PRESENT STATUS OF SURVEY FOR ROAD

Intimation Given from Victoria that Fresh Effort Will be Made in Spring

In a special despatch from Victoria to the Vancouver Province it is intimated that renewed efforts will be made in spring to find a route between Prince Rupert and Terrace, the former lead having been abandoned. In the despatch which follows it is thought where the word "Hazelton" appears it should read "Extew":

While government engineers have turned back in their research for a highway route from Prince Rupert to the interior, they have found a clue which may lead next year to the discovery of the long-desired pass through the Coast Mountains.

Following receipt of advices from Hazelton announcing the failure of the surveyors to find a feasible road north of the Skeena River, the public works department was informed that another possible route has been discovered. All the energies of the department will be concentrated on exploring this new possibility as soon as spring weather permits, it was stated.

The route which engineers explored recently was found to end in impassable glaciers north of Hazelton. It was impossible for surveyors to reach the "mystery valley," which was recently discovered by airplane, and which is thought to run from the interior through the mountains to the coast near Prince Rupert. During the expedition, however, the investigators were informed by Indians of another route by which the mystery valley could be reached by the southeast, and by which a through road could be built from the interior to the sea. If the natives' account is correct, the solution of the now difficult road program facing the province is at hand, but until next spring unlocks the frozen wilderness of the North, engineers can not attempt to explore further. Next spring, with an airplane and on foot, they will continue the search until a feasible route is found.

FINEST MOOSE HEAD TAKEN NEAR JASPER

Prince of Rumania Closes Successful Hunt in Canadian Rockies

JASPER, Nov. 3.—Bringing with them one of the finest moose heads ever secured in the big game hunting territories adjacent to the borders of Jasper National Park, Prince Michael R. Sturdza, who is in charge of the Rumanian legation at Washington, and his wife have reached Jasper, terminating a most successful big game hunt. The Prince and Princess each secured moose, mountain sheep and mountain goat trophies. The moose which Princess Sturdza shot had a spread of sixty-one inches, and is extraordinarily large for this territory.

The party, under the guidance of Major Fred Brewster, hunted on the borders of Jasper National Park.

FINE HUNTING TRIP TO SKIDEGATE INLET

Jack Lindsey, Don Crerar and A. Ivarson Were Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rajaut at Tlell

"It was the finest holiday I ever had," stated Jack Lindsay on his return home this morning aboard the steamer Prince Charles after a leisurely fortnight's hunting jaunt to Skidegate Inlet on which he was accompanied by Don Crerar and A. Ivarson. The local nimrods had a wonderful time and, although they took it easy, they brought back bags containing a dozen geese, thirty or forty ducks, and half a dozen rabbits to show for their prowess. Had they so desired, they could have killed hundreds of birds, they say, for they were very abundant. It was a little too late for bears at which they would have liked to have had a few shots.

The party made headquarters at Tlell where the members were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Rajaut of whose hospitality they speak highly.

BROUGHT SALMON TO PRINCE RUPERT BUT SPENT THE PROCEEDS

KETCHIKAN, Nov. 3.—Harry Nelson and his three sons, Charley, aged 16 years, and Abel and Leslie, younger, drifted about helpless during rough weather in Dixon Entrance, in their trolling boat Success, owing to engine trouble, and it seems almost a miracle that they are still alive to tell the story.

They started from Craig, on the west coast, with 800 cohoes for Prince Rupert, where the cargo was to be sold and the boys were to be sent to school in Portland from the proceeds.

While in Dixon Entrance engine trouble developed and for several hours the boat drifted, smashed about by heavy seas, at the mercy of the waves.

Upon reaching Prince Rupert finally most of the proceeds were spent on engine repairs, so the boys had to return with their father to Ketchikan, and will soon leave for another load of salmon in the hopes that they will have better luck this time.

Beginning Friday, November 5, 8 a.m.

MRS. W. H. DEMPSTER DIED IN VICTORIA

There has just passed away Monday morning of an old and very highly respected resident of Victoria in the person of Mrs. W. H. Dempster, who in the early days may be remembered by old-timers when she resided at the Aberdeen Cannery on the Skeena River, with which Mr. Dempster was associated, being one of the earliest cannery owners.

Mrs. Dempster had attained a ripe old age, although a very patient sufferer for many years from rheumatism.

Christian Science Monitor

August, 1926

"During the past ten years, tremendous improvements have been made in machine laundries, and notwithstanding all that may be said to the contrary, the household linen and even fine fabrics, are safer in the hands of a modern laundry than they are in the family washtub.

"From the facts established along this line, it seems to be pretty clearly established that a wife and mother, or any woman who works in the home, may be better employed than working at a tub or supervising an electric washing machine."
