LOST OUT IN GOOD CAUSE

Hon. Frank Oliver lost his newspaper. He was too outspoken Dawson. After Dawson became a more in the cause which he believed to be the right one, not remembering settled community and families were that half the people who supported him held different views. #### ALL SORTS OF OPINIONS AMONG READERS Readers of newspapers hold all sorts of diverse opinions and fort is made to gater to these opinions by the average newspaper no effort is made to cater to these opinions by the average newspaper ference he leaves with regard to the writer. There is no reason why he should and if he did he would climate of the Queen Charlotte Islands fail for there are too many opinions. At the same time he has to and Prince Rupert. Speaking of fog. bear in mind that while he believes a certain course to be right, I lived in Prince Rupert for years and there are hundreds of his readers who believe otherwise. There is have never seen anything like as much scarcely any subject he can touch on which is not opposed. If he fcg in that district as I have seen in BUILDING discusses politics, religion, morals, customs, books, trade, commerce, the delightful climates of Vancouver industry, social life, or even newspaper making, he will find that a and Victoria. If he mealizes this he cerned, the precipitation is considerably will not dogmatize quite as much as he otherwise would and he will heavier than in Vancouver and very have always in mind this hydra-headed public that reads and criticizes and occasionally applauds. The writer is entitled to his opinion but he is not entitled to try to force that opinion upon during the time of the fall, rather than the flicker of prosperity's light may be others, no matter how convinced he may be of its truth.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe should be given an appointment as permanent travelling ambassador to the world for the Government of Canada. He seems to be that, anyway.

One way to kill the radio would be to broadcast the proceedings of the city council, and then for a post mortem tune in on the Legislature or possibly the Ottawa talkfest.

THE RESCUE

CAME TO DEFENCE OF PRINCE RU-PERT AND QUEEN CHARLOTTES WHICH HAD BEEN MIS-REPRESENTED

The other day at Victoria, Hon. T. D. Pattullo came to the rescue of the fame of Prince Rupert and Queen Charlotte Islands when they had been the subject of misrepresentation by a writer in the Sunday Colonist. In an article entitled "The Other Canada" J. B. Tyrrell, mining engineer stated:

"My years in the Klondike were a great pleasure, and the Hudson Bay country is much the same. It is all much more pleasant than a district like Queen Charlotte Islands or Prince Rupert, where the salmon fisheries are with their ecxessive rain and fog."

Mr. Pattullo says: "The article 'The Other Canada' is designed to show what a wonderful opportunity there exists in the far northern clime, and Mr. Tyrrell is reported as supporting Mr. Tyrrell, who is a most estimable is no doubt that one can get great enjoyment living in an Arctic climate. RED glare in the sky . . . the crackling Toar of flames as they sweep from tree to tree . . . none but those who have been through it can fully sense the terror and suffering that a forest fire brings to Canada's hinterlands.

In a flash, a whole community may be made homeless . . . without shelter, without food, suffering frightful injuries or mourning for dear ones caught in the talons of the red demon.

Such catastrophes wring our hearts. Fires . . . mining disasters . . disease epidemics . . . happily they occur but seldom. But when they come, they find the Red Cross organised to render prompt relief. In every Province, the Red Cross is prepared for instant action in such emergencies . . . In the stricken area confusion reigns . . . In the nearest Red Cross headquarters, the machinery for prompt, efficient measures works quickly and smoothly, drawing on a Canada-wide organization for help if need be.

Medical supplies are kept ready. Nurses and doctors can be quickly mobilized. Tents, blankets, field kitchens, oil stoves, iron beds. mattresses from the Government's military stores are at the instant disposal of the Red Cross. As fast as trains can travel, aid is rushed to the sufferers . . . no confusion or delay.

When the town of Bowden, Alberta, was partially destroyed by fire, the Red Cross furnished assistance for some 88 families made homeless. . . . Similar aid was given to the village of St. Joseph d'Alma, Quebec. In the disastrous forest fires that swept Northern Ontario in 1923, and in the Cochrane typhoid epidemic, the Red Cross played an efficient part . . . In these and scores of other cases the Red Cross relieved and succored thousands of sufferers.

By supporting the Red Cross, YOU make efficient relief measures possible. If disaster should strike any community, the RED CROSS is YOUR AGENT to give relief.
