President Coolidge in Message to Congress Today Urges Building of 15 More Cruisers for the U.S. Navy

WASHINGTON, D.C., Dec. 4.—In what was probably his valedictory address to Congress, President Coolidge today emphasized anew his desire for increased naval strength for the United States by urging the passage of a construction bill for fifteen cruisers and one aircraft carrier. "With the elimination of the time clause," he said, referring to a section providing that the ships must be laid down within three years, "I wish to repeat again, for the benefit of the timid and suspicious, that this country is neither militaristic or imperialistic.
