Man in the Moon

The Players' Club is a very worthy institution and the members are splendid when it comes to acting, but when it comes to writing some of them are not so good. One of them wrote an effusion which was sent to the editor but he refuses to publish it and has turned it over to me. It has to do with their play which is going on tonight "The Saving Grace."

Come and see the charming Georgia,
And her winsome niece Susan!
You won't say our play has bored you!
So—buy your tickets while you can.

See the haughty Mrs. Guildford
Hand to Blinn the frozen mitt:
Fighting Blinn! of seas and fame!
Whose ancestors with the conqueror came.

Would you see the handsome Ripley?
Have his hair smoothed—just like this!
Hear the maligned youth's sad history
Watch him seek the elusive kiss?

See the staunch and charming Ada—
She knows the household's economics
Battling Hogg—Blinn's stout retainer
Who likes his sherry—and joins the Tommies.

Nothing but a knowledge of their own greatness could make some of the women in town wear the hats they do.

The way to prevent a tooth from decaying is to remove it from the jaw as gently as possible and store in the bureau drawer.

It used to be that the most important room in the house was the kitchen; then it became the bathroom and today it is the garage.

The most important piece of furniture a few years ago was the parlor organ; then it became the piano; then the gramaphone, and today it is the radio.

In Prince Rupert we agree pretty well. For instance we would like to see the city progress but it must be along the lines laid down by ourselves.

In New York the stock gamblers kept thinking the stocks would go higher so they could unload on some other sucker. But the structure tumbled and great was the fall thereof.

William Kerr is safe home after having had a close call when he became lost in the woods while hunting on Porcher Island. He had shot a deer and was completely exhausted when help came. Other members of the party, who made the trip on the power boat Eleanor Mac, were Jarvis McLeod, W. R. Martin, Robert Arthur, H. E. Baker, W. E. Williscroft and C. Poole.

The city council last night did not receive with favor a petition submitted by Capt. Hoomes K. Freeman that Cow Bay be dredged out. Such a request, it was felt, might endanger plans the railway company has for development there.

A big new pulp mill is being built at Beaver Cove near Alert Bay.

SIR HENRY THORNTON AND OFFICIAL FAMILY VISIT ST. JOHN

SO MANY HUSBANDS DEPEND ON ME

A fable for British Columbia Housewives

SHE saw them in her kitchen—a host of elf-like men. A miller, a soap maker, a travelling salesman. A band of Lilliputians, each representing some one local industry in which her fellow men and women are employed.

Back of each local product she saw ambitious families just like her own. That is why she enjoyed a sense of pride and loyalty every time she purchased the products of her fellow men. In every room in her house she saw the vision of the elfine workmen, for the articles of her home from attic to basement were the products of her home land.

There's a moral to this story

Every time a housewife purchases a B.C. Product, B.C. husbands benefit. B.C. industries are kept active replacing the products purchased by local housewives. Every woman who knows the prosperity of British Columbia husbands depends on their wives asks first: "Is it made in B.C.?"

This is the sixth advertisement of a series authorized by the B.C. Products Bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade in the interests of the manufacturers of British Columbia.

BE PROUD TO BUY B.C. PRODUCTS
