They will also continue to honor in the traditional way and on all here opening today. The 16 buildings occasions to give its traditional place to "God Save the King," the and annexes which house the exhibition common national anthem of all the British peoples.

While some of the people in the east are still worrying over whether or not a man descended from a monkey, the really sensible people are thinking of what he descended to.

When you come to know some people it is hard to imagine that they ever had any part in evolution.

To Obtain Relief From Neuritis

The nervous system must be thoroughly restored. Here is a case which illustrates this point.

muscles warned Mrs. Mapletoft of the exhausted condition of her nervous system. She also had frequent nervous headaches and persistent neuritis in her right side.

Only temporary relief can come from external applications for neuritis. To really get rid of the cause of trouble it is necessary to thoroughly restore the exhausted nerves by the persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. Wm. Mapletoft, Mount Forest, Ont., writes:-"For about three years I suffered from neuritis in my right side. had pains through my back and twitching of the nerves and muscles. had also been operated on for appendicitis, and it left me nervous wreck. I was very restless and uneasy, and bothered with frequent neuralgic headaches. My appetite was poor and I sometimes took weak spells. I commenced a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and in a very short time I found relief. This medicine has done me the world of good and I can recommend it to all suffering as I was."

Birthday Will be Celebrated on October 2 it is Announced

BERLIN, July 28 .- (Canadian Press). Considerable stir has been caused in Germany by the announcement of preparations for President Hindenburg's 80th birthday. The date is October 2, but it is not too early in view of the holiday season to start the collection for the Hindenburg Fund, which is to be used for the benefit of war victims. or the Hindenburg stamp, which will be sold at twice the ordinary price for the same charitable cause. Hindenburg's wish that any fund opened in his honor should be used for helping others has isarmed even the most bitter enemies of his presidency. The whole point of Hindenburg's 80th birthday is that it sees him remaining in office till the end of his presidential of Ostober, six months before the term successor to take his place capable of natural weariness and longing for pripublic functions required of him. It is true that he is never seen at private mental comrade is an event commented active force, ever lived so free from all political machinations. There is only one man with genuine power in his handsthe man who acted in the same capacity to President Ebert. This is Dr. Ottos

Meissner. Hindenburg's household, more elaborate than that of Germany's first presian officer's family life differ from those of a working man's, consists of his son, Major Oscar Von Hindenburg, and his son's wife, a woman not yet 30 years of age, with two little children. Four civil tourage, aided by a captain of the Reichswehr, whose rank precludes the thought of any military intriguing in high places. Of these four the name of Dr. Meissner, Secretary of State, may easily be looked upon as that of one of the most important men in Germany. His work lies entirely behind the scenes. Dr. Meissner retained his post on Ebert's is as large as Britain's.

The revised program of the congress sessions shows that 150 papers will be presented during the meetings of the congress. Other international organizations are to hold separate sessions. The culmination of the week will be the official visit to the congress of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, accompanied by Prince George and Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, prime minister of Great Britain, and Mrs. Baldwin. They will visit the congress Wednesday, August 3, from 3 to 6 p.m. The visit of the Prince of Wales will be doubly interesting because of his own exhibit at the congress.

His Excellency, Viscount Willingdon, Governor-General, will greet the visitors on behalf of the British Empire and Right Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, premier of Canada, will speak for the Dominion. The representatives of leading nations will reply, Hon. William
