Here are some of the highlights of last Saturday's Grey Cup events in Toronto

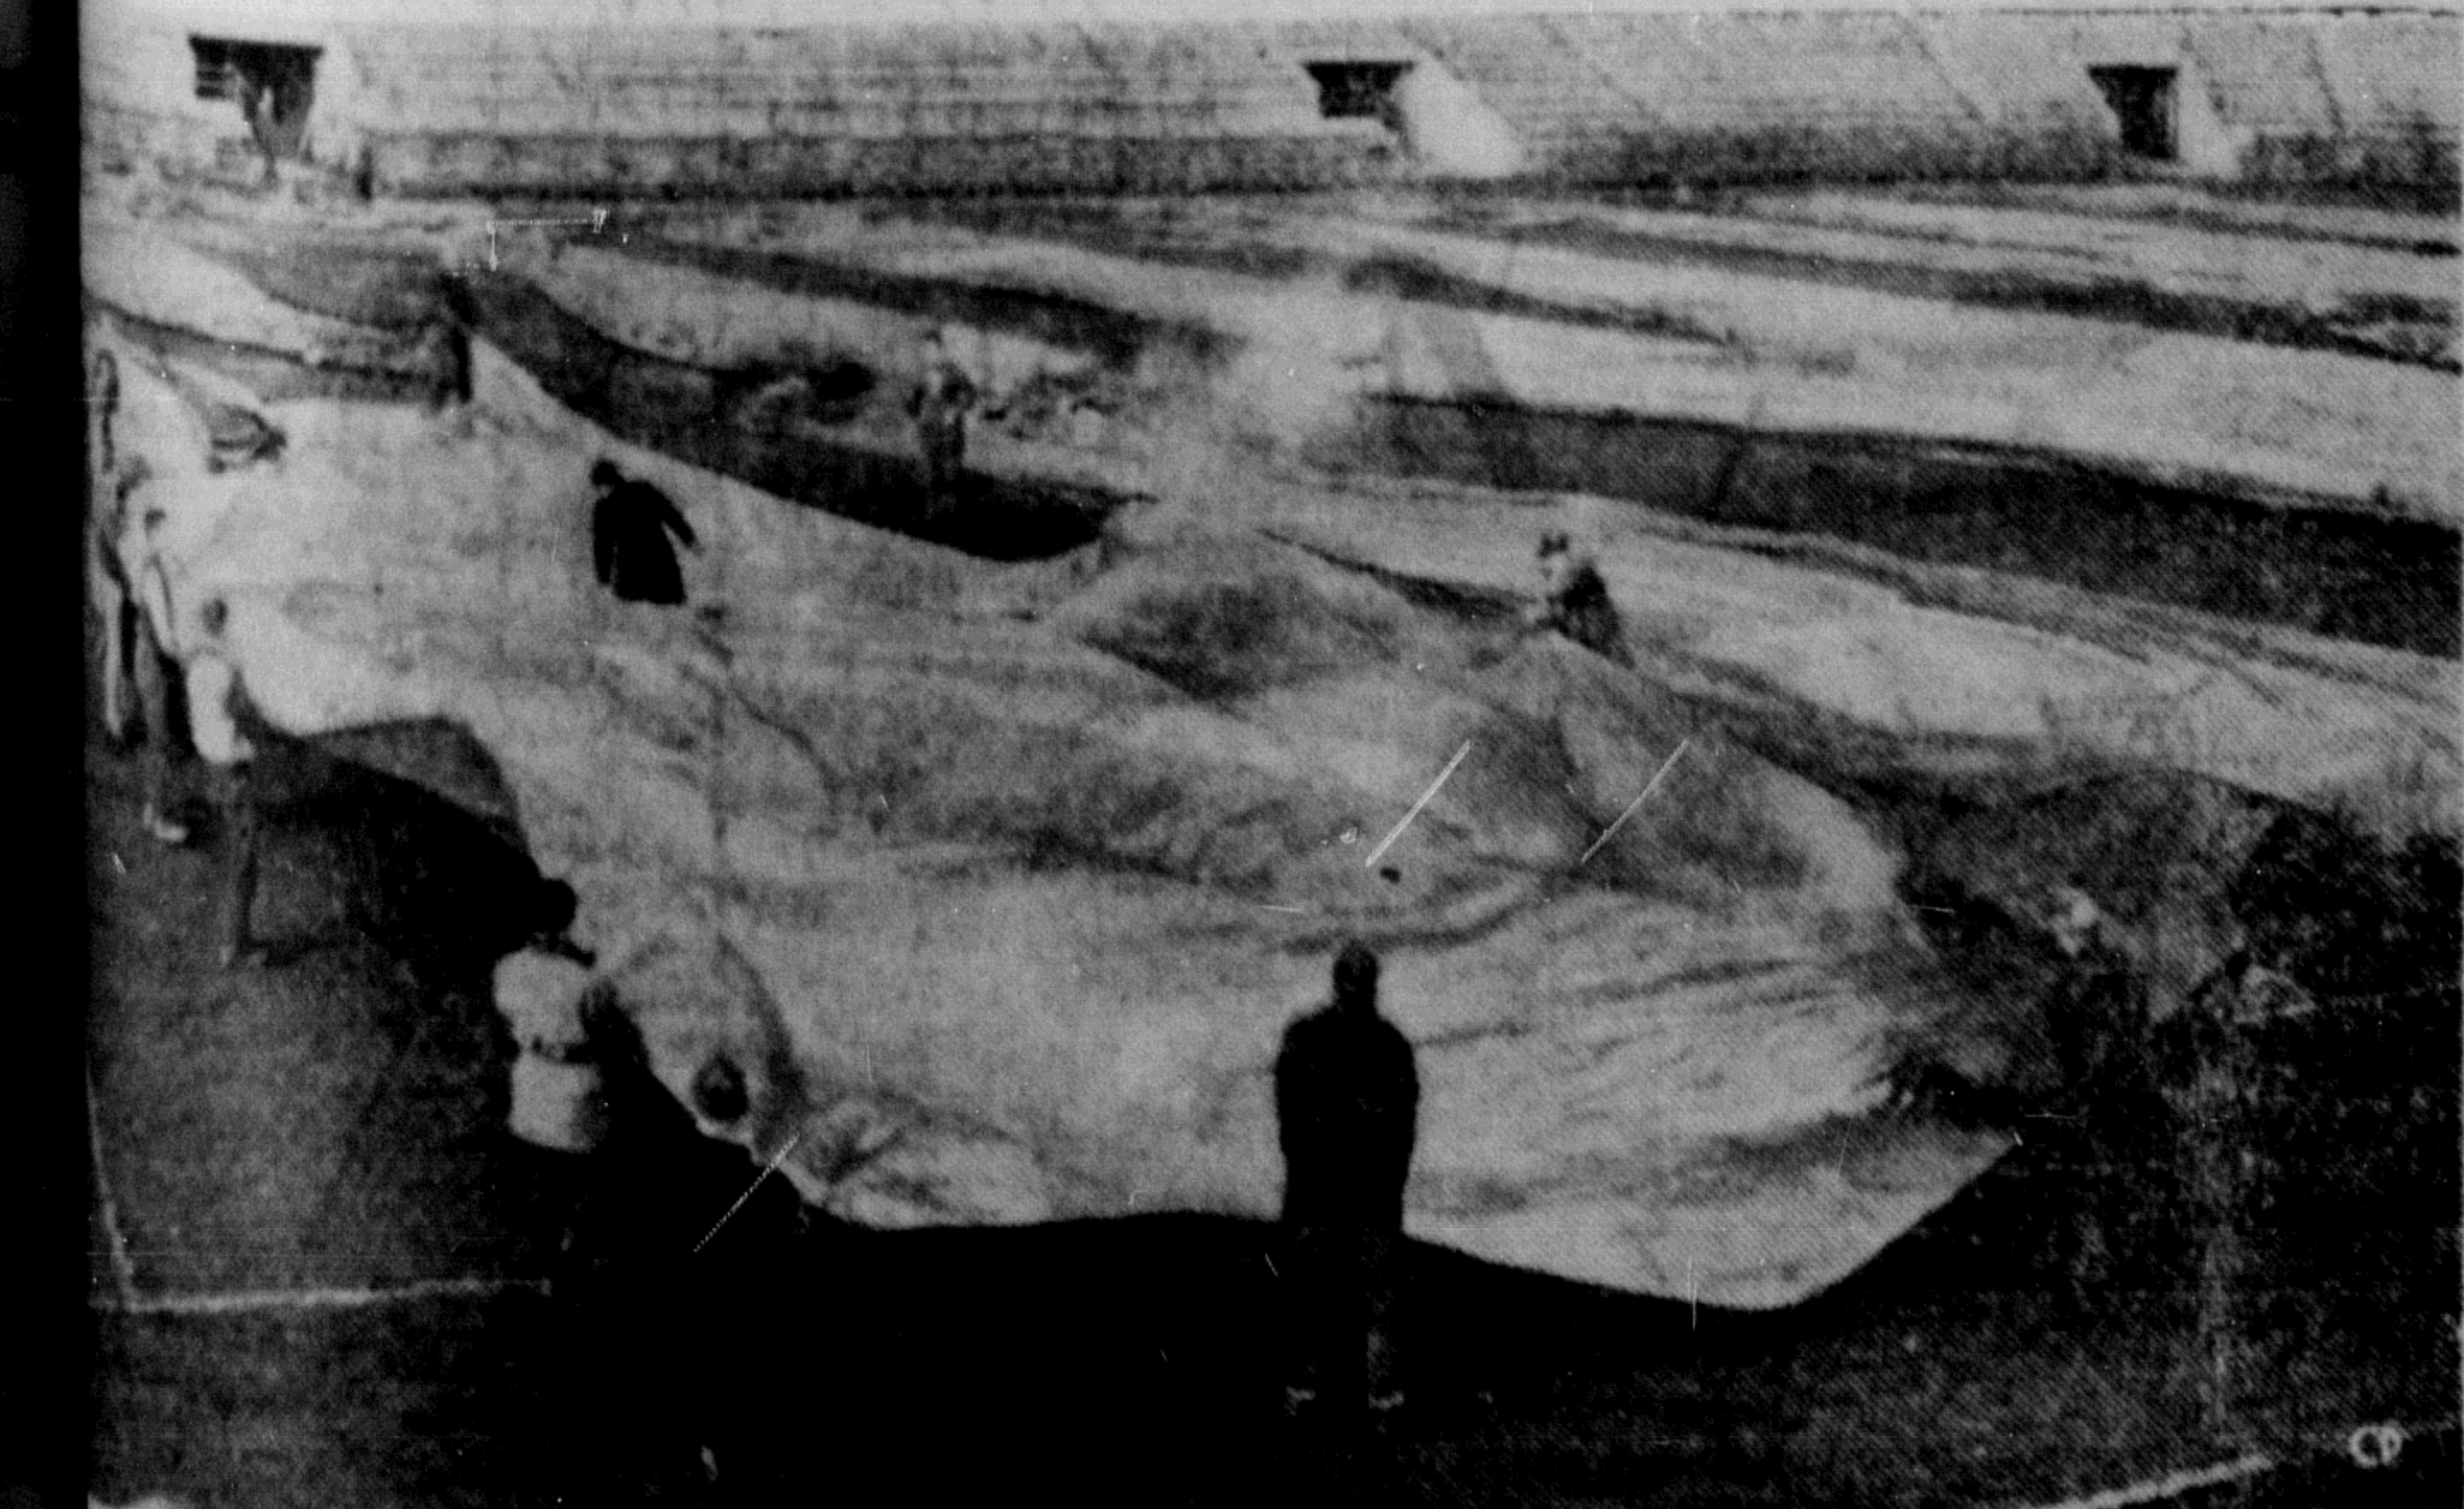

KICK-OFF—Trade Minister Howe kicks off for the start of the Grey Cup football classic. Mayor William Hawrelak of Edmonton holds the ball while Toronto's Mayor Allan Hamment stands behind. Toronto Argonauts defeated Edmonton Eskimos 21-11 before 27,000. (CP PHOTO)

