MARINES HOLD MOB IN CHECK

SEVERAL THOUSAND INFURIATED
COOLIES FRUSTRATED IN AT-TEMPT AT VIOLENCE

BATTLED FOUR HOURS

Three Britishers Wounded Before Order
Restored with Cantonese Troops in Command

HANKOW, Jan. 4.—A handful of British Marines, without firing a shot, held in check yesterday an infuriated mob of several thousand Chinese coolies that attempted to charge into the British concession district in this city.

Incited by anti-British speeches, hordes of the Chinese moved against the British quarters. In their path stood a few British policemen who stood their ground when stoned. Twenty sailors landed from war ships in Yangtze, joined the police and, with fixed bayonets, used their rifles as clubs in exchanging blows with the charging mob but didn't fire, the thin line holding for more than four hours until further reinforcements were landed.

Three Britishers were wounded and taken to the hospital. The Cantonese troops finally took command of the situation and all is quiet today.

BRITISH FREIGHTER WELSH CITY
GOES IN FROM JAPAN LAST EVEN-ING—TAYU MARI SAILS
TODAY

Coming from Muroran, Japan, instead of direct from England as was originally reported, the tramp freighter, Welsh City, belonging to the Smith Line of London, arrived in port last night at 9.30 to load grain. The vessel is at anchor in the harbor and will remain there until tomorrow when it is expected she will move into the dry dock to start lining. The Welsh City was met at Triple Island and piloted in by Capt. J. R. Elfert. Her master is Capt. S. Mortimer. The vessel experienced bad weather and took twenty days for the passage.

Having completed loading at the elevator, the Ocean Transport Co.'s steamer Tayu Mari will sail for the United Kingdom or continent this afternoon. Her berth will soon be taken by the Hyoka Maru, the lining of which is being rushed at the dry dock so she may start loading her cargo for Shanghai at the earliest possible moment.

The Welsh City will load for the United Kingdom or continent.

LIFE OF MONTREAL NURSE NO SINECURE

Daily Round Opens up at 7 a.m. and Lasts Until 7 p.m.—Routine Given

MONTREAL, Jan. 4.—A nurse's life in Montreal is no rest cure. The daily round starts at 7 a.m., not a minute later, and ends at 7 p.m., with intervals of half an hour for dinner and supper. Breakfast is eaten before going on duty. However, at some time during the day a nurse is allowed a three-hour stretch off duty in which to rest.

On Sunday she is granted five consecutive hours off duty, but is expected to attend a church of her denomination during that time. It is on her weekly half day off, when she leaves all her cares behind her at 1 o'clock in the afternoon that the nurse enjoys her life. If she has frivolous tastes—and the cash—she can shop for pretty things, go to the theatre, or indulge in a matinee tea. She can pay calls, read, study, sleep, or merely do her laundry. Whatever she wants to do, she can.

The nurses do night duty for two months at a stretch, from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. This isn't as bad as it sounds, for once the patients have all been put to bed, charts written up, and many other details attended to, nurses are allowed to rest, stretched out full length on a cot. If the patients are good and sleep through the night, a nurse is in luck and gets in a fair amount of rest. Two months at one time is usually allotted to night duty, and when a nurse completes this term she is granted two days off before she needs go on day duty again. During the three years of training, a nurse has to put in at least six months night duty, divided into three periods of two months each.

I.O.D.E. PLANS TO CELEBRATE

WILL DEVISE SOME MEANS OF OB-
SERVING JUBILEE CONFEDERA-TION

TORONTO, Jan. 3.—The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire are making plans to celebrate the Jubilee of Confederation and the 'Echoes' Christmas number contains many practical suggestions for commemorating the historical event. The national committee I.O.D.E. favors a national service of thanksgiving July 1 to be held simultaneously throughout Canada; a luncheon or a banquet on the eve of July 1 in each provincial capital at which the salient features of the progress of Canada since Confederation could be expounded and an exchange of cordial felicitations from province to province could be extended.

Living pictures of Canadian heroines, the staging of historical pageants, the evolution of the C.P.R. with a dominion film showing the driving of the last spike; the trek of the United Empire Loyalists into Canada; scenes in the Hudson Bay trading posts; the Fathers of Confederation in council in Charlottetown, in Ottawa, in Quebec, are among the outstanding incidents suggested for special commemoration on the part of members of the order in celebration of the jubilee.

MOVE TO UNSEAT EDMONTON MAYOR

January 10 is Date Set by Mr. Justice
Ford for Hearing of Argument in Application

EDMONTON, Jan. 4.—Arguments in the move to unseat Mayor A. U. G. Bury will be heard by Mr. Justice Ford in the supreme court chambers on Monday, January 10, at 10 a.m. The fiat which grants leave to have the matter come before the court, was granted by Mr. Justice Ford.

Neil D. Maclean, K.C., presented the application on behalf of Jos. A. Clarke, a defeated candidate for mayor in the civic elections of December 13. That Mr. Bury is not qualified for the position by being a property owner or by having a sufficient business tax assessment, is the ground set out in the motion.

Mr. Clarke, the relator, filed his personal bond for $200 and Messrs. Lempiere and Neher were sureties to the extent of $100 each in bonds for the costs.

Mr. Maclean states that the papers are being filed at once and copies served on the interested parties, Mayor Bury and the city clerk.

Mr. Bury's qualifications were scrutinized by the city officials and duly approved before his election was affirmed by the returning officer, and he will also receive notice of this court action.

Jack Tar Will be Maid and Hairdresser Aboard Duke of York's Warship

Precedent for British Navy will be set when H.M.S. Renown leaves for Australia with Duchess and her companions
as passengers

PORTSMOUTH, January 4.—Bluejackets will act as maids to the Duchess of York and her two ladies-in-waiting when H.M.S. Renown leaves on Thursday to take the Duke of York on his official tour of New Zealand and Australia. As women are ordinarily barred from warships, the forthcoming voyage will set a precedent in the British Navy. The Duchess's two travelling companions will be the Countess of Cavan and Mrs. John Gilmour and, as there will be no female servants, the Admiralty has decided that Jack Tar, always a handy man, will be well qualified to run things as they should be on the high seas. The blue-jackets' work will include hair dressing in which Marine W. E. Uden has taken a special course in order to qualify for this particular task.

The Duke will represent the King at the opening of Australia's new capital at Canberra on May 29. Twenty-five years ago, the present King and Queen, then the Duke and Duchess of York, made a similar trip to Australia.
