SIVE AS WELL AS BUTTER

wholesale price of pork is the one thing out of the ordinary in this week's survey of local market prices. At this time of the year, this is rather extraordinary.

And all other pork products are up in price in proportion. Beef also is 5c. per i

1b. higher than at this time last year.

Liver, on account of its dietetic properties in cases of aneamia-and just discovered after all these years—is 8c.

It was expected that when the grass cattle came on the market that greater supplies available would be responsible for the already high prices to ease off a little. But no. Cattle prices remain very high and cattle themselves remain very scarce for they are not coming on to the market in any quantities. This possibly is the result of the very low prices the farmers received in 1921 and in 1922 for their cattle. They quit depending upon cattle and found other sources of revenue. And the public now have to pay for the very low prices of beef six and seven years ago. The law of aver-

Her change from other brands to Pacific Milk is told by a Vancouver lady in a lengthy letter.

We take an excerpt: "One day I noticed in a large downtown store a number of people buying Pacific Milk in preference to other brands. was so intrigued I purchased a few tins right then." She then goes on to say how much more pleased she with its quality.