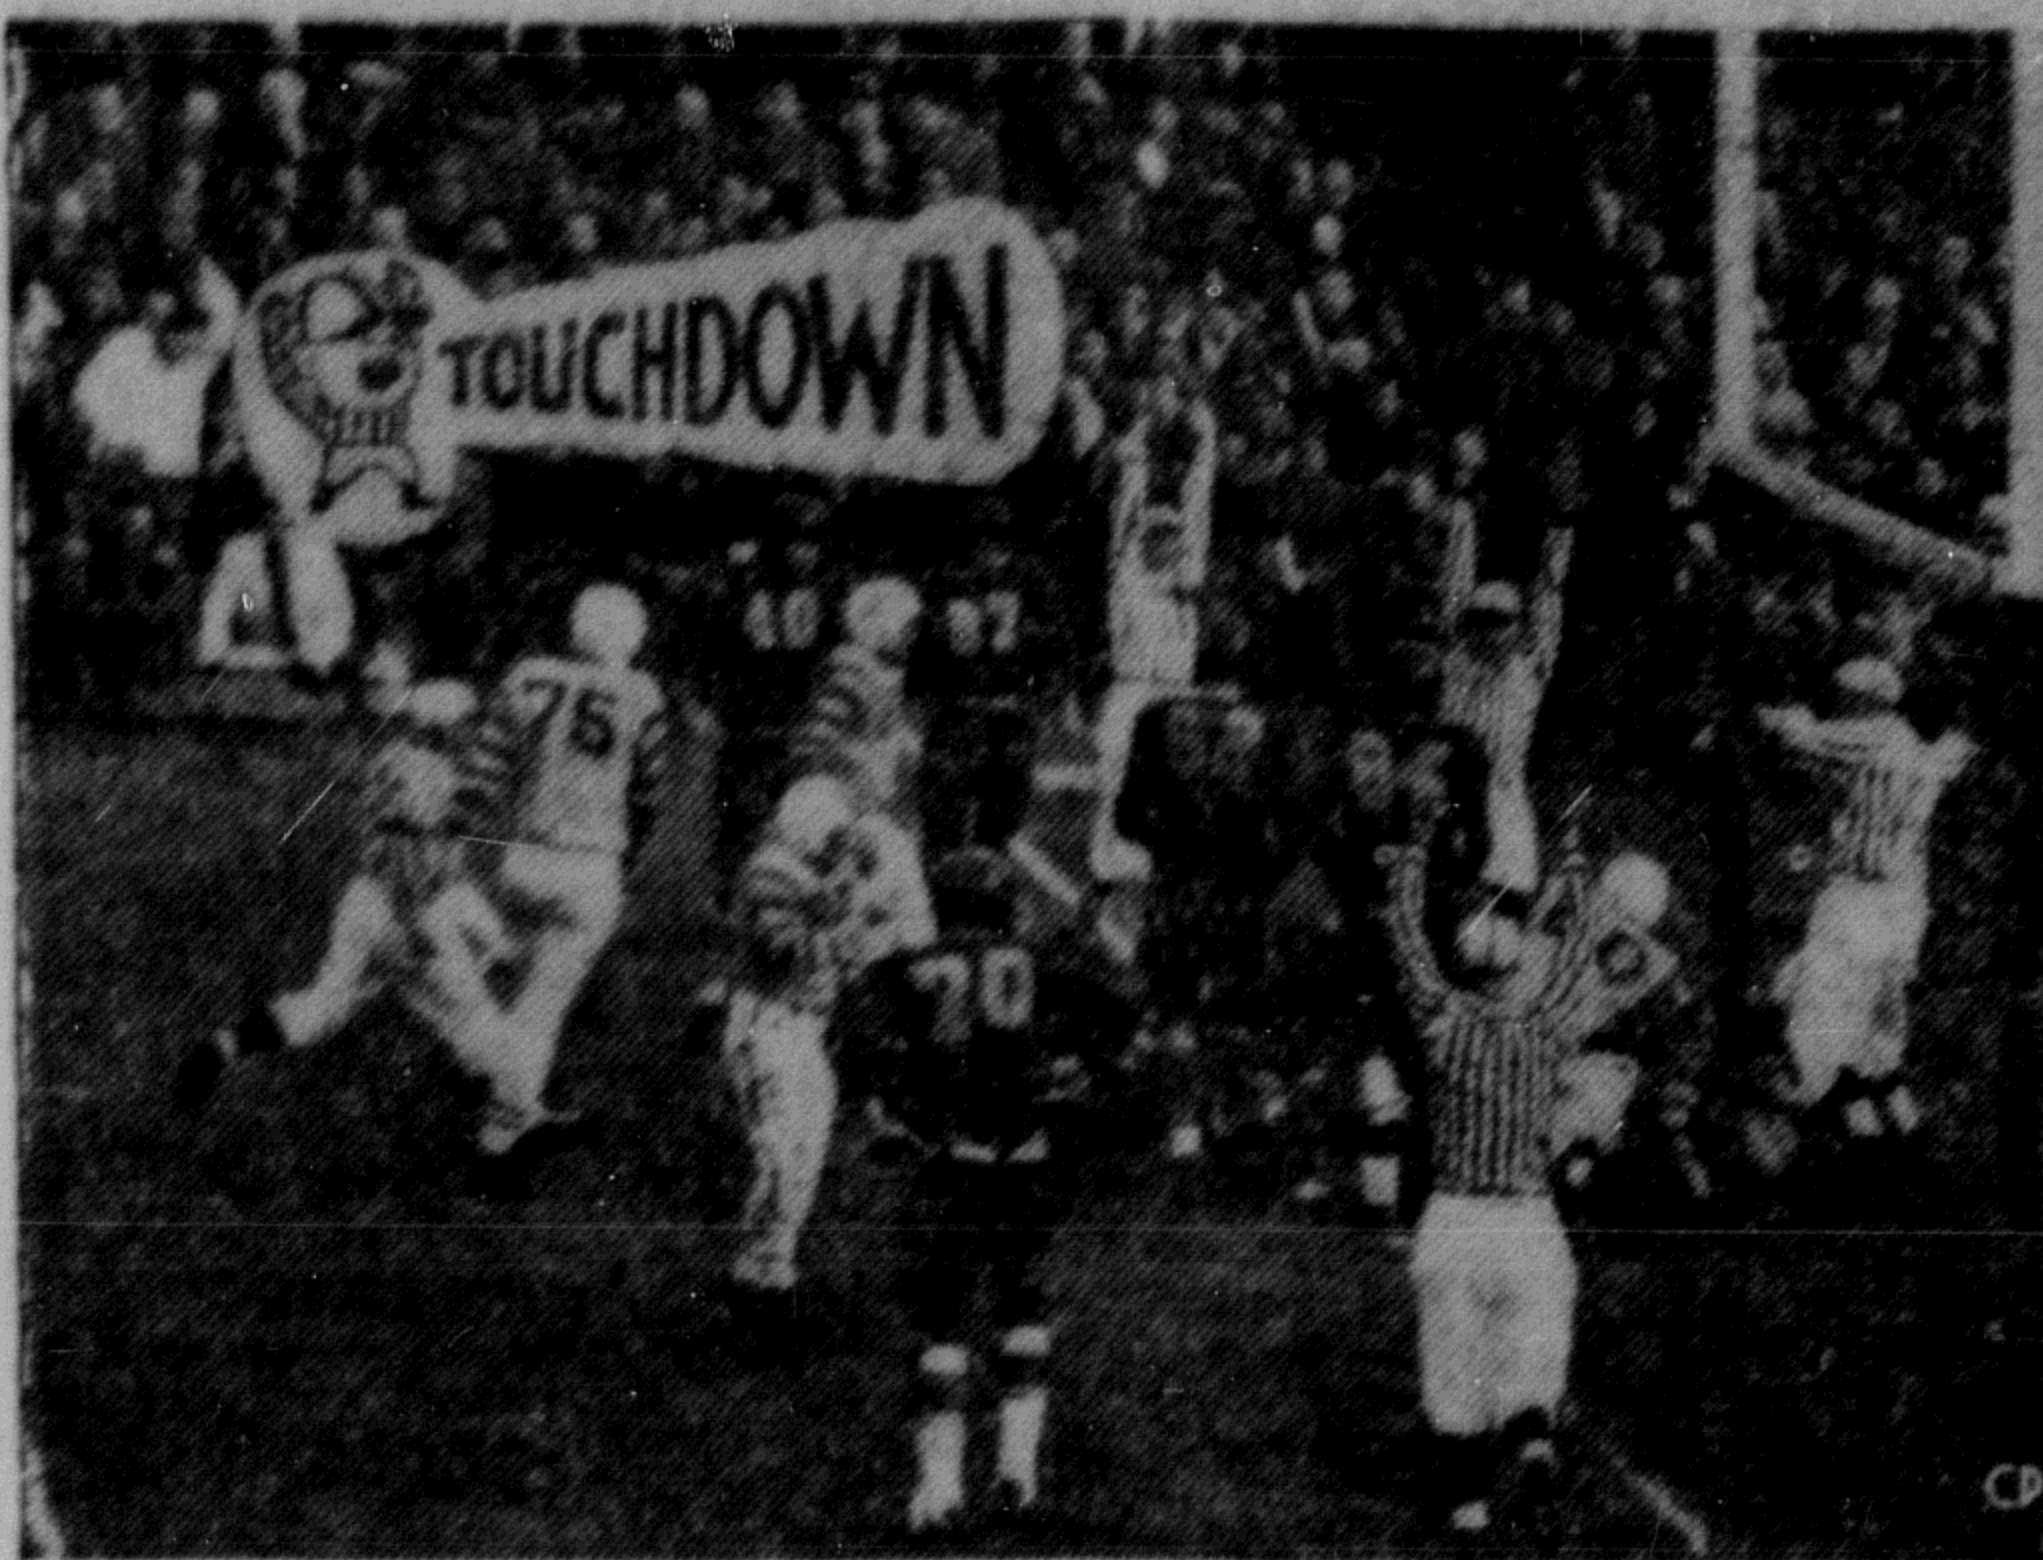

TOUCHDOWN—Quarterback Knobby Winkowski sneaks across from Edmonton's one-line with Toronto Argonauts first touchdown. Red Ettinger converted for Argos to make it 7-0 in the second quarter.

CELEBRATE—Coach Frank Clair of the victorious Toronto Argonauts, Dominion Cup champions, holds the Grey Cup in the dressing room after his team defeated Edmonton Eskimos 21-11. Other team executives and players crowd around in happy celebration. (CP PHOTO)

IT'S DOWN—The famed tarpaulin, bought last year by the Canadian Rugby Union to protect the field at Toronto's Varsity Stadium for the Grey Cup games, got plenty of use this year. With a series of rainstorms occurring before two games between Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Tiger-Cats for the Big Four football title and before the Argos-Sarnia Imperials game in the eastern championship, the $12,000 tarpaulin has been raised and lowered several times. BASS GOES OVER—Billy Bass, Toronto Argonauts' halfback, goes over for the team's second touchdown late in the second quarter to make it 15-5 for Toronto over Edmonton Eskimos in the Grey Cup classic at Toronto. Bass crashed the line three times with Doug Pyzer adding three yards to put the Argos in scoring position. (CP PHOTO)

MISS ALOUETTE—Montreal Alouettes pinned their hopes—figuratively speaking—on shapely Suzanne Lafond who represented Montreal's Big Four football entry in the Miss Grey Cup contest.

MISS ESKIMO—Jeri Morris, Miss Edmonton Eskimo, accompanied nearly 1,500 Edmonton supporters to Toronto for the Grey Cup football final. She was one of 12 entrants representing senior football teams in Canada in the Miss Grey Cup contest. (CP PHOTO)

HAVING FUN—Jeri Morris, 18-year-old Miss Edmonton Eskimo, reaches for the football held by Rollin Prather, all-star end for the Eskies. Prather, six-foot-five is tallest man on the western invaders who met Toronto Argonauts in the Grey Cup classic at Toronto, Nov. 29. Miss Eskimo competed against football queens from 11 other senior teams across Canada for the title "Miss Grey Cup." (CP PHOTO)

ESKIMO TOUCHDOWN—From Toronto Argonauts' 10-yard line Normie Kwong, Edmonton Eskimos' backfielder, went over for the Eskies' first touchdown, to make the score 5-0. The major was set up by Rollie Miles who had picked up five yards on the previous play. (CP PHOTO)

