DEPRIVED OF BEST PRODUCT

REFORMS ARE PROPOSED IN MATTER OF UNITED STATES PUBLICATION

NEW YORK, July 13.—Although the United States has more periodicals than any other country—and every week a new mushroom crop of magazines appears—the reading public is still deprived of the "best product" of its writers' brains because of standardization of publications, in the opinion of a poet, a novelist, an essayist, a music critic and an editor.

This group recently said they were determined to create a new repository for "vital, unstandardized literature" and so permit to function "hundreds of writers of talent and genius who are dying of literary inanition because there is no encouragement in this country for work that doesn't fit a conventional pattern."

Those sponsoring the new venture are Alfred Kreymberg, poet and biographer; Van Wyck Brooks, former Stanford University teacher, editor of the recent Freeman, and author of several books including "The Ordeal of Mark Twain"; Samuel Ornitz, novelist and editor of Macauley Co.; Lewis Mumford, novelist, and author of "The Golden Day" and analysis of an American high point in literary development, and Paul Rosenfeld, music critic of the Dial.

Because they believe current publications appear too often and so repeat themselves, the editors of what they intend to be "The American Caravan" say they will issue only once a year—for the first year, and what they want for their publication is material expressive of the American spirit, without restrictions on length or form.

ALMOST DISCOURAGED

"Already," said Mr. Kreymberg," we are almost discouraged by the happily valuable results of a few months scouting. More than fifty contributors have poured in astounding material that demands publication—in spite of the fact that it couldn't find a place in any magazine in the United States because of the rigid form rules, length, treatment, or any of a dozen reasons other than intrinsic literary merit.

"Hitherto unpublished words of Eugene O'Neill, Ernest Hemingway and others have come to us, and work from several writers first recognized only through publication in Paris."

Arrangements have been made for first publication this fall of the 300,000 word annual book-form "magazine" through a publishing house, which, it was announced, is willing to back the success of the venture in advance.

In commenting on the change in magazines together with the recent great increase in numbers, Mr. Kreymberg pointed out that less than a generation ago there were only "the big five" magazines, whereas now there are hundreds, "but nearly all alike."

CANADA'S FISH CULTURE

During 1926 the Department of Marine and Fisheries, Canada, through the Fish Culture Service, operated 39 hatcheries, 4 salmon retaining ponds, and several smaller stations, and distributed over 724,246,000 eggs and fish in different stages of development.

CANADIAN TEAM WINS

HASTINGS, New Zealand, July 13.—The All-star Canadian football team defeated Hawkesbury here this afternoon, the score being 5 goals to 2.

The local police have received a request from Seattle asking for information regarding a Mrs. Jessie Collins or her father Sameul McKinnon. Inquiries at Jap Inlet were fruitless and the request made to the local police has been repeated.

"Did it occur to you, sir, that thousands of people die every day."

"Yes, parson, it has," replied the party addressed, "and what's more, it has set me to thinking."

"Indeed!" exclamed the good man. "And what may I ask, has been the result of your meditation?"

"I have come to the conclusion," answered the other, "that living is a mighty dangerous thing."

Siberia signifies "thirty." Cicily is " the country of grapes." Asia signifies "in the middle." Italy signifies "a country of pitch." Hibernia is "utmost," or last habitation. Britain is "the country of tin," great quantities being found in it.

WOULD HAVE HIS GRANDSON EARN HIS OWN LIVING

LONDON, July 13.—His conviction that the possession of much money not earned personally may prove a check to a career of usefulness was shown when the will was probated of Alfred Moor-Radford, of Holland Park, London, who left approximately $680,000. Among other legacies he bequeathed a sum of £30,000 in trust to pay £400 a year to his grandson. The bequest was accompanied by the following note:—

"I make no further provision for my grandson because I wish to encourage him to enter upon and follow some useful profession or business to supplement by his own efforts the income which I have provided for him and to lead a useful and industrious life and conduct himself as an honorable gentleman, and I fear were I to make things too easy for him it might be prejudicial to his character and career."
