SANKEY COURT VISITS SCENE

SURROUNDINGS OF MURDER OF SCHOOL TEACHER AT PORT ESINGTON BEING REBUILT TODAY FOR BENEFIT OF JURY

While the New Westminster Supreme Court trying the case of Joseph Sankey, Port Simpson Indian who has been under arrest for over two years for the killing of Miss Loretta Chisholm on May 23, 1926, at Port Essington, came north particularly, by viewing the scene of the ghastly crime, to ascertain for itself whether or not it was possible for the twelve year old girl witness, Haldish Sandahls, to have seen as she testified, the accused following the unfortunate young school teacher along the road past her home toward the old cemetery trail on that fatal morning, the jury and the officials this afternoon, guided by Inspector William Spiller, commanding officer of "D" Division of the provincial police, are expected to make a minute inspection of other points involved in the case. Besides visiting the home of Haldish Sandahls to check up on whether she could have seen what she said she saw, they will also be taken along the old, and now unused trail to the point where the murder occurred, past the place of Charles Reinhold, the naturalized German boatbuilder, who is one of the chief witnesses for the crown in the first trial with his testimony to the effect that Miss Chisholm passed his place that morning soon to be followed by Sankey as well as visiting the cannery shack where Sankey was living with his relatives at the time.

After the five hundred mile trip north for the purpose of inspecting the scene of the crime, officials were desirous that the jury should be given a full knowledge of the whole surroundings.

On arrival at Haysport station at 2:30 this afternoon, the court was met by the two powerboats Salvage Princess and "28" of the Prince Rupert Salvage & Towing Co.'s fleet in which they were transported across the Skeena

This Great Healing Oil Must Banish Eczema and Skin Troubles

Make up your mind today that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well. You've probably been, like a lot of other people, convinced that the only thing to use was an ointment or salve (some of them are very good) but in the big majority of cases these sticky salves simply clog the pores and the condition primarily remains the same. Go to any good druggist today and get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil.

The very first application will give you relief and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your skin troubles will be a thing of the past. Remember that Moone's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue and that it must give complete satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.

River to Port Essington. Late tonight it is expected these boats will arrive in Prince Rupert with the court party. The jury, as is usually the case in murder cases, was closely guarded during the long trip north, the twelve men having been locked up in their special car all the way north.

The party will return south on Saturday morning by train and is due back in New Westminster on Monday. The hearing of the case will be resumed on Tuesday morning, Monday being a court holiday in celebration of the King's birthday.

ODD VIEWS ON LIFE OF MAN

FAMOUS SCIENTIST SAYS PEOPLE SHOULD NOT BE DEPRIVED OF INBORN INSTINCTS

CIVILIZATION IS TAME

PART OF THE BEAST HAS TO BE KEPT ALIVE TO GUARANTEE OBJECTIVE

LONDON, May 31.—Are we to have another first-class Darwinian controversy? The provocatively stimulating address delivered at Manchester by Sir Arthur Keith, the eminent physiologist, certainly paves the way to another such battle among the savants. Sir Arthur is president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, and his address at the gathering last year, on the subject of man's relationship to the anthropoid, aroused wide interest. "Medical men," declared Sir Arthur at Manchester, "could find no ground for believing that the brain was a dual organ—a compound of substance and spirit. Every fact known to them compels the inference that mind, spirit and soul are the manifestations of a living brain just as flame is the manifested spirit of a burning candle. "Nowhere could we draw a sharp line and say, Here the brain of ape ceases and the brain of man begins." The brain, which began in the humble service of an ape, became in the fullness of time, the master organ of the body.

LABOR A BIRTHRIGHT

"Labor was a birthright from the ape, and far from being a curse the fulfillment of this essential condition of life brought to organized beings their highest enjoyment. How deeply-rooted are the food-searching impulses and how much man enjoys their exercises may be noted from the fortunes paid by the wealthy for the privilege of laboring as fishers and hunters. We see manifest herein man's primitive lust for blood.

"Every sane son of civilization condemns wanton cruelty, but the real danger that besets the future of civilization is not excesses in cruelty but excesses in sentimentality. We could become too refined for life in a mortal world. Civilization can warp human nature.

"I believe most sincerely that a father can do a son no greater injury than that of depriving him of the best of his inborn instincts, and yet it is, I admit, an injury which few of us, if it threatened us in our youth, would struggle to avoid. Capitalism provides our inherited instincts with their best opportunities and their worst.

RATIONALITY A MISTAKE

"Warm feelings will always master cool reason. There can be no greater mistake than to think that man evolves towards the realms of pure rationality. "The dictates of reason are insufficient to guarantee Nature's chief objective—the continuation of the race. This part of the beast has to be kept alive within us. The day man becomes a perfectly rational being marks his end.

"When we have rid man of all his vices we shall indeed have domesticated him, and at the same time have deprived him of the powers which impel him onwards. Human life under such circumstances becomes a tame, uninspired and unmanly existence.

FOR LORD LONSDALE ON GOLDEN WEDDING

LONDON, June 31.—There has been a remarkable response to the suggestion that a gift should be presented from his general sporting friends to that great sportsman, Lord Lonsdale, on his golden wedding, which will be celebrated in June.

From all parts of the world, and from all classes of people—costermongers, clergymen, barons, and backwoodsmen—there have been received tributes small and large. One family in the north of England sent a shilling. Many people have sent as much as a hundred guineas. Every racing club in South Africa has contributed.

Lord Lonsdale, who is 70, succeeded his brother in the earldom in 1882. He was married in 1874 to the daughter of the tenth Marquis of Huntly. In the South African War he served as assistant adjutant-general for the Imperial Yeomanry. He owns about 715,000 acres, and has often entertained royalty at his splendid seat, Lowther Castle, Cumberland. He is Lord Lieutenant of the Cottemore Hounds.

The gift, which it is proposed to make to him is a golden casket, with eight panels representing a different sport. The balance of the money is to be given to Lord and Lady Lonsdale who will present it to charities.

MUST NOT SPIT ON FLOOR OF COLUMBIA COUNTY JAIL

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., June 1.—It costs $120 to expiate in the Columbia County "model" jail. Hudson Kline, deputy sheriff and guard at the jail, was the first outsider to be hauled before the Kangaroo court of the prisoners, when as walking into the cell room, he expectorated, violating the prisoners' rules. He was immediately "arrested" and fined $120 by the prisoners' court.

The deputy sheriff declared that the court is well managed and has resulted in a considerable improvement in the conditions of the jail.