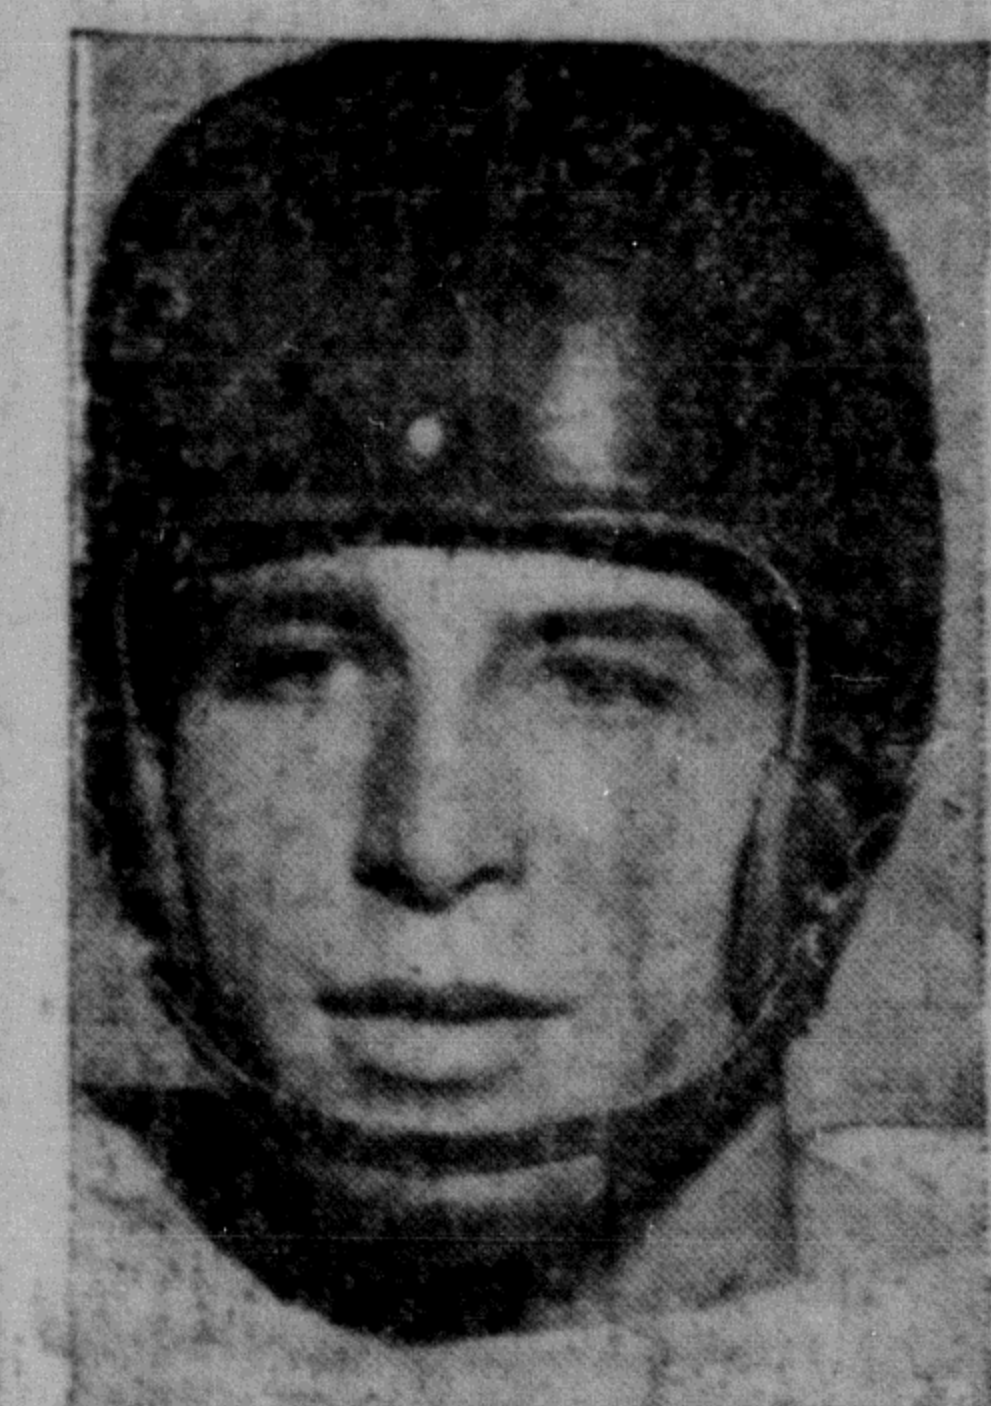

AS THOUSANDS CHEERED—Thousands of Torontonians lined Bay Street to watch the Grey Cup parade, first event of Toronto's day of football madness. Floats, clowns, cowboys, bands and football players paraded through the streets prior to the Dominion football title classic between Toronto Argonauts and Edmonton Eskimos. (CP PHOTO)

MISS ROUGHRIDER—Cleone Fleming, 16, of Weyburn, Sask., was Miss Saskatchewan Roughrider in the Miss Grey Cup contest.

