POSITION OF PRINCE RUPERT EXHIBITION.

The annual meeting of the Northern B.C. Agricultural & Industrial Association will be called in the near future, the main business coming before it to be the election of a new Fair Board for the year 1927. With the Fair some two or three thousand dollars in the hole as a result of this year's operations, there is not likely to be any great rush for office on the Board. A large deficit may handicap operations at the start at least and the Fair will need some capable management. Other Fairs have been in just as bad condition, and have been pulled together again. It is to be hoped that the people of the city, the business men especially, will offer their services so that last year's affairs may be squared up and another successful Fair held. The Exhibition is undoubtedly the big attraction of the year in Prince Rupert and brings a good deal of people and money into the city. If a year were missed, it would be more difficult to get it started again than to carry on with the present handicap which may not prove so difficult after all.

WHY ENGLISHMEN ARE PROUD OF PRINCE.

The average Englishman is proud of the Prince of Wales because, it is asserted, he is so much like other Englishmen. He works hard and plays hard; he rides hard, albeit he sometimes falls hard. Wales is considered by the average Englishman to have most all the virtues and some of the faults of his countrymen. This, perhaps, is why the latest book about the Prince, a sugary chronicle of anecdotes of Wales' world tours, has not met with full universal favor. One critic maintains that the author "has taken a dummy, loaded him with good casualties, and then produced him as the Prince of Wales." Such a man, he says, "never existed and never will exist." "The Prince of Wales," declares this commentator, "is surely good enough to stand true and analytical criticism. As it is the Prince is pictured without a single redeeming sin."

TOO MANY PARTIES FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN.

The Edmonton Journal says editorially, under the caption, "Too Many Parties": "School teachers and particularly high school teachers, find that there is a formidable stumbling block in the way of achievement. This consists of the succession of parties and entertainments which engross the attention and takes up the time of the young people. Skating parties, moving pictures, theatres, dances—they come one after the other, and they all claim hours of time—often late hours. It is natural that parents should wish their children to 'have a good time,' as it is called, while they are young. It is mistaken kindness to allow the desire for a good time to blot out all other considerations in the children's minds. Of course, if parents spend their own evenings in an unending succession of bridge and theatres, they cannot expect their children to take any graver view of life. Need they do so, and if they do so, can they escape responsibility for the results to their children?"

HON. ALEX. ROSS RESIGNS AS MINISTER OF PUBLIC WORKS AND IS SUCCEEDED BY SPEAKER McPHERSON

EDMONTON, Jan. 4.—The premier announces the resignation of the Hon. Alex. Ross, minister of public works and of labor, and the appointment of the Hon. O. L. McPherson, the speaker of the last legislature, as minister of public works.

In making the announcement the premier explained that some months ago Mr. Ross intimated his desire to retire from public life, but at that time the many contracts incidental to the extensive road program of the year were not completed. I requested Mr. Ross to continue in office until the season's work had been completed. I thought this to be only following good business principles and in the interests of the province. The year's program has now been completed and consequently Mr. Ross has tendered his resignation, the premier added.

The premier expressed great regret over the retirement of Mr. Ross. "Apart entirely from my warm personal regard for him I feel that his work in laying down the road policy for this province has not yet been fully appreciated by the people of the province although it is significant that within the last few months a great many messages of appreciation have come from different organizations in various parts of the province," said Mr. Brownlee.

With reference to the appointment of Mr. McPherson to the department of public works, the premier stated he felt that there was no need for explanation as his work as speaker of the house for five years had brought him prominently before the people of the province. "I believe it will be agreed by all shades of public opinion that he is the logical person for this position. The ministers have felt for some time that they would like to have the benefit of his advice in council and I thought it desirable to take the first opportunity to bring him into the cabinet," added the premier.

The premier further pointed out that Mr. McPherson was only appointed to the portfolio of minister of public works and that the department of labor, for the time being, pending further developments, would be retained by the premier himself.

THE NEW MINISTER
For almost six years Oran Lee McPherson has been speaker of the Alberta Legislature to which he was elected as U.F.A. member for Little Bow in July, 1921. It has been said of him many times that his speaker's appointment in February, 1922, was a very happy choice and as in support of this acclaim is the report of a U.F.A. convention, at which, prior to his appointment, he is quoted as saying during a very difficult situation: "I shall use every and any means at my command to get at the will of this convention."

Born on April 12, 1882, at Kingman, Kansas, the son of Taylor McPherson and his wife Eliza Davidson, both Scotch, he was educated at Shurtleff College and the University of Illinois. He came first to Alberta in 1906 in search of health and recuperation after studying and taking part in athletics too strenuously, and to obtain this education he paid his own way. He made his first acquaintance with the province at Vulcan, where two brothers were farming, and was so impressed that he decided to settle there himself. From possessing a small farm with a tiny shack he broadened out his holdings until today his farm is rated at over 2,000 acres.

Oran Lee McPherson was the first secretary of the U.F.A. local at Vulcan when it was started in 1910, first president of the Bow River political association and in 1919 was elected president of the provincial political association. He married on April 21, 1908, Cora L. Farmer, of Ashley, Ill., and has three sons.

"Who will be the next speaker?" is the big question in political circles following the cabinet changes announced by Premier Brownlee.

Milton C. McKeen, government member for Lac Ste. Anne, has been deputy speaker during the last five years and it is expected that he will secure the endorsement of the government members for the assembly chair. However, other names are prominently mentioned for the post, these being George MacLachlan, Pembina, and J. Russell Love, of Watnwright.

No final decision is likely to be arrived at until after the return of Premier Brownlee from Ottawa about the middle of January.

EDMONTON, January 4.—There was a novel full page advertisement in the Edmonton Journal on New Year's Eve. Had Salt Rheum All Over Her Hands

Mrs. Herbert J. Mason, Grand Falls, N.R., writes:—"I had salt rheum all over my hands and especially between my fingers. It got so bad it was impossible for me to put them in water or do my housework. After trying many medicines and salves, that did me no good, I heard of being so wonderful, and after taking three bottles I am entirely relieved of my trouble. I am sure I can't recommend B.B.B. too highly to those who have salt rheum like I had."
