NOMINATIONS REAL PEPFUL

SHOOTINGS, RAIDS, KIDNAPPING, THEFT AND INTEREST ATTENDS CHICAGO'S MAYORALTY PRIMARY

CHICAGO, Feb. 28. — William Hale Thompson, Chicago's wartime mayor, was nominated as the mayoralty standard bearer in the primary election held here which was featured by shootings, raids, kidnappings, sluggings, ballot box thefts and intense interest generally.

His Democratic opponent for the election to be held in April will be William E. Dever, who won the nomination virtually without opposition.

Thompson defeated Edward R. Litsinger, member of the board of review, by about 125,000. Thompson's victory is also a victory for the Republican political faction headed by Robert C. Crowe, state's attorney, over the faction headed by Charles S. Deneen, United States senator, who supported Litsinger.

One man was shot four times and critically injured at one of the polling places over an argument.

Reports from two other precincts said armed men invaded the polling places, terrorized the election judges and made off with all the ballots. Three election officials were kidnapped, and several were slugged.

Hundreds of arrests were made. Scores of pistols were seized.

The most spectacular raid was made on the headquarters of the aldermanic candidates where 26 men were arrested, and eight pistols, an automatic rifle and small machine gun were confiscated.

EARLY VOTING

Numerous arrests, four minor outbreaks of violence, confiscation of 12 revolvers and rapid-firing guns, marked the early voting in the city.

Three men were kidnapped and one was beaten with fists by three others. One gunman was picked up near a polling place and proved to be Pete Fiarito, wanted for murder.

All the ballots were stolen from one precinct. The authorities placed all available police officers on duty in the various section of the city.

BRADY ON OLD AGE PENSIONS

MEMBER FOR SKEENA SEEMS TO BE HEARD IN MOST DEBATES

J. C. Brady, M.P., seems to get a word in whenever the opportunity presents itself in the House of Commons. He spoke as follows in the recent debate at Ottawa on old age pensions:

Being a new member of the House, Mr. Chairman, I did not intend to discuss in any way the old age pension scheme, as I am not familiar with the clauses of the bill. I have listened to the discussion with the greatest care, hoping to gain from it an elucidation of the clauses of the resolution that has been introduced. The mass of material presented to us tonight has reminded me of a well-known fable. A deer, having been wounded in the forest, retired to a comfortable shady place where there were enough luscious grass and tender leaves to keep him from hunger and starvation until his wounds were healed. But a great number of his friends came from the surrounding forest to sympathize with him, and one suggested one thing and one another in order to give him relief. They consoled and sympathized with him in his sickness, but it was not long until that deer died—not from his wounds but from starvation. And so it seems with the old age pension scheme.

I would not have risen tonight had I not heard one thing in particular that the minister of railways said. After this discussion we are convinced that the position of the Conservative party has been emphatically and clearly enunciated—that they are behind this scheme for old age pensions, whether it be under federal control or in conjunction with the provinces. I wish the minister were here to correct me if I am wrong, because I wrote down the words he uttered. In referring to this matter he said that they, the opposition, were not in favor of the old age pension scheme unless after consultation with the various provincial legislatures. Now, Mr. Chairman, I do not believe that words bearing that meaning were uttered in this House by hon. members on this side. If they were, Mr. Chairman, I would oppose the proposition, because personally I feel that we are wasting precious time on a matter in respect to which there is absolute unanimity, and such unanimity has been expressed in this House tonight.

HEAPS IMPRESSED HIM

I was impressed by the words of the hon. member for North Winnipeg (Mr. Heaps). I felt that he expressed what must have taken place in this House last year when he said there was a great difference of opinion in regard to different clauses of the bill. However, I think we have reached the stage now that it is not a question of the clauses of the bill, because these can be discussed when the bill comes before us. It is not a question of what took place on the hustings last year nor a question of reading reports from last year's speeches which have no relation to the question now before the House. The question is, are we decided, are we unanimous that this old age pension scheme should be put into force and that even if not perfect, it will be given a chance. That is the question, Mr. Chairman, and I have heard the leader of the opposition emphatically say that we are behind it if it were decided that the provincial legislatures should participate in the scheme with the federal government. I regret that we have had so much sophistry and so much discussion; it makes it look to me as if we are not sincere. What does it matter who is to have the honor of passing the old age pension scheme? The point is that throughout the length and breadth of Canada there are people waiting for the verdict of this House. Them we must consider, not whether it shall be a bill of ten clauses or a bill of twenty clauses, but a bill pledged to these people, an old age pension scheme.

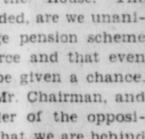
WHY COLLEGE STUDENTS TAKE THEIR OWN LIVES

Material Conception of Universe is the Reason Says Boston Professor

CHICAGO, Feb. 28. — A materialistic conception of the universe is chiefly responsible for college students taking their lives as have a number recently, in the opinion of President Daniel Marsh of Boston University.

"When you convince a man that he is an animal and nothing but an animal, he will act like an animal and you will have a recrudescence of the jungle," said Dr. Marsh.

Pacific in Au Gratin Dishes



Through letters from good cooks the information comes that Pacific Milk is particularly good in Au Gratin dishes, such as macaroni, so it was given out in the Zain circular. For Cheddar Cheese and Welsh Rarebit it has been found Pacific Milk prevents the cheese from getting leathery or stringy. All cheese dishes are made quite creamy by Pacific Milk.

The Well-Managed Home

THE manager of a household is the purchasing agent for a large proportion of the family needs. In order to do a good job she must know what, when and where to buy. She must study goods and the concerns which make goods and have them to sell. She must put her home on a business basis and run it on business principles in order to make the most of the family income.

Information is the only basis for intelligent purchasing. And the right way to get the greatest amount of necessary information is to read the advertisements.

Advertisements tell you what is new and good in merchandise. They reveal improvements and inventions to make your home life easier, more comfortable and more convenient. They give you information about a thousand and one things that are useful.

Every manager of a household---every member of the household who shares the responsibility for the family's welfare---should make a habit of reading the ads.

Read the advertisements in order to buy wisely

JAZZ MUSIC IS HARD ON PIANOS SAYS PRES. OF TURNERS' ASS'N.

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 28.—Jazz music is hard on pianos and of the estimated 10,000,000 in the United States about 8,000,000 are out of tune and are merely "thump boxes," in the opinion of Charles Deutschmann of Chicago, president of the National Association of Piano Tuners.

Jazz artists wear out a piano faster than exponents of classical music do, partly because they keep banging on the same keys, Deutschmann declares.