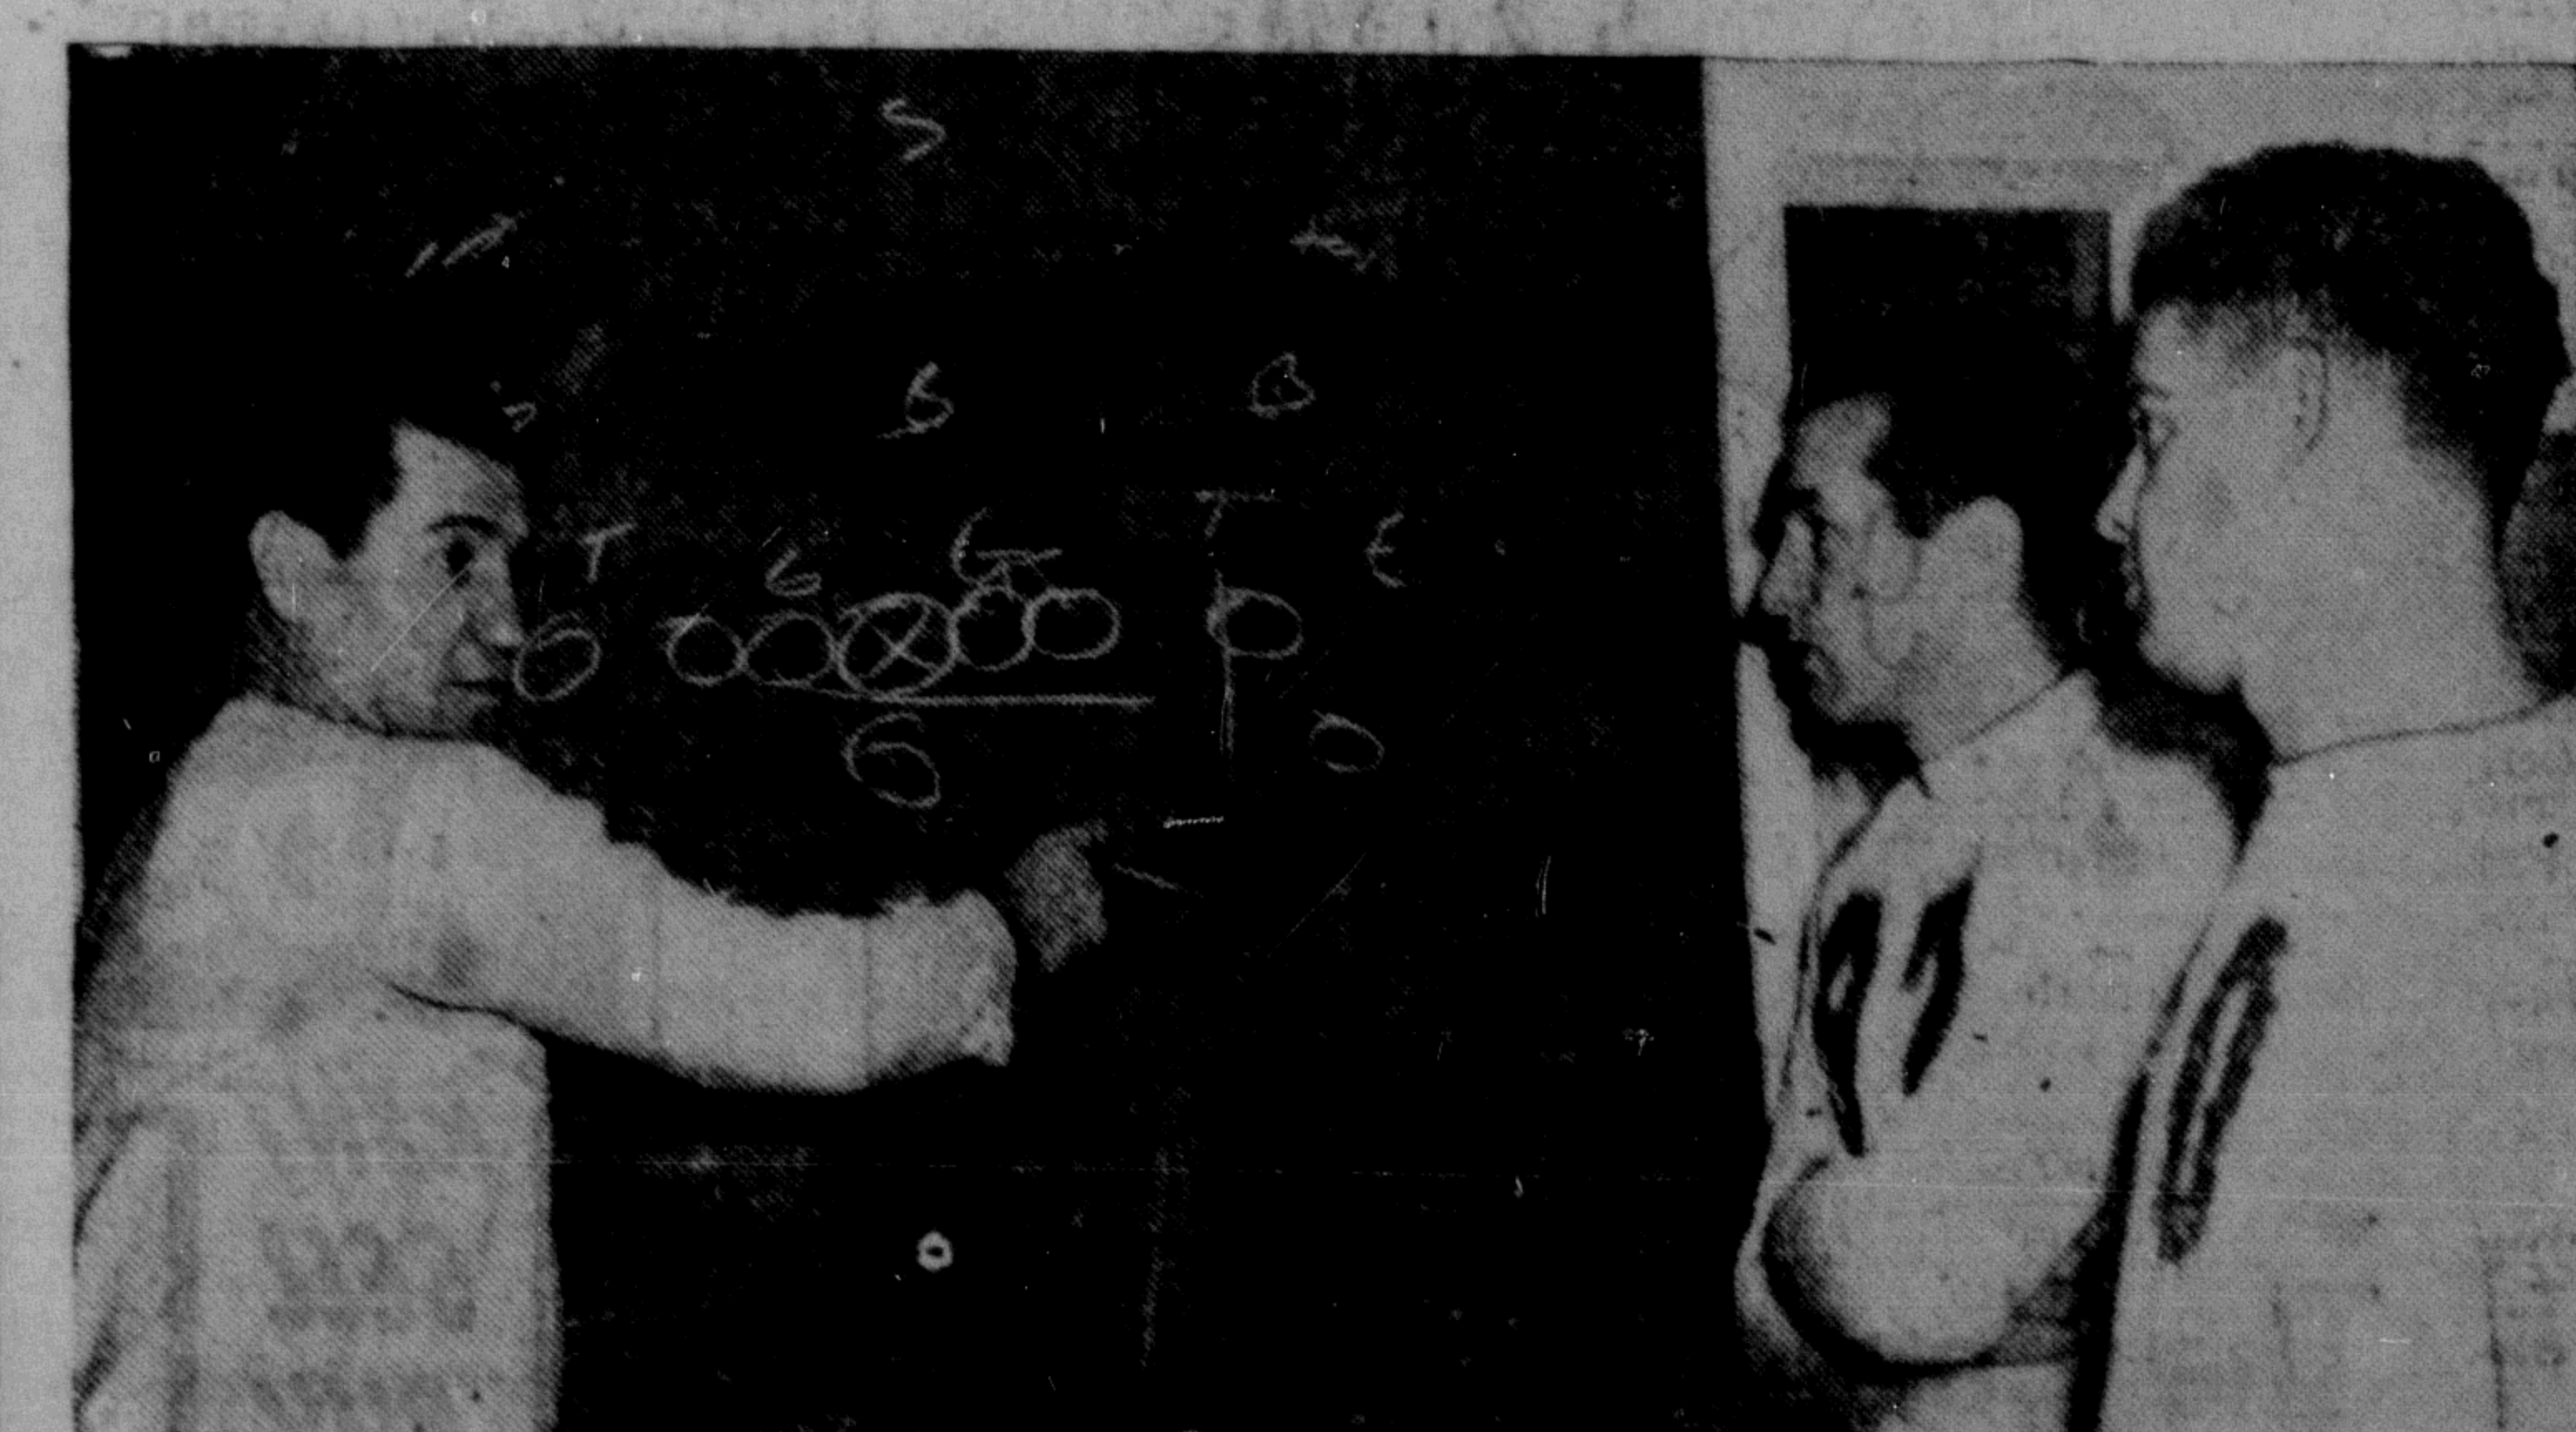

MISS GREY CUP—Blonde Pat Hunter, Miss Winnipeg Blue Bomber, has been chosen Miss Grey Cup in the contest with 11 other football queens representing clubs across Canada. Her prizes included a British automobile. (CP PHOTO)

TOP SCORER—Edmonton Eskimos' tackle in port, Bill Snyder, scored enough points himself to defeat Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the second of the best-of-three Western Interprovincial Football Union series, at Winnipeg. He scored a touchdown, two field goals and two converts for 13 points as the Eskies beat Winnipeg 18-12 to force a third and final game. (CP PHOTO)

GRID STRATEGY—Coach Frank Filchock of the Edmonton Eskimos holds a blackboard briefing in preparation for the Grey Cup game against Toronto Argos. Coach Frank outlines a play to the Oklahoma passing combination of quarterback Claude Arnold (nearest blackboard) and end Frank Anderson. Arnold and Anderson hooked up for two touchdown plays in the final game of the western Canada final at Winnipeg. (CP PHOTO)
